REDS SEEK NEGRO AID

New Blow Aimed at America

Soviets Working Through Organization in Chicago to Spread Propaganda

Colored Leaders Educated in Bolshevism at Moscow and Sent Back Here

BY M. JAY RACUSIN

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Tribune, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) The flame of Bolshevism, kindled by Lenin and threatening at one time to set all Europe ablaze, is being silently centered upon the United States through the instrument of the American negro. It is a phase of the Russian soviet's scheme for converting other nationalities into the ranks of the Communists of which heretofore there had been little inkling, but substantial details of which the Herald-Tribune through investigations is now able to put into print for the first time.

The Reds' plan, as outlined by authoritative sources, is simple enough. It embraces the establishment of an organization among the negroes here to function as a clearing-house for Bolshevik propaganda among the members of the race, the selection of certain individuals among them for transportation to Moscow for thorough instruction there in the doctrines and theories of Communism, their early return, and activity to bring the whole negro population finally under the influence of their leaders and through them eventually to strike an effective blow at the government.

SCHEME REFERRED TO

It was undoubtedly this scheme to which Zinoviev referred when he told the Third Internationale at Moscow in March of last year that the Communistine method adopted for America would concentrate gradually with greater and greater power.

The organization that was to function as a clearinghouse for its propaganda had been formed. It was known as the American Negro Labor Congress with headquarters in Chicago and a publication called the Negro Champion serving as its organ. Groups of negroes already have been chosen from a number of cities for intensive instruction in a special college in Moscow called the University of Far-Eastern Peoples. The courses range from one to three years. A few of these individuals have returned and are actively working among the negroes of the country to make each one a Bolshevik of them. Others are still in the land of the Kremlin, finishing their training or awaiting instruction from the Red chiefs for their return.

TWO NEGROES AT HEAD

The leaders of the scheme here are Richard B. Moore and Lovett Fort-Whiteman, negroes, both formerly of New York, but now of Chicago. Fort-Whiteman was the first organizer under whom the Communistic activities were started. A letterhead of the

NEW RULERS FOR ISLES

Coolidge Favors Civil Control

President Thinks Interior Department Should Look After Possessions

Conference With Gen. Wood Gives Encouragement on Filipino Affairs

RAPID CITY (S. D.) June 28. (AP) Establishment of a central bureau for administration of all insular possessions under control of a civil department of the government, rather than the Army and Navy, is favored by President Coolidge.

Following a brief discussion of this proposition with Gov.-Gen. Wood of the Philippines at his Black Hills residence, the President believes the Department of Interior would be a proper department to take over this work.

While he has no criticism of the present administration by the Army and Navy of the insular possessions he feels the functions of these departments is one of national defense and that the possessions are deserving of administration by a civil branch of the government. The government reorganization commission recommended placing the possessions under the State Department, but the President thinks the Interior Department is more adaptable for this.

COOLIDGE ENCOURAGED

Mr. Coolidge is greatly encouraged over conditions in the Philippines as a result of his conference with Gen. Wood, and also is confident that the Governor-General will be strong enough to resume his duties in the fall.

Coming to his offices at 8:30 o'clock today the President announced the appointment of Walter O. Woods of Kansas as Register of the Treasury to succeed Harley V. Speelman, resigned. Mr. Woods has been in the Treasury service.

Advised that Secretary Davis of the Labor Department would be in St. Paul this week, Mr. Coolidge directed that he be invited to come here if convenient with his plans. He also expects Mr. Hoover to visit here either on his way to or return from California.

NO CABINET CALL

Otherwise no engagements have been made for Cabinet officers and the President sees no need for conference with either Secretary Kellogg or Secretary Wilbur regarding the Geneva naval armaments conference which he is watching silently, lest comment by him during the negotiations be misconstrued. No moves by himself in respect to the conference are contemplated.

Further requests for whole holidays on Saturdays for government employees have come to the President, but he has gone as far as he intends in extending the half holidays on Saturday from the first of June through September. If further holidays are to be granted he feels it is up to Congress to advise it.

WOOD TO RETURN AS PHILIPPINES CHIEF

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Wood announced definitely to newspaper men this afternoon that he will return to the Philippines as Governor-General, notwithstanding

Grace Weds H. G. Davis, III, Mining Engineer, While Parents Seek Titled Match

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) Miss Grace Vanderbilt, 27-year-old daughter of Brig.-Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Henry Gassaway Davis III, a mining engineer, were married this afternoon in the chapel of the Marriage Bureau in the Municipal Building.

The wedding was a surprise to society and was a shock to Gen. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, who had opposed the match and had declined to issue a formal announcement of the couple's engagement. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., brother of the bride, revealed that his mother had wished Miss Vanderbilt to marry a titled Englishman and that the elopement was decided on for that reason.

Except for the bride's brother and two witnesses required by law, none of the relatives or friends of the couple was told the wedding would take place. Miss Vanderbilt did not notify her parents until after the ceremony, when she telephoned her mother. Mr. Davis also telephoned his mother, who is Mrs. Armstead Davis, at her home in Washington, D. C., after the wedding.

Deputy City Clerk McCormick performed the ceremony. The only witnesses were Col. Henry Howell Armstead, an uncle of Mr. Davis, and Patrolman Patrick Kelly, who is assigned to duty at the Marriage License Bureau.

A religious ceremony was performed late tonight at the Little Church Around the Corner. The two witnesses were Col. Armstead and the night watchman, Edward Owen. They left the church almost immediately after the ceremony and made plans to leave for Canada on a train departing within a few hours.

Information about the marriage was refused at Gen. Vanderbilt's home, where it was said Gen Vanderbilt and Mrs. Vanderbilt both were "out," and would have no statement to make.

Drew Rallies Slightly After Having Relapse

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (AP)—John Drew, 73 years of age, veteran actor, who has been ill at a hospital here since May 31, last, rallied slightly today after suffering a relapse, and tonight was continuing his brave fight against the arthritis which attacked him while he was playing an engagement in Portland, Or.

Drew has several times during his long illness been reported at the point of death and, although he has rallied each time, the struggle back to life left him weaker than before. Extreme weakness characterizes his condition at present.

Manitoba Vote Splits on How it Wants Beer

WINNIPEG (Man.) June 28. (AP)—At 9:30 o'clock reports tonight from the rural constituencies in the legislative elections, at which the electors also voted on the question of modification of the present Manitoba liquor law, showed the country in favor of "beer by the bottle." In the cities "beer by the glass" was favored.

Victory for the progressive government under the leadership of John Bracken seemed assured.

Election of five Cabinet ministers who figured in straight party contests had been conceded at 8 o'clock, while the government standard bearers had carried three other seats and were leading in at least fifteen other constituencies. At that hour the Conservatives had elected four members.

BYRD CALLS STAND BY

Four o'clock Hop Prepared

Reaches Decision to Start With Belated Reports of Good Weather

Bureau Informs Flyer No General Storm Areas Over Atlantic

ROOSEVELT FIELD (Long Island, N. Y.) June 29. (AP)—At 1:30 o'clock this morning Commander Byrd ordered the crew of the monoplane America to stand by for a 4 o'clock hop-off for Paris.

Commander Byrd's decision to start this morning was reached after belated reports from ships at sea told of a general improvement in weather conditions over the Atlantic.

There appear to be no general areas of bad weather, although there are local conditions of unfavorable weather, Dr. James A. Kimball, meteorologist at the Weather Bureau reported.

The America's barograph was officially sealed at 3:45 a.m., preparatory to a take-off for France at dawn.

The America was completely fueled with fifty-four gallons of oil, eighteen for each of the three motors, and 1300 gallons of gasoline.

Food supplies were the last of the stores to be put aboard. The supplies consisted of four roast chickens, four chicken sandwiches, four quarts of hot coffee in thermos bottles, four ham and cheese sandwiches and five gallons of drinking water.

Lieut. George Noville, co-pilot and radio engineer of the America, came to the field with T. H. Kinkade, Wright motor experts for a final check-up of the big monoplane.

At 4 a.m., indications were that the start might not be before 6 a.m.

START BELIEVED SURE

When the sealed barograph was installed in the America only one of the four men of the crew was at the field. That was George Noville, the flight engineer. Commander Richard Byrd, Bert Acosta, pilot, and Bernt Balchen, relief man, were still resting at Garden City.

Twice before during the past week a take-off has been imminent but not before have affairs progressed to the point of sealing the barograph.

That this action has at last been taken was accepted here as certain indication that the America would leave this morning.

Commander Byrd took occasion yesterday to express his best wishes to the Hawaiian flyers.

Speaking of Lieuts. Lester J. Maitland and Albert ... Hegenberger and of Ernest Smith, civilian flyer, Commander Byrd commented on their abilities as flyers and said he had no doubt they would make the Hawaiian Islands.

"This project," he said, "is undoubtedly one of the most difficult feats in transoceanic flying yet attempted. While we Atlantic flyers are aiming to strike an entire continent, these men must cross 2100 miles of sea and strike a little island. If we are fifty miles off our course it might not make any great difference, because we could pick up our bearings once we struck land, but this Honolulu ..ight is not so simple. The objective must be struck directly on the mark."

STORMS MAY FORCE USE OF AZORES ROUTE

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Storms of the type that have held Commander Richard E. Byrd and his crew of three earthbound for weeks are regarded by experts as likely to lead to choice of a trans-Atlantic route via Bermuda and the Azores.

Dr. James H. Kimball, assistant meteorologist of the United States Weather Bureau, who advised both Lindbergh and Chamberlin on weather conditions for their European flight, believes the northern great circle course will always present its obstacles of storm and wind.

"We have the men and the courage—that has been demonstrated," he said. "But I cannot possibly conceive of an airplane built in the next few years that can ride out a North Atlantic gale with any degree of safety."

He declared Byrd would have met continued storms, low clouds, fog and conflictive winds if he had taken off in the big trimotored Fokker monoplane American Sunday morning. Captains of ocean liners docking bear out this statement.

FLYERS ROAR IN DARKNESS TOWARD HAWAIIAN GOAL

Army Fokker Asks Radio Bearings of Ship at Half-Way Mark on its Dash Across Pacific

A page of pictures in connection with the army flight to Honolulu appears on page 12, Part II of this edition of The Times.

F. F. Wainwright, 1926 Delta street, Los Angeles, last night reported the receipt of a message broadcast by the Radio Club of Honolulu reading:

"Army trans-Pacific plane reported 900 miles northeast of Honolulu at 6:30 Honolulu standard time."

This would be 9 p.m. Los Angeles time and appears to conform with reports received from other sources.

OAKLAND, June 28. (AP)—With more than half of the 2400 land miles of its flight from the mainland to Hawaii behind it, the six-ton army Fokker plane tonight still was winging its way westward. At intervals from 7:35 p.m. (Pacific Coast time), until 9:30 messages from the President Pierce, 600 miles offshore, declared it could hear the aircraft in which Lieuts. Lester Maitland and Albert Hegenberger took off here at 7:09 o'clock this morning, asking radio bearings from the President Cleveland, approximately 1150 miles from the California coast.

A radio message from the President Cleveland reported cloudy weather at 8:30 o'clock, the time the Cleveland and the army flyers were passing each other. Rain was falling, and there was about a five-mile wind.

Earlier in the afternoon, the steamer Sonoma had reported sighting the plane 750 miles off the California coast.

The following message was received by the Federal Telegraph Company from Radio Operator Cady on the Sonoma:

"Weather when plane passed was cloudy; occasional light rain squalls; wind north-northeast; thirty miles an hour. Barometer 30.42. Sea choppy. Plane came up low on horizon nearly dead ahead. Dining-room crowded when siren blew; stewards dropped trays. Pilots waved to passengers as plane passed on starboard side."

JUST LIKE CLOCKWORK

The army plane was prepared and departed on its attempted nonstop flight to Honolulu with clocklike precision, Army officials asked for a clear field at 7 a.m. They arrived at the field with Lieuts. Maitland and Hegenberger, pilot and navigator, ten minutes before that hour.

The ship had been fueled and oiled during the night. Everything was pronounced ready at the starting hour. Covers were unwrapped from the three radial motors and they were started.

After a brief exchange of greetings between the aviators and Maj.-Gen. Patrick, chief of Army Air Service, the two flyers leaped into the machine, waved good-by to friends and relatives and the plane taxied along the runway. It took the air with ease and quickly attained an altitude of 2000 feet and flew out over the ocean.

Before leaving here Lieut. Maitland declared he expected to arrive at Honolulu in about twenty-four hours. Word received from Honolulu today was that army officials on the island were preparing for the arrival of the plane there at 7 a.m. tomorrow, Pacific Standard Time.

FOOD PUT ON BOARD

Provisions of the Fokker was one of the last duties. Army men in charge of placing rations and water aboard the plane arrived at the airport at 6 a.m. and stored aboard two one-quart bottles of hot liquid, one of cocoa and the other of soup. A supply of hardtack and five gallons of distilled water completed the larder.

Other articles necessary in the navigation of the plane were arranged conveniently in the middle compartment of the ship. There is located the earth inductor compass on a stationary tripod.

Along the walls were arranged cloth packets for tools, food and spare instruments. On the table was the radio set. Here Lieut. Hegenberger will sit for the first half of the flight, after which he is expected to relieve Lieut. Maitland from the "stick" in the forward, or pilot's cockpit.

A round opening in the fuselage over the middle compartment permits

GRACE NOT DECIDED ON START EAST

Flys from Pearl Harbor to Island Take-off Point; Plane Very 'Blind,' He Says

HONOLULU (T. H.) June 28. (AP)—Richard Grace, California aviator planning a flight from Hawaii to the mainland, alighted with his plane, the Cruisair, at Mana, Island of Kauai, at 4:45 o'clock (7:15 o'clock San Francisco time,) this afternoon.

Grace made a poor landing but did not damage his plane.

"It's the blindest plane I ever flew," he commented, but added, "it's a good plane."

Grace said the time of his take-off was uncertain, depending upon the weather. He expressed the opinion that the runway prepared for him on the "barking sands" near Mana was narrow.

His flight to Mana was from Pearl Harbor where the runway was too short to allow him to rise with a full load of fuel for the transoceanic flight to the mainland.

Countess Salm Married in Paris, New York Hears

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) A report reached New York today that the Countess Salm, formerly Millicent Rogers, daughter of Col. Henry M. Rogers of the Standard Oil Company, had been married in Paris to Arturo Peralta Ramos, a wealthy Argentinian. Friends of the family denied the report, saying there was "absolutely nothing to it."

The romance of Count Salm and Millicent Rogers, who were married against the wishes of the bride's father, lasted only a few months. The Countess went abroad with her husband, but returned soon, being brought home by her father. After the birth of her son Count Salm started legal proceedings for the custody of the child. But he dropped the suit last January and agreed to give up the child in consideration of $325,000 paid him by Col. Rogers. Since the divorce the name of the Countess has been frequently mentioned in connection with Ramos.

HAWAII WILDLY EXPECTANT

Thousands Will Motor to Army Field at Dawn to Give Flyers Tremendous Welcome

HONOLULU, June 28. (AP)—Wildly enthusiastic over the news that the Army's giant Fokker plane bearing Lieuts. Maitland and Hegenberger was roaring its way over the Pacific to greet them, the military and civil population of this island of Oahu prepared to turn out early tomorrow morning in a tremendous welcome to the flyers.

The time set for the celebration was between 2 a.m. and 8 a.m., Wednesday morning, Honolulu time being two and one-half hours earlier than Pacific Coast time.

PUBLIC INVITED

Not doubting the success of the flight, the Army today invited the public to witness its finish at Wheeler Field, Schofield Barracks, and thousands were expected to drive the twenty-five miles from this city to the barracks before dawn.

Army officers reserved space on Wheeler Field for 10,000 automobiles. So great is the crush expected to be that two battalions of the Twenty-first Infantry and scores of military and city police have been assigned to handle the traffic and hold the crowds in check.

Twenty-four army planes have been ordered to take off from Wheeler and Luke fields at daylight tomorrow to meet and escort Maitland and Hegenberger in a triumphant finish of their trans-Pacific flight from Oakland, 2406 miles.

OFFICIALS PLAN WELCOME

Should the great Fokker plane arrive before daybreak, it will be guided to a landing at Wheeler Field by means of army searchlights.

Highest military and civil officials in the islands prepared to do honor to Maitland and Hegenberger when they land. First among them will be Maj.-Gen. Edward M. Lewis, to welcome them on behalf of the Army, which they represent. Rear-Admiral John D. McDonald will extend the Navy's congratulations, and Gov. Wallace R. Farrington will express Hawaii's joy at their coming.

But the spirit of Hawaii is expected to burst forth in spontaneous greeting from the thousands who watched bulletin boards tonight for news of the flight, and prepared to move out to Wheeler Field at dawn.

OCEAN RACE CALLED OFF

Fokker Alone on Honolulu Hop

Smith Plane Returns With Broken Window and Flight Abandoned

Backer Decides Army Too Far in Lead and Pilot Sobs Like Child

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT (Oakland) June 28. (AP)—The anticipated air race over the Pacific from Oakland to Honolulu was off today, when Ernest L. Smith, civilian flyer, was detained by his sponsors from making a second hop-off after his opponent, the huge trimotored Fokker plane, entered by the United States Army, was reported more than 300 miles out from the California coast. The Fokker started at 7:09 a.m.

Smith's flight was announced as indefinitely postponed by Edmund J. Moffett, San Francisco flight backer, following the pilot's return to the field within ten minutes after his first take-off at 9:36 a.m. to have a broken window in the pilot's cabin replaced.

Mechanics labored for over two hours to replace the window with one loaned from an army plane. The army wind-deflector was too large to fit the civilian ship and had to be cut to fit.

NAVIGATOR BALKS

Then, as the motor of Smith's plane was started at 11:38 a.m. for a second hop-off, Charles H. Carter, navigator with Smith, protested against starting the flight at such a late hour.

He said it was too late in the day in the first place, and, secondly, that he did not care to make the trip because the army plane had a lead of over five hours. He said his only desire was to have reached Honolulu first, and declared there was little chance of beating the Fokker.

"The Army is too far ahead of us now," Carter said to Smith and Moffett. "Let's wait and see what happens to them." He said that when the deflector broke after the hop-off Smith was all for going on regardless and that he had to poke Smith in the back of the neck to attract his attention and make him return to the field.

PILOT BREAKS DOWN

Smith broke down and wept like a child after it was announced that the flight was postponed. He argued hard with Carter, trying to make the latter consent to another hop-off, but Carter stood firm.

"I wanted to go on," Smith sobbed as he left the field. "When the window broke Carter pointed to it and indicated he couldn't make observations because of the wind the opening let in. I shouted 'Let's go, let's stay with it, please,' but he refused."

Edmund J. Moffett, one of Smith's three backers, first told the pilot that he would go on if he wanted to do so with a new navigator. When Smith departed Moffett announced the flight was indefinitely off and declined to discuss future plans.

Production of Oil in Mexico Shows Increase

MEXICO CITY, June 28. (Exclusive)—Instead of the expected decreases Mexico's oil production for the first four months of the present year show an increase, according to official figures made public here today.

The figures showing the production of oil during the four-month period are accompanied by a statement that the oil companies operating in Mexico have tried to convey the impression abroad that there has been a steady decline in production.

Instead, according to statistics compiled by the Ministry of Industry, Commerce and Labor, production during the first four months of the year reached the total of 22,732,000 barrels, valued at $5,610,000 pesos.

Though last year's figures for the same period are not given, the report declares the production was slightly lower.

Contrary to general belief, more corsets were made in this country last year than in 1921.

CARRY RAFT ALSO

On the floor of the rear fuselage was placed a rubber life raft which can be inflated with gas from special tanks in case the plane is forced down into the sea. The Fokker, not equipped with pontoons can float about three hours, Army officials estimated, giving the flyers plenty of time to transmit radio calls for help, give their location and make their raft ready for use if they must abandon the plane before aid arrives.

Lieut. Maitland's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Maitland of Burlingame, Cal., witnessed the take-off against the wishes of their son. He did not tell his parents last night at what time this morning he would leave. His father learned of the hour, however, and going to his home took Mrs. Maitland with him to Oakland, where they stayed for the night in the same hotel where both flyers were sleeping.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland were up early and met their son in the hotel lobby. He bade them good-by and expressed a wish that they not go to the airport. Army friends explained that he did not want his parents to be present fearing the possibility of an accident in the take-off of the heavily laden plane.

WAVES TO PARENTS

But the Maitlands followed the flyers to the field and Lieut. Maitland's last wave before the plane roared along the runway was to his parents.

Lieut. Hegenberger's last request was of Bradley Jones, army navigation expert from Wright Field, Dayton, O. He asked Jones to telegraph Mrs. Hegenberger at her Boston home, sending greetings to her and their 6-year-old daughter and assuring her that weather conditions over the Pacific were reported ideal. This Jones did, adding that the take-off was executed beautifully.

Maj.-Gen. Patrick, the Army Air Service chief, was the last person to shake hands with the flyers and bid them good luck.

"God bless you, my boys," the general said, "I know you are going to make it."

"General, you know I'm going to do my best," Lieut. Maitland replied, and Lieut. Hegenberger nodded his assurances.

ARMY 'ON ITS OWN' IN FLIGHT

No Special Aid Asked of Navy or Shipping Board Because No Forced Landing Expected

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The Army is "on its own" in the Hawaiian flight. No special aid has been asked of the Navy or the Shipping Board, as has been the case in past aviation attempts involving the covering of thousands of miles of ocean waters.

Ships at sea are expected to report progress of the plane, but there have been no orders for formation of ship lines to guarantee safety in event of a forced landing.

The Army's explanation of this is that there will be no forced landing. Preparations for the flight have been secret but very thorough, and its successful outcome and the function of the navigation instruments aboard are expected to be a major factor in the development of trans-oceanic airplane travel.

MAITLAND WIRES

Regarding the flight purely as a scientific test, without the thrills of the Lindbergh adventure, the Army Air Corps today had not even set up a system to obtain information from its two flyers, depending largely on casual reports from ships at sea or from other sources.

Just before the take-off Lieut. Maitland sent this telegram to Assistant Secretary Davison:

"All preparations made. Entirely satisfied with equipment and we will take off between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning. Most sincere regards from Hegenberger and myself. You know we will do our stuff."

Assistant Secretary Davison, in charge of the Army's air activities, was enthusiastic over the successful hop-off and personally carried Maitland's telegram about, showing it to department officials.

LONG OUTSTANDING FIGURES

Maitland and Hegenberger, products of the war-time aviation training schools, long have been outstanding figures in the Army Air Corps.

Both enlisted in the aviation section of the Signal Corps in 1917 when the United States entered the war, Maitland in April and his companion in September.

With his training behind him, Maitland was attracted by racing events and in March, 1923, he broke the then world speed record with a 244.97-mile-an-hour flight in a Curtiss racer over a one-kilometer course at Wilbur Wright Field. He has flown nearly every type of plane and is known as one of the Army's best pilots.

Hegenberger, who studied engineering before the war, turned to the navigation phase of aviation and from July, 1919, to September, 1923, was chief of the instrument and navigation branch of the engineering division at McCook Field, Ohio. On Army records he is listed as one of the outstanding navigators in the service.

SERVED IN HAWAII

Born in Milwaukee in 1898, Maitland had his first flying training at Rich Field, Waco, Tex., being commissioned as a reserve aviator in May, 1918. Thereafter he served at Camp Dick, Dallas; Langley Field, Virginia; Talliaferro Field, Texas; in the Hawaiian Islands; Boiling Field, Washington, D. C., and at Wright Field, Ohio. Upon the appointment of Assistant Secretary Davison to handle Army air activities he was made assistant executive in Davison's office.

Hegenberger was born in Boston in 1895. He received flying training at Ellington Field, Houston, Tex., winning a reserve commission in April, 1918. After service at Ellington Field and Camp Dick, he passed the observers and gunnery tests and then took a special engineering course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He became chief of the instrument and navigation branch at McCook Field after having served in the equipment section and, like Maitland, served also in the Hawaiian Islands. After his return to McCook Field he made a number of cross-country flights, entirely through fog or clouds, in order to test the earth inductor compass as a navigational aid.

FELLOW-AVIATORS WATCH FLIGHT WITH INTEREST

DAYTON (O.) June 28. (AP)—With their adventurous fellow-aviators, Lieuts. Lester J. Maitland and Albert Hegenberger, scarcely two hours on their 2400-mile, nonstop flight over the Pacific, army aviators here today expressed confidence in their ability to reach their goal.

The flight is being watched with unusual interest here. Lieut. Hegenberger is chief of navigation and instruments section at Wilbur Wright Field, and Lieut. Maitland formerly was in charge of the United States Army Air Corps model airways at Wright Field and Fair Field, air intermediate depot here.

Lieut. Maitland has achieved note as a speed pilot. He was second in the 1922 Pulitzer trophy race at Detroit and was one of the first pilots to attain a speed of more than 200 miles per hour.

At one time he made 281 miles per hour in a speed trial at Wilbur Wright Field. Most of Lieut. Hegenberger's activities have been in connection with the development of navigation instruments for airplanes and he has done considerable important work along this line, army officers say.

Intruder Uses Chloroform Gun to Lull Victims

FULLERTON, June 28. (Exclusive) Chloroform is the ammunition employed by Fullerton's most up-to-date burglar, according to an investigation of an attempted robbery made here tonight by Policeman Roy Mills.

Alois Sabinski, 111 North Nicholas street, a garage operator, telephoned the police that a burglar had attempted to enter his home after discharging a shot of chloroform through the transom into the bedroom in which Mr. and Mrs. Sabinski were asleep.

Awakened from her slumbers Mrs. Sabinski noted the heavy odor of chloroform and immediately threw open all the windows of the room, then turned her attentions to her husband, who had suffered more from the effects of the anesthetic. As she opened the windows, she states, a man carrying something that looked like a bicycle pump was running down the street.

Policeman Mills found footprints underneath the windows of the room and on the porch, where the burglar had stood to fire his shot through the transom, which was open.

Funds Being Raised by His Countrymen for Pasadena War Veteran's Attempt

PASADENA, June 28. (AP)—Financed by funds collected from his fellow-countrymen in Southern California, F. H. Asumh, Pasadena Japanese and aviator in the United States Army during the World War, will attempt to fly from California to Japan, it was learned here today.

The fund-raising campaign is under the direction of Kosaku Misusawa, Japanese Consul in Los Angeles. A dinner at which the financial campaign will be discussed will be given by the Japanese envoy this week.

Asumh, a graduate of Kio University and now in business at 30 North Fair Oaks avenue, said he "would be pleased to risk his life in the 4900-mile flight to carry a greeting to the Orient."

A three-motored plane has been selected for the proposed trip and Asumh has been keeping in trim by flying at Clover Field.

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will make an airplane tour of the United States, the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, under whose auspices the tour will be made, announced tonight.

Col. Lindbergh will fly the Spirit of St. Louis, in which he made the New York-to-Paris flight. He will start in about three weeks and cover the entire country.

It is expected that the nation-wide flight will take two or three months, during which Col. Lindbergh will visit most of the principal cities in the United States. The entire undertaking will be financed by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

PASADENAN MISSING IN ZION PARK

W. H. W. Evans Climbs to 'Great White Throne' Top and Disappears

ZION NATIONAL PARK (Utah) June 28. (AP)—Park rangers and others tonight searched the walls of Zion Canyon in an effort to find W. H. W. Evans of Pasadena, Cal., who yesterday was the first man ever to reach the summit of the "Great White Throne" whose 3000 feet of perpendicular walls had hitherto defied every effort to scale them.

Evans left the public auto camp in Zion National Park yesterday morning and climbed out of sight around an angle of the cliff. He was not seen again, but late last night, a fire blazed against the starlit sky on the topmost edge of the great rock as evidence that the lone climber had reached his goal.

When Evans failed to appear and no further signals were observed, park officials became alarmed and the search was instituted. The climber has had no food for the last thirty-six hours, his only equipment having been a rope and a small canteen of water.

WIVES SURE MATES WILL REACH GOAL

Both Women Watch While Army Airmen Race West to Destination in Honolulu

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—"I feel very confident," was the comment here today of Mrs. Lester J. Maitland, when asked concerning her views of her husband's chances for success in his Hawaiian flight.

Mrs. Maitland is visiting the home of her father, Dr. William A. White, widely known alienist. She said she was "not a bit nervous." She had been informed, she said, that the take-off at Oakland was a "beautiful one" and that weather conditions were very favorable.

The wife of the aviator said she planned to meet her husband on the Pacific Coast when he returned to the mainland. She was sure that he would not attempt to fly back.

BOSTON, June 28. (AP)—"It has always been Albert's wish to accomplish something like this," said Mrs. Louise Hegenberger, wife of Lieut. Albert Hegenberger, who was watching from this city today reports of the start of his flight to Hawaii with Lieut. Lester J. Maitland.

"It is because of that wish that I feel he will do it."

Mrs. Hegenberger, a native of this city, is visiting her mother and her stepfather, John E. Lindberg. With her are her two children, Albert Carl, 7 years of age, and Robert Francis, 3.

Her mother lives in the only house on Castle Island in Boston Harbor, where she cares for the foghorn. Her stepfather is on leave of absence from his duties as engineer of the Nantucket lightship.

Mrs. Hegenberger came here from McCook Field, Dayton, O., where she bade farewell to her husband.

"He is making the flight, not I," she remarked. "I deserve no attention and in fact wish none."

She was in constant telegraphic communication with her husband before the hop-off.

HERRICK IN TRIBUTE TO LINDBERGH

Ambassador Arrived Home Says Flyer Helped Heal Wounds to Friendship

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, returned for his annual vacation today and in an address at City Hall told of the international good will created by the trans-Atlantic flight of Charles A. Lindbergh.

Ambassador Herrick was a passenger on the maiden voyage of the new French liner Ile de France and brought with him a memorandum from the French government concerning outlawry of war between the countries.

"It was a time," he said, in speaking of Lindbergh's flight, "when old war wounds were still unhealed, when both France and America sorely needed a revival of that ancient friendship, latent, but never dead.

"It was at this moment that the Spirit of St. Louis came out of the sky and gently landed on French soil. It was one more link in that chain of mutual respect and friendship which has stood the test of ages."

The Ambassador declined to discuss the proposed security pact further than admitting that he carried a document concerning it and saying that he looked forward "with delight to the future of mutual relations of France and the United States."

The Ile de France made a new record for boats of the French Line, completing the journey from Plymouth to Ambrose Light in five days and eight hours.

Trustee Beck Recalled from Office at Azusa

AZUSA, June 28. (Exclusive)— City Trustee C. W. Beck was recalled from office today as a climax to the most bitter political war Azusa ever has known.

Final figures in the recall election tonight showed that Mr. Beck had lost his office by a vote of 341 to 349. At the same time the voters elected Roy E. Martin, a druggist, to succeed Beck.

The recall election grew out of Mr. Beck's efforts to oust Motorcycle Officer Carl Kimbrel from the police force. Other members of the Council refused to stand back of Beck in the fight and members of the police force and their friends swung into a bitter campaign against him.

When the results of the election were made public tonight supporters of Kimbrel organized an impromptu parade through the town, shooting off great quantities of fire crackers and cheering vociferously.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (Exclusive)—Experience counts in almost any line of activity, Luis Ashland and Andrew Hoagland came into Federal Judge Kerrigan's court today to have their bail reduced from $20,000 to $10,000. They were indicted as rum runners and asserted by officers to be leaders of a gang known as "the Big Swedes." When the court asked for the reason for wanting the bail reduced, they said:

"Every other time we were here it was only $10,000."

They got the reduction.

SOVIETS COURT NEGRO SUPPORT

organization gives 19 South Lincoln street as its address.

Fort-Whiteman passed almost all of 1924 in Russia hobnobbing with the soviet chiefs and lecturing at their meetings on the possibilities of Red activities in the United States. He told them that they were losing a great opportunity in neglecting the American negro among their propaganda activities and they thought so well of his suggestions that they then and there named a town after him and commissioned him to start the ball rolling with a view of bringing the whole negro population of the United States under the wing of the Russian Reds.

MEMBERS NAMED

Fort-Whiteman thereupon returned to the United States and set up the provisional committee for organizing the American Negro Labor Congress at Chicago with himself as president. Among the members of this committee appear the names of William Bryant, business manager of the Asphalt Workers Union, Milwaukee; Edward L. Doth, organizer of negro plumbers, Chicago; H. V. Phillips, organizer of negro working class youth, Chicago; Elizabeth Griffin, president of Chicago Negro Women's Household League; Everett Greene, Chicago correspondent of Afro-American, Baltimore; William Scarville of the Pittsburgh American; Charles Henry, representative of unorganized negro steel workers, Chicago; Otto Hall, 3440 Vernon avenue, Chicago, Waiters' and Cooks' Association of Chicago; Lewis Hunter, Longshoremen's Protective and Benevolent Union, New Orleans; Otto Huiswood, African Blood Brotherhood, New York; Aaron Davis, Neighborhood Protective Association, Toomsba, Miss.; John Owens, organizer of negro agricultural workers, Ripley, Cal.; Rosina Davis, secretary of Chicago Women's Household League; E. A. Lynch, fraternal delegate from West African Seamen's Union, Liverpool; Jack Edwards, representative negro Pullman car workers, Chicago, and Sahir Karimiji, fraternal delegate from Natal Agricultural Workers, South Africa.

The New York branch of the congress had a meeting at the Abyssinian Baptist Church at 1936 West One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street not so many days ago and Fort-Whiteman came on from Chicago to give the affair its proper red-hot Bolshevik tone. He announced then that the congress in July will open a school in Harlem with classes in "Economics of Imperialism," "the Chinese Revolution" and "[illegible] of Communism."

STRIFE FEAR INCREASES

Arms Conclave Full of Peril

Japan's Sudden Maneuver to Get on Britain's Side Has Deep Significance

America Determined to Balk Any Delving Into Treaties on Pacific Issues

GENEVA, June 28. (AP)—What constitutes the present danger of the tripartite naval conference, in the minds of close observers, is that it may awaken or even create political animosities. Not so much danger is attached to its failing to reach an agreement on the strength of auxiliary warcraft for Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

This political peril has appeared on the horizon because of the sudden Japanese initiative, which indicates that Tokio may be forced either by conviction that real economy may be achieved or by political expediency, into backing the British in their demand for a re-examination of the Washington treaty, at least so far as battleships are concerned.

SEEDS OF NEW ERA

In American circles the Washington treaty is looked upon as something more than a mere agreement to curtail the construction of capital ships. In a larger sense it is regarded as having planted the seeds of a new era of tranquillity on the Pacific Ocean—the United States having agreed to maintain the status quo of American fortifications at Guam and in the Philippines, and Japan having accepted a ratio in battleships considerably under that of the United States.

It is pointed out that the United States not only has stopped strengthening the bases sheltering American warships in the Far East, but ardently supported the successful negotiations for the creation of a four-power Pacific pact in substitution for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which went by the board.

The Americans therefore are averse to reopening the Washington treaty in any form, not only because they deem such a step juridically impossible and impracticable, but also because they have some apprehension that it might provoke a new and undesirable study of the political situation, including even the wisdom of adding to the strength of the American bases at Guam and in the Philippines.

JAPANESE FLIRTING

That Japan is flirting with both British and American delegations is the way some observers comment on Japan's dramatic stroke last night when the Japanese intimated the probability of a shift from their original position that Washington treaty matters should not be discussed at Geneva.

Others insist that Japan's financial condition makes it imperative for her to attain an agreement to limit auxiliary warships at the present conference and that her new policy at Geneva really is designed to force a compromise between the utterly divergent British and American attitudes, and thus save the parley from disruption.

From the British delegation today came indications that W. G. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, has no idea whatsoever of permitting the conference to collapse, but feels that he must return to London not only with a treaty limiting cruisers, destroyers and submarines, but also with the record of an attempt, determinedly made, even though fruitless, to cut down the size of battleships and cruisers.

WHAT COMPROMISE?

This desire, undoubtedly shared by all the delegations, to avoid the collapse of the conference, again has brought forward the question of what compromise measure can be elaborated calculated to satisfy the proponents of the two theses concerning capital ships.

Every indication furnished at the headquarters of the American delegation today, either by the spoken word or the determined appearance of the delegates themselves, was that the Americans, like Gen. Grant, are prepared to "fight it out on this line, if it takes all summer," and will oppose to the end any attempts to reopen the Washington treaty, whatever may be the attitude of the British and Japanese.

However, in a desire to give some satisfaction to the British, who continue to emphasize the great economies accruing from lessening the size of individual warships, it is considered possible that the Americans not only may consent to linking the present conference with the one which necessarily must be held at Washington in 1931, but may approve of the appointment of some committee to concentrate its activities on preparing the agenda of the second Washington conference.

AMERICA BELIEVES JAPANESE REPORT WRONG

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Stiffening of opposition to the British stand at the Geneva conference was noticeable today at the State Department along with an apparently well founded belief that Japan will not abet England's desire to reopen consideration of the Washington arms treaty.

High State Department officials said they understood from private reports that Japan merely had indicated a willingness to discuss reduction in the size of battleships fixed in the 1922 treaty at 35,000 tons maximum, only after the question of auxiliary craft had been disposed of. Such action, it was held, could not be construed as inimical to the American plan to the extent of endangering the conference.

Officials here based their belief that Japan will not side wholeheartedly with the British proposal on the assumption that Japan, having set certain goals for herself at the conference, must recognize the diplomatic value of not arousing American public sentiment against her.

OTHER REASONS

Japan hopes for an agreement giving her a slightly higher auxiliary ratio than 60 per cent, and it is thought here that she will be able to negotiate if unencumbered with obligations to support the British plan in the face of American opposition.

The proposal of the British delegation was described by department officials as unacceptable, not only because strictly out of order at the three-power conference, but because it would result in American naval inferiority for many years.

They reiterated that it would be unwise to revise the 1922 treaty provisions affecting capital ship tonnage now because a five-power conference for that purpose is scheduled for 1931.

To that argument is added the consideration that Great Britain is seeking tonnage reduction for the American navy immediately after she has launched two 35,000-ton battleships, the Rodney and Nelson.

Dr. Mitchell of Caltech in American Party

SETTLE, LANCASHIRE (Eng.) June 29. (AP)—At 6:23 o'clock this morning observers in this section of England had a perfect view of the sun's eclipse.

Five minutes before totality at 6:24 a brisk southeast wind drove the remainder of the clouds and at the moment of totality the sky presented a clear blue, which gradually shaded into pitch darkness.

As the eclipse became total the hilltops of the neighborhood echoed with exclamations of awe and shouts of admiration.

OSLO (Norway) June 28. (AP)—Last-minute preparations of astronomers from leading countries of the world, including a large delegation of Americans, have been completed for the observation of the total solar eclipse tomorrow morning.

Most of the astronomers have selected Fagerness, just north of Oslo, for their headquarters. The American astronomers are here, mostly under the leadership of Prof. S. A. Mitchell of the Leander-McCormick Observatory at the University of Virginia. Prof. Newall of Cambridge has arrived and an Italian expedition under Prof. D'Arturio has set up its apparatus.

Special trains were run tonight to convey the scientists and other visitors to the best vantage points. The Norwegian government has permitted foreign astronomers to bring their instruments free of duty and a temporary observatory has been erected. As a further accommodation the County Board of the Fagernes District has permitted hotels at Fagerness to sell alcoholic beverages so long as the foreign scientists are staying there for observation purposes.

Prof. Mitchell, the American astronomer, has observed seven solar eclipses, which have required him to travel 60,000 miles with all his apparatus. His present expedition is financed by John Armstrong Chaloner of Virginia and is under the auspices of Smithsonian Institution. The delicate astronomical instruments have been loaned by the United States Naval Observatory, Allegheny Observatory and Harvard University. Included in the party are Dr. A. C. Mitchell of the California Institute of Technology, and Col. Walter E. Lyman, president of the Royal Astronomical Society. Dr. Michel F. Kovelenko of the Princeton University Observatory also is here.

GREENWICH WILL USE HERSCHEL'S MIRRORS

GREENWICH (Eng.) June 28. (AP)—Original mirrors for reflecting telescopes, made 100 years ago by Sir John Herschel, celebrated astronomer, will be used for the first time for the observation of the total solar eclipse which will be visible over part of England tomorrow morning.

The mirrors were sealed up in soldered cans by Herschel and were only recently taken from their cases. They have been loaned by Rev. Sir John Herschel. They are not of quicksilver glass, like ordinary mirrors, but are made of speculum, a metal two parts copper and one part tin. One mirror will be used in connection with a spectroscope by the Royal Observatory of Greenwich at Giggleswick, Yorkshire, and the other has been taken to Norway by Prof. H. P. Newall of the Cambridge expedition. The mirror at Greenwich has a brilliant burnish and perfect reflecting surface. It is nine inches in diameter and has a focal length of eight feet.

Packing cases containing the apparatus of the Royal Observatory, which have been sent to Giggleswick, bear the name "Singapore," which was the last place of dispatch for instruments from the observatory for observing a solar eclipse. There has not been a total eclipse of the sun visible at Greenwich since 1715.

AIRPORTS DECLARED NEXT ESSENTIAL STEP

DAVISON TALKS ON AVIATION REQUIREMENTS BEFORE AMERICAN LEGION

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The establishment of airports throughout the country along a scientific plan based on geographical position is the next important step in the advancement of American aviation in the opinion of Assistant Secretary Davison, in charge of army aeronautics, expressed in a statement today to the American Legion.

Mr. Davison regards the airport as one of the three major factors in aviation's development, the others being the production of airplanes and training of pilots. The airport should be not only a terminal for the aerial traffic of its community, he said, but a port of call for airplanes compelled to make unscheduled stops. He lauded the Legion's work in promoting airports.

Catholic Bishops of Italy Back Pope's Campaign to Reform Modern Dress

(Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, June 28. (Exclusive)—Condemning women who dress in the fashions of today as "practicing heretics," a committee of bishops of the Catholic Church from all parts of Italy, convening in Verona, indorsed the Pope's campaign against immodest dress.

A letter to parishioners throughout Italy expressed the sentiments of the convention thus:

"Lift high your hearts, oh, ye little girls, maidens and women! On your deathbeds you will have sad memories in ruminating on the time and energy you have wasted running among the fashions. How great will be your remorse for the sins you may have caused by your immodesty! Truly, in that moment you would prepare yourselves to dress your skeletons in the last style. What will all the other gowns be worth to you then? Do not tell us we were cruel or melancholy. We wish for you to call upon God for every good God may grant you—that is, eternal good, which is the salvation of your souls, and temporal good, which is the joy of a tranquil conscience. It is for this reason that we call you back to realities."

After scoring modern dress in this fashion, the letter then praises the women who have taken up the battle for modesty in modes, and concludes "for the success of our undertaking we confide in the Immaculate Mary, the help of all Christians, purest mother, chaste, inviolate, queen of the virgins. Today's fashion is practiced heresy. The Virgin Mary will destroy it."

WORKMAN'S FAMILY LOSES COMPENSATION

COURT RULES LABORER'S DEATH NOT CAUSED IN LINE OF DUTY

SACRAMENTO, June 28. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Mello and her nine children today lost their fight for State compensation for the death last year of the husband and father in a pool of lye on the St. John's Park Company prune ranch near Princeton, Colusa county. Today's decision against them was handed down by the Third District Court of Appeal and affirmed the ruling of the Industrial Accident Commission and the State Compensation Insurance Fund officials that the family was not entitled to compensation because Mello lost his life while not in the line of duty.

Mello was drowned in the pool of lye drained from a dehydrator as he was going to a field to work, but the route he was following was off the route supposed to be followed. The route also led him through a melon patch, and inference was drawn by the two State boards at planning to pick a melon for his family. It also was brought out at that time that the evening before the deceased had visited the melon field and had taken a melon home.

EULOGY ON DOG REVERSED

Son of Senator Vest, Who Lauded Pet, Denounces Animals as Family Suffers Bites

KANSAS CITY, June 28. (Exclusive)—The famous "Eulogy On a Dog," delivered with all the tenderness of the human heart, won imperishable fame for the late Missouri Senator, George G. Vest. But it remained for his son, with a few well, if hastily chosen, words, to tell for the family the other side of likes and dislikes for dogs.

Alexander Vest, the son, has been bitten and grandson took the Pasteur snapped at by a dog. Not only that, he has been bitten by one. And that isn't all. His daughter, Mrs. Leslie C. Williams, was bitten. And more, Mr. Vest's grandson, Leslie Vest Williams, who is only 2 years of age, was bitten, too.

It was while a snappy, strange little dog was going the rounds of the family biting arms and hands that Mr. Vest uttered the words—notwithstanding the fact that a copy of his father's dog speech, appropriately framed, hung on the living-room wall:

Those words will not be printed. But they were not so bad. Just something that comes to a man's tongue in an instant at such times.

The episode with the strange dog was followed by fourteen anxious days in which Mr. Vest, his daughter and grandson took the Pasteur treatment. No harmful results have been noted.

As Mr. Vest's experience with dogs was a bit different from that of his father his views are interesting.

"The city is no place for a dog," he said. "Instead of a dog being man's best friend he is man's enemy—in the city. If there was an ordinance proposed here to kill all dogs, or put them out of the city, I would be for it. The place for the dog where he is some good, is out in the country. Town dogs are nothing but lap poodles and novelties."

While Mr. Vest's terse phrase descriptive of the dog uttered in the heat of the attack, probably will not go down as a historical remark, his father's noted speech lives still. At least once a week Mr. Vest said he received requests for copies of the speech, and he complied with all when a 2-cent stamp was inclosed, he said.

FLOOD CONTROL AIM OF HOOVER

Secretary Talks to Chamber at New Orleans

Not Enough to Send People to Homes, He Says

Refugees Must Have Promise of Danger's End

NEW ORLEANS, June 28. (AP)—The problem of flood reconstruction leads naturally into the problem of flood control, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover said here today at a luncheon address before the Association of Commerce.

"It is not enough to take the flood refugees back to their homes," he said, "we must give them the assurance that there will not be a recurrence of the disaster from which they have escaped. The lives of so many people must no longer be placed in jeopardy."

Mr. Hoover briefly sketched the activities of the flood relief organizations, paying tribute to the American Red Cross, the railroads, local committees and other agencies which rendered valuable aid during the flood.

Rehabilitation is going steadily forward, he said, adding that reconstruction is not solely a question of returning the refugees to their homes.

"No reconstruction can be complete that does not give them the assurance that the disaster will not happen again.

"We have been assured by our engineers that the floods of the Mississippi and its tributaries can be controlled. It is a physical necessity that we confine the Mississippi to small dimensions on its flow to the gulf, and it is necessary that for a large part of the distance the surface of the water be above the level of the land. But the problem must be worked out. We cannot longer leave the people of the valley in jeopardy."

AIR TOURIST PLANES FLY OVER LAKES

Fourteen Ships in Long National Journey Finish Second Day of Schedule

SCHENECTADY (N. Y.) June 28. (AP)—Slipping over the green hills and blue lakes of Central New York at a rapid clip, the planes entered in the national air tour completed safely the second day of their long schedule at the Schenectady Air Field late today.

The fourteen ships, carrying a personnel of sixty persons, made the 250-mile flight between Buffalo and this city in less than two and a half-hours' flying time, stopping off for three hours this noon at Geneva. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, eastern standard time, the flotilla makes a hop to Boston.

One accident, a slight one, marred today's progress. The United States Navy's tri-motored Ford transport plane, loaded with eight men, smashed a tail-skid in landing at Geneva and put back to Detroit for repairs. It is expected to rejoin the tour in New York City on Thursday.

IGNORE EUROPE, BORAH PLEADS

Calls on Nation to Settle Its Own Problems

Senator Refers to Flood and Conservation of Oil

Warns of War Clouds and Hits Debt Cancellation

DENVER, June 28. (AP)—A call to the government and the nation to turn their attention and effort to reconstruction at home rather than in Europe was made here tonight by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho.

Speaking at the twenty-third annual convention of the International Advertising Association, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he was more interested in placing the Mississippi flood sufferers back in their homes, in the construction of the Great Lakes-to-the-Atlantic water way and the harnessing of the Colorado River than he was "in the delusive effort to aid Europe."

NEW POLICY NEEDED

Refering specifically to recent overproduction of oil and to the Mississippi flood, Senator Borah said it was clear that the nation should turn its attention to working out an "intelligent and permanent national policy to conserve, for the use of all, the marvelous natural wealth" with which the country had been endowed.

Senator Borah declared the cancellation of part of the debts owed by the European countries and the loaning of American billions to Europe served but little in reconstruction there.

"We are not helping the people of Europe, but the war makers of Europe," he warned. "The history of Europe during the past thirty days has in it every element of strife which preceded the war.

"The Premier of Italy in a public speech declares that he is on the way to creating an army of 5,000,000 men, to the building of a great navy, and to the reconstruction of an air force second to none in the world.

TROUBLE IN EUROPE

"The break between Great Britain and Russia, the assassination of the Russian Minister in Poland, the executions in Russia, have made Europe, mentally and spiritually, an armed camp. Last Sunday a week the Premier of France, at Luneville, delivered a public address steeped in bitterness and intolerance. Tearing open old wounds and summoning the spirits of fear and suspicion and hate call for a policy of force and fallow the earth with the seeds of war.

"The League convenes in an atmosphere of dissension and strife.

"I see neither the advancement of reconstruction nor aid for peace nor service to humanity in the cancellation of debts under such circumstances, or in loaning millions of American money to Europe. I see the very opposite of these things.

PLENTY AT HOME

"I am more interested in working out a policy of conservation, which will dedicate our great natural wealth to the happiness of our own people and thus strengthening the foundation of our own institutions than I am in trying to build up European markets, under the policies now obtaining.

"There is enough, more than enough, to do at home. There is honest work for every dollar in the United States. There are markets to be built up here of far more value to the American farmer than the fugitive markets which we are hunting for abroad.

"There is room for a constructive program here which will serve the cause of peace and serve humanity. There is a home job to do, and prudence and patriotism alike urge us to the task.

CONSERVATION GREAT PROBLEM

Senator Borah asserted that the greatest domestic problem since the Civil War was what should the government do and how it should exercise its purpose in putting an end to the waste of natural resources—oil, timber and water power.

"Public interest demands that this waste should cease," he said. "Justice to the people demands that unjust prices and exploitation shall be prevented. Common sense and the most ordinary tenets of humanity insist that our rivers shall no longer be a menace to millions of our countrymen.

"Making our rivers both safe and serviceable is not local, but general, not sectional, but national, not politics, but business. There are some signs that the old-time piece-meal procrastinating political method is again contemplated. Nothing could be more unfortunate nor in the end more expensive. Expense, and great expense, may be the part of true economy. In the face of great tasks, parsimony becomes extravagance, timidity a crime."

YOUNGGREEN NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENCY

DENVER, June 28 (AP)—Charles C. Younggreen of Milwaukee, Wis., today was nominated for the presidency of the International Advertising Association by the organization's nominating committee.

R. O. Stewart of New York City, present secretary of the association, was unanimously re-elected treasurer. Francis H. Sisson of New York City was unimously re-elected treasurer.

Younggreen won the nomination by a vote of 25 to 12. Although such nomination ordinarily is considered tantamount to election by the convention proper, today's action was looked upon as a precursor of an unprecedented fight for the office on the floor of the convention tomorrow. The other candidate for president is C. King Woodbridge of Detroit, incumbent, who is serving his second term.

REFORM FOR HOUSE OF LORDS HITS SNAG

LONDON, June 28. (Exclusive)—Opposition to the British Cabinet's plan to reform the House of Lords developed today. A grand meeting of the Conservative Unionist Council, on a show of hands, rejected the first resolution to approve the government's plan. The young Tory members succeeded in tacking on an amendment which leaves the resolution for the approval of the reform stated in tepid terms.

(AP)—Augustine Sanchez, colporteur of the Evangelical Pentecostal Mission at Hayward, is in a hospital here suffering from a fractured skull and broken leg as result of being hit by an automobile on the State highway seven miles north of here. The car was driven by William K. Sagrinyan of Los Angeles, who was on his way to attend school in San Jose.

CLOUDS OF MARS MYSTIFY

Planet Declared by Lick Observatory Overcast by Blue Vapors Defying Analysis

BERKELEY, June 28. (AP)—The planet Mars supports in its atmosphere blue clouds that defy analysis. Such was the announcement of W. H. Wright, astronomer at Lick Observatory, who has been experimenting with color photography as an aid to the usual methods of studying the planets.

Wright explained in his report, published by the University of California yesterday, that although observers had noted the varying color of clouds on Mars previously, they had never attributed it to a difference in structure. His latest observations with color screens convinced him, however, that there are two types of clouds in the Martian atmosphere, one probably white, but appearing yellow because of the absorbing effect of the planet's atmosphere, and the blue clouds, which float at a higher altitude.

The yellow, or white clouds, Wright styled water vapor clouds similar to those in our own sky. Wright has been unable to determine the exact nature of the blue clouds, but he expressed belief that much of the prominence of the planet's polar caps is due to a blue cloud floating over them.

The color photography studies are based on the fact that ultra-violet light penetrates atmosphere very poorly, while infra-red, at the other end of the spectrum, penetrates very well, and the colors between penetrate in regular degrees, according to their position between the extremes of the spectrum.

The scientists, consequently, have been able to obtain pictures of Mars with its atmosphere surrounding it like a blanket, and again with the atmosphere peeled off. Preliminary studies of Jupiter have revealed that it has an atmosphere differing widely from that of Mars, apparently containing clouds of absorbent gas or colored particles, through which even the infra-red rays will not completely penetrate.

ONE TRAIN FREED FROM UTAH SLIDE

Blockade in Price River Canyon Partly Overcome; 200 Autos Trapped

SALT LAKE CITY, June 28. (AP)—Traffic over the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad between Denver and that city was resumed this afternoon with the release of one of five trains tied up by washouts and slides in Price Canyon. Other trains are expected to be moved during the night. Train No. 3, the first one to be released, was expected to arrive here almost twenty-four hours late.

In addition to the trains, approximately 200 automobiles carrying tourists and others are marooned in various parts of the canyon 130 miles east of here. Reports from the State Highway Commission's office late this afternoon said it would take several months to repair some of the damage to highways, but that all motorists would be released within a couple of days.

Damage to the Castle Gate, Price and Helper water supply, which was cut off when a pipe line was carried away, will not be repaired for at least a week. Meanwhile residents of the city have been asked to conserve the supply, which must come from storage reservoirs. Danger from fire is high, Mayor Madsen of Price said in a warning issued to citizens.

COLORADO VALLEY THREATENED BY FLOOD

DURANGO (Colo.) June 28. (AP)—The entire San Juan basin has been soaked by a rain which has fallen continuously for forty-eight hours. All streams are higher than at any time since the flood of 1911. The upper Animas Valley is under water and all railroad lines into Durango are out of commission. The Wallace bridge at the head of Animas Valley has been washed out and three bridges across Pine River have been carried away by the flood waters.

The heavy rain caused a landslide which crashed into the American Smelting and Refining Company plant here today, causing damage estimated at $50,000. The Animas River is only a few inches from the top of the retaining wall which protects the smelter.

GOODYEAR DIRIGIBLE PLAN WINS

Design Submitted in Navy Contest Awarded $50,000; Will Cost $5,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, O., today was awarded first prize in the Navy's design competition for a new airship of 6,500,000 cubic feet gas capacity.

A prize of $50,000 is carried with the award for the design of the great craft, which will be more than twice as large as the Los Angeles. The prize, however, cannot be given to the company which receives the contract to build the ship.

A second award of $5000 was approved for the purchase of the design submitted by W. Watters Pagon of Baltimore, while the design of Dr. Johannes Schwengler of Strelitz, Germany, was given honorable mention.

Since the reconstruction contracts under the bill authorizing two such airships must be awarded American concerns, and in view of the relatively favorable position of the Goodyear Company in work of this nature, it was indicated that this company probably would get the contract.

The new airship, which will cost about $5,000,000 and take about three years to complete, will be capable of carrying five airplanes, a crew of forty-five officers and men, and fly at a speed of eighty miles an hour. She will be 780 feet long and 135 feet in diameter, and her primary duty will be to operate with the fleet.

SENATOR URGES CHINA TREATIES

Bingham Completes 10,000 Mile Inspection Tour

Advises Negotiations With Three Governments

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, June 28.—That the old days of foreign imperialism in China definitely have passed and the time has arrived for a revision of China's unequal treaties is the opinion of Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, who today concluded practically a 10,000-mile trip to all parts of North, South and Central China. Senator Bingham, accompanied by his son, Woodbridge, visited the headquarters of China's three governments, Peking, Hankow and Nanking, as well as making a long trip to Shansi Province to interview the model Governor, Yen Hsi Shan. He also interviewed every leader of consequence, including Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Gen. Chang Hsueh Liang, the marshal's son; Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, C. C. Wu, Hu Han Ming, Eugene Chen, Wang Ching Wei, Sun Fo, Mme. Sun Yat-Sen and even Michael Borodin, the Russian adviser to the Cantonese forces.

In an interview tonight Senator Bingham declared "the sooner the United States recognizes the present situation the better. We should send commissioners to all of China's governments as soon as possible to open negotiations for new treaties, making them on the best terms we can, for the longer we wait the poorer the terms are likely to be.

REVOLUTION FACT

"I am convinced that the Chinese revolution is a fact and armed intervention is utterly impossible as a means of solving either the powers' problem or China's. China's mind has been definitely convinced that its ills are due to the foreigners and it will be impossible to eradicate them as long as the present treaty position exists.

"We must recognize that the old days are past and no force can restore them, hence the sooner we admit this the better for the United States."

With reference to the American diplomatic representation in China Senator Bingham declared the legation at Peking is inadequate because the Nationalists have two other governments in the Yangtse Valley just as important as Peking. He also expressed the belief that the American officials now stationed at Peking should be distributed among the other governments, enabling the United States to keep as close as possible in touch with all the factions.

SHOW OF FORCE

With reference to the United States marine and naval forces in China Senator Bingham said a certain show of force was necessary as long as China is disturbed. The naval forces should be placed where the American interests are located but declared emphatically "that we must not be parading the American forces."

"Our navy officials should be instructed to pay courtesy calls on all Chinese officials where ships are stationed," he said, "and diplomatic and consular officials should keep as close as possible in touch with what is taking place in China."

UNITED STATES NOW HAS 4600 MEN IN NORTH CHINA

PEKING, June 28. (AP)—With the Chinese civil war steadily approaching northward, the American forces in North China to protect American lives and property today reached 4600 men.

A force of 1100 marines from the Tenth Provisional Regiment, including an aviation detachment today was landed in the Tien-Tsin region. American aviation headquarters are being established at Hsigho, midway between Tien-Tsin and Taku.

Thus far there have been no indications of the early removal of the American legation from Peking although plans for its removal have been formulated in case this should become necessary.

The Shantung offensive by Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the Moderate Nationalists, which was planned at last week's conference at Suchow with Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang appears to be in full sway.

Official and foreign reports say that conditions approaching panic exist among the Japanese along the Shantung railway. Japanese residents at Tsinan, capital of the province of Shantung, are pressing their consul to send Japanese troops to that city from Tsingtao, but no move in this direction has been made as yet.

The United States Consul-General at Hankow has been instructed to assist in the evacuation of eleven American Roman Catholic passionist missionaries of whom three are women. The party is at present engaged in an arduous trip from stations in the Province of Hunan through the Province of Kweichow and Szechwan, the only route open to the Yangtse River because of the war.

NATIONALISTS SUFFER HEAVIEST REVERSE

LONDON, June 28. (AP)—A Shanghai dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph says the Chinese Nationalists admit suffering the heaviest reverse of the war at Suchowfu, Northwestern Kiangsu Province.

Attacked by Gen. Sun. Chuan-Fang and his Shantungese, the Nationalists evacuated the city after four days' fighting in which they lost 30,000 men, mostly killed, and retreated thirty miles to Pengfu.

COAST CATTLE TREND LAUDED

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—The American Institute of Co-operation was told today how California cattlemen, through the organization of a co-operative marketing association, in two years not only have stabilized and restored confidence in the cattle industry of the Pacific Coast, but also have built a business than runs into $1,000,000 a month.

Roy M. Hagen, assistant managing director of the California Cattlemen's Association, was the speaker.

"Our problem," he said, "is to market a volume of grass for cattle (a perishable commodity) over long distances to rather sensitive and limited markets, in such manner as to maintain satisfactory and stable price levels. It has been the object of this association to market the cattle belonging to its members in an orderly manner and to serve as balance wheel in the moving of the cattle supply to the market."

Eight Crews Face Starter in Race Today

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 28. The crews of the eight colleges in the twenty-ninth annual intercollegiate regatta slid their shells into the lee of their boat-house floats tonight and ended their season of practice. Tomorrow afternoon and evening these crews, nineteen of them in all, will bring the racing season to a close with three events, freshman, junior-varsity and varsity and there has not been a race since the war when the result of the race has been such an open question.

MAY LOSE OUT

Ever since the close of the war saw the resumption, after a three-year lapse, of this event, which has gone over this course since 1895, the rights of Navy and of the University of Washington have shared the honors between them, one or the other has always won. This year there is the chance that one of the others will slide past the finish mark ahead of the kings who have ruled

EACH year as the colorful spectacle of an intercollegiate regatta draws near, men speak more and more of "Pop" Courtney, the beloved rowing coach of Cornell University who passed on to the Valhalla where swivel oar-locks are unknown, about six or seven years ago, and let his beloved Cornell slide into the doldrums of defeat. For Courtney was a dominating figure each year in the annual Poughkeepsie race, and while he coached at Cornell, the red-tipped blades of Ithaca ruled the waves and the fame of "Pop" spread wherever men rowed in cedar shells.

A former champion sculler, Courtney "knew his stuff" to the highest degree and what is more important, he knew how to transplant that knowledge to his pupils Quiet, modest, and unassuming, with great mechanical and executive ability, "Pop" built great crews on Lake Cayuga, and in so doing made himself a beloved institution at the university on the hill. Strict, yet never known to publicly "bawl out" a student, Courtney proved himself one of the greatest judges of men that ever coached in any sport, and in sportsmanship and in willingness to help an op-

Bad Cut Over Walker's Eye Healing Well

LONDON, June 28. (AP)—Mickey Walker's bad eye, due to the opening of an old cut by a heavy swing landed by one of his sparring partners, is healing nicely and the stitches have been taken out. Walker himself says he was never in better condition than for his fight with Tommy Milligan of Scotland, Thursday night.

Milligan reached London from his homeland this evening accompanied by a retinue of well wishers and eager bettors.

SEALS OUTSLUG SERAPHS

Angels Drop Series Opener, 12-11; Ping Bodie's Great Play at First Halts Krug Rally

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (Exclusive)—Ping Bodie laid on his stomach and stretched as far as he could reach to take a throw from Dittmar in the ninth inning today. He hung onto the ball and kept one big toe dug into the bag and retired Staley for the third out and the end of the game, just as the tying run was crossing the plate. Because Ping made that putout, the Seals won the opening game of the series with the Angels, 12 to 11, after two hours and thirty-five minutes of struggling.

It was a wild and wooly affair with each team using four pitchers, and no lead was safe. The Seals got away to a flying start by scoring three runs in the first inning off Bill Piercy, but that lead did the Great Mails no good, for he was out of there in the fourth. Bob Geary tried his luck and was hit hard. Then Turpin flung awhile and did so-so. He was leading by two runs when the ninth opened, but he walked Jacobs and had pitched two bad balls to Cox when he was yanked and Earl Kunz went on the job. Kunz finally got the side out with only one run scored, but it took that

DEFORREST WILL COVER FIGHTERS FOR "TIMES"

Jimmy DeForrest, the world's greatest trainer, will give Times readers the official inside and low-down on Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey in their preparations for their big battle in the Madison Square Garden, July 21. DeForrest, who trained Dempsey for his early battles, and later handled Firpo, who came within an ace of knocking Dempsey out of his world title, will watch the former champion's toil in a training camp, and will dictate five articles on his condition, looks, ability and probabl success. He then will visit Sharkey's camp, record the antics of the Boston Lithuanian, and follow it up with a ringside report and analysis of the big bout. The first of these articles will appear tomorrow.

MISSION BELLS TAKE OPENER FROM HOLLYWOODERS, 7 TO 5

BY BOB RAY

Minus the presence and sage advice of their prexy, Mr. W. H. McCarthy, the Mission makeshifts, under the guidance of Harry Hooper for a day, defeated the Hollywood Stars, 7 to 5, in yesterday's series opener at Wrigley Field.

Mister McCarthy is expected to arrive here today to take over the dictatorship so don't be surprised if the Bells are beaten by the Stars.

Clyde Barfoot, who chucked some considerable baseball when he was toiling for the Vernon Tigers a couple of seasons ago, was in his 1925 form for seven innings, during which time the Stars rapped him for three widely scattered singles. However, when the Stars did get started, in the last two rounds, they banged across five runs, the last three counters coming with two out in the ninth when Dudley Lee surprised everybody by hitting a home run into the centerfield stands with two men on. That hit caused Hooper to derrick Barfoot for Jimmy Christian, who retired the side just like that.

Aside from pitching a respectable brand of ball, Barfoot furthered his own cause by hitting one over the left-field wall with one on to give the Bells a pair of the seven runs.

FULLERTON OUT EARLY

Curtis Fullerton started on the mound for Hollywood, but had to be derricked before the first inning was over. Fullerton started his own downfall when he made a wild throw to second on what should have been a double play that would have retired the side. Three runs scored before Phil Mulcahy could come to the rescue and the Bells were off in front, never to be headed.

The Missions presented a makeshift infield, with Bill Rodda at short and Bill Parker at second in place of Slade and Finn, who are on the injured list.

Evar Swanson worked Fullerton for a pass to start the contest but Jones popped out. Hooper hit to Fullerton, who had a set-up double play in front of him, but Curt heaved the ball way to Lee's right out to center field so Swanson ambled to third. Big Ed Rose laced one to right for two bases and Swanson scored. Chili McDaniel followed with a hot one-base shot to center to put Hooper and Rose across. Mulcahy then took the mound and the scoring stopped until the sixth.

Parker and Rodda had been re-

REFEREE HALTS UNEVEN BATTLE

Holborow Comes to ex-Gob's Aid to Stop Fight

Local Scrapper Puts Foe on Canvas Three Times

Ray Pelky Annexes Decision in Semi-Wind-up

BY PAUL LOWRY

For the first time in his career as a main eventer in this city or any other, Eddie Huffman, the ex-tar, had the swan song warbled to him at the Olympic last night.

Ernie Owens of the stepladder arms, stopped him in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round fight. Huffman had been on the floor twice, and when he sank helplessly for the third time Referee Frank Holborow decided there was no use in permitting the continuance of the one-sided slaughter. He stopped it and raised Owens's hand.

Huffman was given an unmerciful beating. Owens's sledge-hammer right floored him for counts of nine in both the second and fifth rounds, and in the seventh a left hook to the face followed by two sharp rights knocked him spraddling on the lower strand of the ropes. From there the ex-sailor slid inertly to the floor, and Holborow halted the massacre before Billy Coe's count had progressed to "two."

MADE NO IMPRESSION

Huffman failed to win a round or to make any kind of an impression. The man who won from Jimmy Delaney, Capt. Bob Roper, knocked Tiger Flowers on the floor for the count of "nine" at Ascot one year ago and later stuck ten rounds with Jack Sharkey in New York is through.

Slower of foot and hand and even slower of mind than in the past, Huffman was duck soup for Owens. The only thing the ex-tar has left is the stolid expression of face he wore when he broke into the main event company in this city.

Even when his ear was split and gushed gore last night and he was wobbling from side to side Huffman looked the same. Victory or defeat apparently mean nothing to this phlegmatic, emotionless Dutchman.

In victory Owens's stock was boosted immensely. He now finds himself a leading candidate for national light-heavyweight honors, this long-armed lad who until last night had never

Paddock Will Cover Meet for Times

He will run on the L.A.A.C. relay team the last day of the meet. Paddock will also "cover" the three-day athletic affair for The Times. His first article will appear in tomorrow morning's Times.

DEMPSEY LOOKS LIKE A BIG HAM

But Jack Merely Gets That Way Because He's Experimenting

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, June 28. (Exclusive)—Jack Dempsey's eagerness to shorten his punches and to improve his timing had a tendency to make him look like a ham-and-bean heavyweight today against four sparring partners at Tom Luther's in the ex-champion's second rehearsal in preparation for his forthcoming bout with Jack Sharkey.

Dempsey worked seven rounds, one more than yesterday. He used up three of these on the pulleys, the light and heavy bags and the remainder he devoted to sock trading with Carl Carter, Martin Burke, two heavyweights, and Allentown Joe Gans and Eddie McMullen, middleweights.

All but McMullen seemed to take fiendish delight in belting their boss all over the ring. Dempsey was experimenting and the boys apparently decided to do their belting before Dempsey gets beyond the experimental stage.

McMullen was last of the quartet to go in, and on him Dempsey was

Francis T. Hunter Defeated in Gruelling Battle

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 28. (AP)—Great is Elizabeth Ryan in American tennis circles in Wimbledon tonight. She scored a great victory over Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, the 1926 Wimbledon champion, and was the first American woman to reach the semifinals on a day marked by two American victories — both by women — and one defeat, which was nearly as glorious as the triumphs. Miss Ryan Wills chalked up the second American win, but Francis T. Hunter went down with colors flying before the French ace, Henri Cochet.

The shadow of ill luck which seems to have followed Miss Ryan throughout the numerous years of Wimbledon competition appears to have been dispelled, and many already have visions of an all-American final between the two Californians, Miss Wills and Miss Ryan.

As Miss Ryan and Mrs. Godfree played, they chatted and smiled as they crossed over and halted under the umpire's stand. But in the end fatigue overcame the English girl. Miss Ryan was the picture of health and strength, finishing off the trying match without the semblance of an effort.

Mrs. Godfree had the better of the contest in the first set, where the scoring followed service for the first four games. Miss Ryan used the chop stroke, and made more errors

Professional Tennis Promoters Pester Tilden With Offers at Midnight

GET BIG BILL OUT OF BED

Says He Won't Turn Pro for a Million Dollars

Intimates He May Change His Mind in Future

Helen Wills Undisturbed by Pro Rumors

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 28. (AP)—Awakened after midnight by an agent of a world-known promoter inquiring whether he would consider an offer to become a professional tennis star, Bill Tilden declared that he would not—"not for a million dollars—just now."

The figures mentioned in the offer to Tilden are understood to have been flaunted before the faces of the amateur tennis players competing in the Wimbledon tournament.

PLAYS BECAUSE HE LIKES IT

"Please stop that flow of money," Tilden said sleepily to a correspondent of the Associated Press, who called a few minutes after the promoter's representative had left. "I have two extremely hard matches to play before I reach the championships. If I lose either I wouldn't be worth half of what these gentlemen promise me. I play tennis because I like the game. That's how I feel just now. How I will feel six months from now nobody knows. Don't you think Brugnon played great tennis against me?"

The shadows of professionalism which have been hovering above Wimbledon's Simon-pure amateur skies the past week have not ruffled the cool demeanor of Miss Helen Wills, or the other California girl, Miss Elizabeth Ryan. Miss Wills even refuses to discuss the reported propositions of promoters, and it is looked upon here as a certainty that the offer of $40,000 for a two years' contract offered to her is as good as refused flatly.

TENSE ATMOSPHERE

Spreading like wildfire through the stands, the reports of a professional offensive created a rather tense atmosphere for Wimbledon is virtually the birthplace of amateur tennis. Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, the English champion, and Miss Betty Nuthall, the sensational school girl player, also have been offered sums of no small consequence to turn professionals. Mrs. Godfree refused, but it is stated that Miss Nuthall is "considering the offer," although her mother is not in favor of having her enter the professional field. As the girl is only 16 it would be impossible for her to sign a binding contract.

NAME SPAGHETTI AFTER LAZZERI

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive)—A new crown decorates the dome of Tony Lazzeri today.

The idea lighted upon the shoulders of Ed Barrow, secretary of the New York Americans, that September 3 be set aside as Lazzeri day at the Yankee Stadium.

To make the occasion all the more fitting, a special dish of spaghetti a la Lazzeri will be served by all Italian-American restaurants in his honor.

Thus Tony gains the highest point of fame's peak.

no longer experimenting. Eddie paid for the other boys' fun. And how!!!

Jack fairly showered him with leather, hooked and jabbed, countered and slugged until he not only had Eddie doubled up in the middle, but bleeding from the mouth. Jack could not have been any more sincere if Jack Kearns had been in there doing the collecting.

Carter previously had made a sucker of Dempsey with left jabs. Burke's fast hit-and-get-away tactics made him look ridiculous. Gans couldn't miss him with left jabs and short right hooks to the head.

Paul Labeye, Dempsey's new French camp chef, is going away from here before the week is out. Labeye came highly recommended as an expert steak carver and soup-maker. Now it develops that he is nothing but a pastry specialist. A woman cook from Albany probably will supplant him.

California Entries Lead in College Title Play

Texans Also Forge Ahead in Eastern Tournament

Holman, Gorchakoff Show Exceptional Form

HAVERFORD (Pa.) June 28. (AP)—With Cranston Holman of Stanford University, seeded No. 1 and runner-up for the title last year, leading the field by gaining his fifth-round bracket, the entries from California and Texas moved ahead of the East in the intercollegiate tennis championships at the Merion Cricket Club today.

At the end of today's singles matches the field was sifted down to eight westerners, six of whom are Californians, and eight easterners. Holman was the first to reach the quarter-finals when he easily eliminated M. B. Grant of Georgia Tech, 6-1, 6-0.

GORCHAKOFF WINS

Ben Gorchakoff of Occidental College, seeded No. 4, entered the fourth round by sensational defeat of Kenneth Appel, Princeton. Three times Appel reached set point, the first time a net cord ball bouncing outside the sideline, once to serve a double fault and another time to net one of Gorchakoff's drives. The Californian, by dint of great courage, defeated Appel, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5.

Wilmer Allison of Texas, seeded No. 2, moved to the fourth round by a triumph over M. Drangs, University of Washington, 6-4, 6-3, while Ben Estep, Southern Methodist University, Texas, after a strenuous three-set match, vanquished Fred Creamer of Delaware, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3.

Lionel Ogden, Stanford, created a slight surprise when he defeated Charles Watson of Yale in a three-set match, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, and gained his fourth-round bracket.

CALIFORNIAN ON TOP

Another Californian to enter the fourth round was Ralph McElvenny of Stanford. He eliminated Fred Royer of Oklahoma University, 6-1, 6-1.

John Van Ryn of Princeton, who rested all last week with a view of winning back the intercollegiate singles championship from the Pacific Coast, defeated Clifford Marsh of Williams in a third-round match in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

Louis H. Gordon of Harvard was responsible for the brushing aside of one westerner. His opponent was Richard Hoogs, University of California. Gordon won in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4.

Every team entered in the double championship played today, with the favorites surviving.

Lee Barnes on His Way East for Big Meet

Lee Barnes, pole vaulter, and J. Leslie Swope, track commissioner, left last night for Lincoln, Neb., to join the Hollywood Athletic Club athletes who will compete in the senior national A.A.U. meet Saturday.

For a time yesterday it was feared that Barnes would be unable to go, due to the illness of his father. When the main body of athletes got away in the morning, he was left behind with Clarence ("Bud") Houser and Leighton Dye.

ERNIE OWENS STOPS HUFFMAN

FANS LIKED IT

Although the house was only half-full the assembled fans zipped approvingly as Owens systematically cut Huffman to pieces from the second round on. The first round was devoid of excitement, although Owens gave an inkling of what was to come by spinning Huffman halfway around with a stealing right-hand uppercut.

But early in the second round the fireworks started. Huffman dashed in with a left and Owens crossed a smashing right. Huffman went down like an ox, and took the full count of nine. He came up woozy, his nose bleeding, but Owens was unable to find a suitable opening.

Owens continued to pound Huffman with rights for which the latter had no defense in the third, and maintained a steady rap-rap in the fourth. Huffman held on, but Owens forced him to break and run by a series of hard rights to the side of the head.

ON FLOOR AGAIN

A short right below the heart in the fifth, followed soon after by a terrific right to the jaw sent Huffman to the floor glassy-eyed. He got up at nine, but a right to his left ear nearly tore it in half. He was reeling at the bell, and also at the end of the sixth, when he walked to the wrong corner.

The knockdown in the next round brought the finish. Owens went to the post weighing 174 and Huffman, 176.

The semi-wind-up brought an eight-round verdict to Ray Pelkey over John Patrick Dougherty. Pelkey wore down his harder-hitting foe with a barrage of close-quarter wallops to the body. Dougherty was sick in the last three rounds.

Walter Hoffman, who continues to look like a heavyweight of promise, won by a technical knockout over Armand Shoemaker in the fifth round. Shoemaker was unable to answer the bell at the start of the sixth round. His right eye was badly cut and he was weaving at the end of the fifth.

Russell Walters won the curtain-raiser from Ernest Bendy in six rounds.

RABBIT PUNCHES

by Paul Lowry

WHAT a 220 that will be between Roland Locke, the world's champion, and Charley Borah, the intercollegiate champion, at Lincoln, Neb., next Saturday. The odds will be all in favor of Locke because he will be running on his home track—the track where he set his officially accepted world's record of 20.5s., last year. In addition, it is a curved oval. Locke knows how to gauge his speed on it. Borah doesn't. He has been running on straightaways all year.

But the U.S.C. flyer has this advantage over Locke. He has not been beaten all year. Locke has. He was defeated by Phil Barber, the ex-California sprinter, in a special furlong at Berkeley this spring. The time was 21 3-10s.—more than a full second slower than the Nebraska ace has run the race. Locke was not in the best of shape then. He is now, and Borah will have his hands full. "Indian" Schulte, his old college coach, has been working with Locke for the national A.A.U. championships when he will meet Borah, and that means the U.S.C. wonder will have to be at his best.

However, in spite of the fact that Locke has beaten Borah's best time in the 220 by 4-10 of a second—approximately four yards in a race of this distance—I do not believe he can take the measure of curly-headed Charley. Consider Borah's feats at the recent I.C.4-A. games. In two days he ran six races—four on the second day—and he won both the 100 and 220 finals. The second day he ran a 20 9-10s. furlong after running two 100s in 9 8-10s. each and a semifinal 220 in 21 5-10s. On the day Locke set his 220-yard record he did it after running one other race. Quite a difference. Borah seems to be an iron man and always capable of running just fast enough to win. In the past two years he has been beaten only twice—by Paddock in that memorable world's record 100 in 9 5-10s. and by Sharkey in the furlong in the A.A.U. nationals last year.

Ole Jawn McGraw seems to be having his troubles this year—a double load. After dropping what is reputed to be something like a quarter of a million bucks in Florida real estate Jawn's boys have been acting up on him.

Touted to fight out the world series with Philadelphia next fall the Giants are now struggling to keep their heads in the more-games-won-than-lost brigade. Dissension has broken out on the club and Ole Jawn apparently hasn't been able to settle it. The boys aren't fighting for him. They are fighting against him. It's tough—the bad breaks coming all at once.

Between the two of 'em Mushy Callahan and Ace Hudkins should contrive to squelch Sergt. Sammy Baker. Mushy meets the "top serg." who technically stopped Hudkins in seven rounds in Chicago, next month. The date is July 12.

Fifteen days later Baker is rematched with Hudkins in New York. If what they say beat Hudkins is true—a pair of tough fights in a fortnight—the same thing may hold for Baker. Mushy figures to land a few of his pulverizing right-hand smacks and a few of 'em should soften up the sergeant for the "Wildcat."

ELMER SMITH'S HOME RUNS RUIN SENATORS

PORTLAND (Or.) June 28. (AP)—After Jimmy McLaughlin of the Sacramento team had tied the score in the seventh with a home run into the left-field stands with one on, Elmer Smith won today's game for Portland in the eighth with a line smash over the right-field fence. The score was 3 to 2. It was Smith's second homer of the game and his twenty-fourth of the season. McCurdy of the Beavers also homed in the second, every run thus being scored on an over-the-fence swat. Score:

LEAGUE LEADERS ARE SCALPED BY INDIANS

SEATTLE, June 28. (AP)—Seattle continued its heavy hitting streak and walloped the league-leading Oaks 10 to 3 here today. The tribe landed on Delaney in the first frame for six counters before he gave way to Hasty, who was hit for a pair in the second and then tightened up until the seventh, when he let two more slip by. Pete Read bounded one into the bleachers for a homer in the seventh.

EMANUEL SHOWS REAL ABILITY

Husky Heavyweight Displays Class in Workouts

Faces Tony Fuente in Main Go at Hollywood Legion

Cooper Meets Auerbach in Ten-Round Semi-Wind-up

Armand Emanuel, the San Francisco heavyweight, is creating quite a sensation at the Manhattan Gymnasium every afternoon where he is doing his training for his fight with Tony Fuente at the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night.

Those who have been watching Emanuel work out claim he will show the Hollywood fight fans more class than any heavyweight who has performed in this city in years. He has class and lots of it.

Emanuel has been made favorite over Fuente. He is a ten-to-seven shot right now to win the decision. The San Franciscan will not stop the big Mexican because Fuente has heard that the Jewish heavyweight can't hit like George Godfrey or Jack Dempsey and when Fuente knows he isn't going to get hurt he is somewhat of a fighter himself.

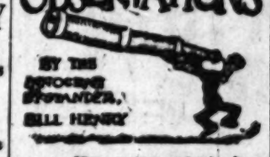
The fight with Fuente will make or break Emanuel as a card in this city. If the San Francisco heavyweight shows lots of class, the kind he is reputed to carry, he will get plenty of offers for fights. If Fuente holds him even then the big boy will have to go back north and build up more of a reputation before he gets a crack at some of the eastern fighters who are ready to come to California for fights.

Lefty Cooper is meeting a very tough and ambitious fighter in Herman Auerbach in the semi-wind-up. Cooper would have been a big favorite over Auerbach two years ago, but right now the Salt Lake City boy is on even terms to take the decision. This fight is for ten rounds. The boys are middleweights.

CALLAHAN AND MYERS BOTH ON CHICAGO BILL

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Two outstanding junior welterweights, Mushy Callahan, the champion, and Spug Myers, whom he defeated last month in a challenge bout, will have places on a card arranged for the Cubs' Park July 12.

OBSERVATIONS



WITH western schools favored to finish high in the annual intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie today, it is only natural that folks in this part of the country should ask why we don't participate in the historic sport of rowing down here. The answer is that we haven't any really good course available. The harbor would be ideal were it not so cluttered up with commercial shipping. Balboa and Newport are too far away for the college boys to get to. Eventually, the city fathers of Santa Monica are going to get together with county, State and government officials and build a real pleasure breakwater to take care of the yachts, motor boats, rowing shells and seaplanes that need attention. U. S. C. will undoubtedly be interested in rowing and so will the Bruins. All we need is somebody to head a constructive move for a breakwater at Santa Monica.

The way the western collegians mow down the boys from the East in other sports, as well as rowing, is getting to be a shame. Not only are Washington and California the most feared crews on the Hudson aside from the Navy, but the California tennis players have been swatting the eastern boys terribly. The University of California, with Ed Chandler missing, has been the one western school to flop and that is only natural. Stanford's four-man team of Holman, Ogden, Herrington and McElvenny, seems to be going strong while Occidental's pair, Gorchakoff and Craig, hold up the southern end of the State in good shape. The toughest competition the western boys may expect will come from Texas.

There will be a lot of excitement at the national A.A.U. meet in a couple of events at least. We are personally more interested in the outcome of the low hurdles and the mile than anything else. Carter and Lunney of the L.A.C. against Cox of Penn State, and Conger of Iowa State, ought to be worth going miles to see, and in our estimation Bob Maxwell pitted against Spence of Detroit, and Steinbrenner of Boston, over the low sticks, ought to be every bit as good. The rest of the meet will be good enough to satisfy anybody, but if we had to take our choice of events, we'd pick those two and read about the rest in the paper.

WILL ASK NET STARS TO TOURNEY

Ambassador Professional After Tilden, Wills to Perform Here

Plans are now in a formative stage to bring Helen Wills, Bill Johnston, Bill Tilden, Griffin and others here to participate in the various events being outlined by the Ambassador indoor tennis courts, according to Harvey Snodgrass. Present plans also include the Pacific Coast indoor net championships.

Tomorrow night at the Ambassador auditorium the new courts of the Ambassador Indoor Tennis Club will be opened with one of the most elaborate indoor net programs yet outlined in Southern California. The feature event of the evening will be a match between the professional doubles champions of the world, Harvey Snodgrass and Walter Westbrook, and challengers.

Included on the program is Harold Godshall, who has just turned professional and is making his first appearance since giving up his amateur standing; Wyn Mace, Carl Sawyer, one of baseball's best-known comedians, and others. According to tennis authorities Snodgrass is playing the finest tennis of his career at present and some great matches are expected.

The show starts at 8:30 o'clock.

CINCINNATI (C.) June 28. (AP)—The Reds presented a new front to the entire today and with success. The Chicago Cubs fell before the onslaught, 8 to 1, giving the Reds two games out of the three played.

Fillingham, an old hand at shortstop in the International League, and in the shortstop position, supplanting Pewee Wanninger, who is now on route back to St. Paul. Allen, recently loaned by a minor horse, was back in the center field.

Henry, Songer, Thomas and Henry Bentley occupied the mound for New York. Bonesy, recruit from the University of Illinois, made his initial start in the field and Rogers Hornsby hit his fourteenth home run with Roush on base in the eighth.

YOURS TRULY

Rogers Hornsby — Ty Cobb

Dear Ty:

Those breaks that come up in games day after day have had the edge on us just as they have on you fellows, but the biggest thing that has happened to our ball club this year is the trade by which we got Larry Benton and Zach Taylor for a new battery.

TY COBB

ROGERS HORNSBY

All over the league the boys are talking about how we could afford to give up a hitting ballplayer like Eddie Farrell. I imagine the big deal started some comment in your league.

I didn't know anything about the deal of course, until it happened but I could see McGraw's idea in a minute. It's tough any time to lose a hitting ballplayer like Farrell but I've found in baseball that if you need anything badly you've got to pay for it, just like you have to do in any other business.

Don't let anybody fool you about this Eddie Farrell hitting ahead of his speed. That boy is a really great hitter. Make no mistakfe about that. He is never a sucker at the bat no matter who is pitching, and he'll be a big help to the Braves.

The point is, though, that the Giants needed a great pitcher and a steady, reliable catcher more than they did Farrell. You see, he was on the bench about half the time when Jackson got back in the game. So, McGraw saw a chance to get Benton and Taylor and he paid the price. He gave up a $100,000 ballplayer in Farrell and two pitchers, but he got his money's worth. To get what you want and need in baseball is more important than the price. I don't believe that the fans realize what it means to a ball club to get the cog that completes the machine whatever it costs. There are some years when a certain ballplayer wouldn't be worth $10,000 to a team. At another time he would be everything.

Getting two such men as Benton and Taylor has balanced off the Giants in fine shape. I expect to see the club step right along now. The whole gang has got confidence again.

I was mighty sorry to hear about Tommy Thevenow getting hurt. Weren't you? Toporcer can fill in for him awhile but if Tommy is out all season as some have predicted it will have a serious effect on the National League race. It would weaken the Cardinals and would also effect their showing against other contenders like Pittsburgh and the Cubs.

I suppose you've noticed how Eddie Roush has started to hit. The luck was bound to swing around sooner or later. A hitter like Roush always finishes about the same in the long run. His socking is a big help to us now.

Yours truly,

Rogers Hornsby

BEARS MAY WIN TODAY

the Hudson for six years, dividing honors evenly between them.

The regatta was put under way this evening in a drizzle of rain when the substitute eight of Cornell took the combination race from the substitute of Syracuse and Columbia. The race was held over a course of a mile and a half, and Cornell jumped out soon after the start to stand off several bids of Syracuse and led them to the finish by about two lengths. Columbia was not a factor after the first quarter-mile. The winning time was 7m. 5 4-5s.

The crews which will row tomorrow spent the day at their last bit of work, mainly limbering up paddles and a few racing starts. The day was sultry and cloudy with a rain for the evening workout, but all of the crews were out and all, with the exception of California, were out both morning and afternoon.

As Poughkeepsie began to fill up with the first comers of tomorrow's crowd, mostly rowing officials, committee members and old oarsmen, the consensus of opinion seemed to be that though the eastern crews were sending at least four strong eights into action, the West still stood a tremendous threat with California and Washington.

BEARS BIGGEST

California, the biggest crew on the river, and conqueror by four lengths of Washington in their annual race, is a fast, well-trained and properly well-prepared crew. It may be that the race tomorrow night will lie again between the Navy and the West, with the West sending a new standard bearer into the long fight against the midshipmen.

Washington has not impressed observers here as being up to the par set by great crews which have featured these regattas since 1920. But it is a difficult thing to count the Huskies out of the proceedings. They have the habit of victory, and a morale and fight which makes it a dangerous thing to dismiss them until the race has been rowed. Up here they have been working in an in-and-out fashion, and it is just possible their shell will be riding right tomorrow, and riding right, it may well carry them once more over the road to victory.

Navy has been weakened a bit by the insertion of Lincoln in place of the injured Anderson at No. 7. They have been weakened at least theoretically, for it would seem that Anderson must have been the better oarsman, for he was in the first boat. But Navy has given the impression here of having more power and strength than any one of the others.

These three crews stand out by reason of their record, and their possibilities, but Cornell and Columbia are considered as possibilities.

BUNNY RYAN STARS

than her opponent, and Mrs. Godfree captured the set, 6-3.

The American player came back strong in the second set, and in the third had things almost entirely her own way, the match ending 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

JUST DAY'S WORK

The victory of Helen Wills was just a day's work for the business-like Berkeley girl. She disposed of Mrs. Peacock of South Africa in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1.

Perhaps Henri Cochet has never shown better tennis than he displayed against Francis T. Hunter today. Hunter won the first two sets by brilliant play. Then Cochet came into action, and in the last three sets and was almost superhuman.

Tilden's cheerful smile, as he watched his colleague Hunter leading, two sets love, faded into a shock of surprise, then a gasp of astonishment, as he saw Cochet reeling off game after game in the last three sets.

"Precious few in the tennis world could have beaten Cochet today," said Tilden after the match. "It was a glorious defeat for Frank."

PULLED TILDEN'S STUNT

The match ended in favor of the Frenchman, 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3. Cochet pulled off a stunt heretofore popular with Tilden, losing the first two, and then snatching victory out of defeat. Such is the faith in the reputation of Cochet as the greatest five-set player in the world that many bets at even money were made in the stands when the former little Lyons ball boy was behind, two sets to none.

The day was devastating for British hopes in the women's singles. Betty Nuthall was defeated by Joan Fry. The schoolgirl protege had been regarded as more likely to give Helen Wills trouble in the semifinals than Miss Fry.

Rene La Coste, France, had an easy passage into the semifinals, defeating Karl Koseluh, Czecho-Slovakia, without the loss of a set, while Jean Borotra lost his usual set to Hans Timmer of Holland before gaining the right to meet La Coste.

THREE FRENCHMEN IN FINALS

Thus three Frenchmen and one American, Tilden, remain qualified for the semifinals, and in the women's singles, two American women, Miss Wills and Miss Ryan in addition to Senorita De Alvarez and Miss Fry.

Senorita De Alvarez had the hardest time of any semifinalist in reaching that honor position. Mrs. P. Holcroft Watson of England had the Spanish girl twice within a point of defeat in the last set. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-5.

The defeat of Betty Nuthall by Joan Fry was something of a surprise. Miss Nuthall's reputation had gone way up by her victory over Mrs. Molla Mallory, the American woman champion, a few days ago. The score was 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The British found much cheer, however, in the men's doubles. Thousands remained until dark and were rewarded by the overthrow of Borotra and La Coste in the doubles by G. R. Crole-Rees and C. J. Eames. Both Frenchmen had appeared in the singles matches during the day, and played listlessly in the doubles.

As the shades of night were falling, the American-Japanese pair, Washburn and Harada, were having a spirited battle against E. D. Higgs and H. K. Lester of England for the privilege of reaching the quarter-finals. Washburn and Harada won the first two sets, but the Englishmen retaliated and the day closed with another British victory.

Five pairs have now reached the quarter-finals in the men's doubles, four British and one American, Tilden and Hunter.

WHITE SOX WIN

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Lena Blackburne, who twelve years ago starred as a White Sox infielder, played the hero role today in defeating Cleveland, 8 to 7, by a thrilling ninth-inning finish. With the tieing run on second base and one out Blackburne inserted himself as a pinch-hiter for Cole, in the absence of Manager Schalk who had been put off the field by Umpire Owens for protesting a decision. Lena cracked a single which sent Peck home from second, tying the score. Hudlin replaced Shaute and Sheely greeted him with a single which sent Blackburne to third.

Kamm followed with a long fly to Jacobson which scored Blackburne with the winning run. The score:

St. Louis Loses Both Ends of Double-Header

Senators Take Fourth Tilt from Red Sox

White Sox Defeat Cleveland in Thriller

DETROIT, June 28. (AP)—Detroit captured both ends of a double-header from the St. Louis Browns here today, taking the first game, 9 to 3, and the second, 6 to 3. The Tigers won the opening contest by hitting two left-handers, Zachary and Falk, freely, and they annexed the second with a three-run rally in the eighth at the expense of another left-hander, Wingard. This attack on Wingard settled a pitchers' battle between him and Rip Collins.

An outstanding feature of the two games was the batting of Harry Heilmann. He made three triples, a double and a single in eight times at bat. The score:

Clyde Barfoot Hurls and Hits Bells to Win

tired to open the Mission sixth when Mulcahy brought grief on hi sown brow by passing Rod Whitney, who had singled and doubled in his two previous trips to the plate. Barfoot followed with a towering drive over the left-field bricks and the Bells were leading, 5 to 0.

MULCAHY LOSES AIM

Mulcahy brought grief on his own scores to the Bells in the eighth. Rodda singled for a starter. Whitney bunted and all hands were safe when Mulcahy picked up the ball and made the first of his two poor throws to first of the inning. The runners advanced on Barfoot's roller to Heath. Swanson also hit to Heath who threw home too late to get Rodda at the plate. Mulcahy tried to pick Swanson off first and uncorked another wild heave, Whitney tallying with the Bell's final run.

Lee's single, Kerr's triple against the centerfield wall and Twombly's infield hit gave the Stars two runs in their half of the eighth. With one away in the ninth Tom Holley started the Stars' closing rally when he punched one of Barfoot's slow ones over short. Agnew also singled, but Denny Murphy, batting for Praul, rolled to McDaniel. Then came Lee with his home run swat into the bleachers. It was the first circuit clout Dud has ever made at Wrigley Field and it's a fair bet that it will be his last in the local enclosure. Christian then took charge and Kerr popped to Parker for the third out.

Phil Weinert and Hank Hulvey are scheduled to hook up today in what should result in a pretty fair hurling duel. Score:

Guest Meets Sampson for West Coast Title

PRO CHAMPS IN 72-HOLE PLAY

Stage First Half in North Next Month

Guest's Manager Considers Cooper's Challenge

Arrowhead Tourney to Draw Local Golfers

BY BILL WISE

Charles Guest, Southern California Professional Golf Association champion, and Harold Samson, northern State paid-to-play titlist, will again stage a seventy - two - hole challenge match for the west coast big gun crown.

The divisional pro chiefs will stage the first thirty - six holes of their match as the main event at the official opening of the new Fleetwood golf course, near San Francisco, Sunday, July 17, it was announced yesterday.

The final thirty-six holes will be played over a local course to be selected, Sunday, July 24. Guest and Samson successfully defended their association golf championships a few months ago and Guest was victorious in the first west coast pro golf affair, staged last year. Samson enjoyed a commanding lead through to the last few holes of the seventy-two-hole affair, but after squaring the match on the last green, Guest managed to win the title on the fourth extra hole of the play.

Harry Cooper, flashy El Sereno professional, who tied with Tommy Armour for the national open championship, arrives home this morning. Through his manager, Cooper has challenged Guest to a thirty-six-hole match and Guest has taken the matter under advisement. Guest has likewise acquired a manager and the latter is busy figuring just what Guest will gain through an exhibition match with Cooper. Cooper's manager is probably figuring the same way.

Harry has demonstrated his worth as a golfer by scoring under the greatest field ever assembled for the National open at Pittsburgh last week. This challenge business is rapidly becoming the "bunk" but if Cooper is sincere in wanting a match with Guest, a phone call could probably arrange the matter and if further competition is desired, Willie Hunter, Ed Dudley, Larry Kelly, Grant Halstead, Maj. Covell—in fact, any member of the local pro fraternity might be induced to match shots with Hurricane Harry, or anyone else.

JUNIOR TITLE PLAY AT BRENTWOOD

The annual Southern California Golf Association junior championship will be staged at Brentwood, starting with an eighteen-hole qualifying round, one week from tomorrow. First and second-round matches will be played Friday, the day following, with semifinals and finals one week from next Saturday. The event is open to all golfers, members of clubs affiliated with the S.C.G.A. who have not reached their eighteenth birthday prior to next Friday. Officials in charge are planning for the championship, at scratch, and three lower flights, to be played with handicap. Entries must be accompanied with letter from member's home club stating age and handicap and will be accepted by Chet Lyday, phone MUtual 8119, the Brentwood Club, phone Santa Monica 21338 or at the first tee, when play starts.

GOLFERS GOING TO ARROWHEAD

More than three-score local golfers have already signed to play in the second annual Lake Arrowhead golf tournament, scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday of next week. The mile-high course has been carefully groomed for the affair, which will be eighteen and thirty-six holes medal—all or part of which may be played any one day.

LAKESIDE WINS TEAM TROPHY

George Cornes and his Lakeside team-mates, runners-up to Rancho in the last S.C.G.A. team league championship, were presented with a beautiful silver cup by the association yesterday. The trophy—the first real one to adorn the Lakeside clubhouse, remains the property of the club, while the team's shield, emblematical of the championship, must be returned by Rancho, next year.

LA CUMBRE DEFEATS MONTECITO, 29-4

The interclub team match between La Cumbre and Montecito Country Club staged over the two courses Saturday and Sunday, resulted as follows: LaCumbre, 29; Montecito, 4.

BIG PRIZE FOR BEST MUTT

Cash Award of $500 Put Up by Officials Backing First Annual Show at Ascot

A chance to win big cash prizes and an afternoon of unusual entertainment features are promised by officials of the first annual mutt dog show at Ascot Speedway Saturday, July 9, for the youngsters and adult lovers of the canine world.

A capital prize of $500 has been established for the best mutt in the show, but this award will not be based on tricks or speed, but for the most typical mutt. It is the idea of the backers of the show to glorify the dog owned by the average American boy or girl and to create an interest in dumb animals among the youngsters. While the show is being held for the primary purpose of entertainment and profit to the kids, there are no conditions that prevent adults from entering the competition and scores of women and men have entered their pets.

Among the entertainment features will be the Colonel, a dog who does a leap from an airplane and "Pal," canine movie star, will be on hand to greet his thousands of youthful fans and display his remarkable intelligence. Various other amusement features will be on tap to entertain the big crowd while the judging of the dogs is in progress.

Entries are coming in rapidly but the next ten days is expected to bring hundreds more to headquarters at Ascot. Because of the wide interest in the event arrangements have been made to mail entry blanks to everyone who so desires and they may be obtained by writing directly to the show headquarters at Ascot Speedway or by telephoning ANgelus 8753.

Parents are urged to accompany their children to the speedway when entering dogs in order that all the details of the show may be fully explained. The event has the indorsement of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Humane Animal Commission as well as numerous other civic organizations and prominent business and professional men and women.

ponent in distress, he stood second to none.

Cornell's red-tipped blades have crossed the finish line first in eleven varsity four-mile races at Poughkeepsie since the first eight-oared crews rowed back in 1900. The Ithacans won in 1901, '02, '03, '05, '08, '07, '09, '10, '11, '12 and '15. Then the Mighty began to fall and Cornell, after finishing second in 1916 and 1920, finished third in 1921, fourth the next two years, third again in 1924, fifth in 1925, and eighth and last in 1926!

Pennsylvania has won only once. The Red and Blue's lone victory occurred in the first regatta, held in 1900. Syracuse, not given a chance in today's race, has won five times, in 1904, 1908, 1913, 1916 and 1920. Columbia was the gem of the Poughkeepsie in 1914. The last six races have been divided equally between the Navy and Washington, both invited participants. The Middies were second to the Huskies last year and in 1923, and just the opposite was the case in 1922 and 1925.

BANKER SESSION STIRS INTEREST

American, German, Briton, Frenchman to Meet

Franc Stabilization May Be Among Topics

Gold Standard Issues Likely to Come Up Also

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, June 28. (Exclusive)—Much speculation is rife in London financial circles concerning what is behind the forthcoming important meeting in New York of the four great banking chiefs of the four greatest nations—the United States, England, France and Germany.

At the present moment the governor of the Bank of England and deputy governor of the Bank of France are en route on the same liner to meet Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, and on the same boat is Herr Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank. This interesting revelation was made in the House of Commons tonight by British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill.

FIRST CONFERENCE

"We shall thus have, for the first time in this intimate manner," commented Mr. Churchill, "the biggest financial authorities of Germany, France, Great Britain and the United States in amicable consultation and co-operation. I do not doubt that problems of currency, gold standards and gold reserves will be illuminated by the discussions."

Chancellor Churchill's disclosure followed a demand by labor and conservation financial experts for the appointment of a currency inquiry committee on the lines recently suggested by the British banker, Reginald McKenna. The latter and his supporters were impressed by the American system of a minimum of 40 per cent gold backing for notes operated through the Federal Reserve Bank. Mr. Churchill declared, however, that the British system of a gold standard has been successful enough to warrant a prolonged trial, asserting that the British system is one of stability and flexibility.

FRANC MAY BE TOPIC

He then added later that he has no warrant to say what result may be expected from the New York conference of banking chiefs.

London financial experts connect the meeting in New York with the fact that the Bank of France recently operated largely in gold in London, sometimes to the discomfort of the money market, and are curious as to the use the Bank of France intends to make of the heavy balances it now is holding in London and New York.

It is believed generally also that the stabilization of the franc and measures necessary to maintain it will be a subject of the New York consultation. It is recalled that a year ago there was a meeting in the south of France between the same bankers and nothing ever leaked out as to its purpose.

OREGON RAIL AGREEMENT PLANS FILED

Commission Gets Data on Settlement Reached in Construction Fight

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Full plans for settlement of the long-standing railroad controversy over new construction in Central Oregon were filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Great Northern Railroad asked the commission to be allowed to take over all the construction projects undertaken originally in the territory by the Oregon Trunk Railroad and declared that agreement had been reached with the Southern Pacific over all the disputed points in the program.

The Great Northern will undertake to operate from Spokane, Wash., southward into Oregon over the rails of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle and into Bend, Or., over rails of the Oregon Trunk Line, the application said.

From Bend southward the Great Northern intends to extend into Klamath Falls. It will purchase the logging railroad of the Shevlin-Hixon Company for $375,000 and will extend this road to Paunina. At Paunina it will acquire rights to operate over the Southern Pacific's Natron cut-off directly into Klamath Falls.

At that city the Great Northern will leave the Natron cut-off at its north switch and build south through the town along the west side of Link River to the terminal property in the south side of the city now owned by the Oregon Trunk.

In return the Great Northern will pay one-half the operating cost of the part of the line used and one-half of the investment charge on the cost of the property. In addition the Great Northern will purchase from Southern Pacific one-half the capital of Oregon, California and Eastern Company, which operates fifty miles of line in the territory, for approximately $900,000. The applications represented that the Southern Pacific has agreed to the entire program and that contracts involved have been accepted by various railroads subject to the commission's approval.

Test Action on Sunland Merger Issue Approved

SACRAMENTO, June 28. (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Webb today granted permission to Deane F. Swindell and Lois A. Swindell, Los Angeles, to bring suit against Los Angeles authorities to test the legality of the annexation proceedings and election by which the 3848-acre Sunland addition was joined to the city last year. Of the new acreage annexed under the proceedings 1181 acres lie within the exterior borders of the Angeles National Forest.

The city administration objected to the proposed suit on the contention that the three months' period in which such actions should be filed had elapsed prior to the time of the Swindell request. This was admitted by Webb in granting authority for the suit, but he held to deny the request would preclude forever a test of the legality of the proceedings which, he said, he believes from assertions made in the proposed complaint calls for an "authoritative judicial interpretation."

CHERRY TARIFF HEARING OPENS

Western Growers Ask for Increased Duty

Say Italian Fruit Offers Severe Competition

Cheap Labor and Transport Impose Handicap

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Italian competition was pictured as making serious inroads into the cherry-growing industry of the Pacific Coast at a hearing today before the Tariff Commission on the application of growers in four Western States for a 50 per cent increase in the duty on pitted cherries. Representatives of importers and Signor Romolo Angelone, commercial attache of the Italian Embassy, were on hand to oppose the proposed increase.

Arguments in support of the application, filed in behalf of California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho cherry growers, were presented by E. A. Smith of Napa and Merrill Sickles, representing the California Cherry Growers' Association; Max Gehlar, representing the Salem (Or.) Cherry Growers' Association and the Dalles and Eugene Fruit Growers' Association; W. D. Bennett of the California Fruit Exchange; W. R. Ogg, a representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Representative Free of California.

Lined up in opposition to the application, in addition to the Italian commercial attache, were Daniel R. Forbes and Ralph Annis, representing the National Preserving Association; J. E. McGowan, Peoria, Ill.; James M. Rhinestrom, Cincinnati, and C. M. Pitts, Baltimore.

While the spokesmen for the American cherry growers complained of increasing competition from Italy, which they said was shutting the western product out of the Eastern American maraschino market, those opposed to the tariff increase told the commission that western cherries were too large and too juicy for maraschino use, and that a small, firm cherry, such as grown in Italy, was preferred.

The Pacific Coast representatives argued that Italy had the advantage of cheaper labor and transportation to New York, and estimated that maraschino cherry imports from Italy were approximately 15,000,000 pounds annually. They want the 2-cents-a-pound duty increased to 3 cents—the maximum permitted under the flexible provisions of the tariff law.

OPPONENTS TAKE FLING AT OBREGON

Gomez, Serrano Reply to Candidacy Announcement; Withdrawal Demanded

MEXICO CITY, June 28. (Exclusive)—Former President Obregon's formal announcement that he would again be a candidate for the presidency drew fire from two opposing candidates today and Mexico found herself in the full throes of a Political campaign a year before election.

The answers to Gen. Obregon's campaign manifesto were forthcoming from Gen. Francisco R. Serrano and Gen. Arnulfo Gomez, both former officers in the Mexican army and now avowed candidates to succeed President Calles.

Both the opposing candidates took vigorous exception to Gen. Obregon's declaration that he had been forced into the race because he felt that none of the crop of candidates for the Presidency measured up to the needs of such a post.

Gen. Gomez, in his statement today, startled observers by challenging Obregon, whom he accused of violating the "most sacred principles of the revolution" to withdraw his candidacy. He added that he felt certain that Gen. Serrano would do likewise so that they could all unite behind "any civil or military candidate worthy to sustain the national interests."

Neither Gomez nor Serrano minced words in their reply to Gen. Obregon. Gen. Gomez, particularly, was fiery in his statement. He as well as Serrano, he declared, resent Obregon's implication of irregularities on the part of the army officers, who served with them. Such statements, he declared, are not worthy of a sane man and he reminds Obregon that in his campaign manifesto he is attacking the very men who fought with him to "lift Mexico from the tyranny of foreign dictatorship."

DIVORCES DECREASE IN NEVADA

Only 1021 Ties Severed in 1926 in Comparison With 1228 Marriages

WASHINGTON, June 28. (Exclusive)—The Department of Commerce announces that there were 1228 marriages performed in Nevada during 1926 as compared with 1122 in 1925, representing an increase of 106, or 9.4 per cent.

During 1926 there were 1021 divorces granted in the State as compared with 1082 in 1925, representing a decrease of 61, or 5.6 per cent. There were twenty marriages annulled in 1926.

The population of Nevada at the time of the census in 1920 was 77,407, and since this figure represented a decrease, as compared with 1910, no estimates have been made for subsequent years. On the basis of the 1920 census figure for population, the number of marriages in Nevada per 1000 of the population was 15.9 in 1926 as against 14.5 in 1925; and the number of divorces per 1000 of the population was 13.19 in 1926 as against 13.96 in 1925.

The number of marriages performed and the number of divorces granted were reported by the County Clerk of each county. The figures for 1926 are preliminary and subject to correction.

Girl Rider in Rodeo Suffers Severe Injury

LIVERMORE, June 28. (AP)—Grace Brown, 23-year-old professional rodeo rider from Hollywood, is in a hospital here with a fractured skull and three broken ribs suffered while practicing riding a steer for the Livermore rodeo.

Dr. W. E. Judson said she has a fighting chance for her life.

ORDER ELECTS KAISER'S SON

BERLIN, June 28.—Prince Oscar Hohenzollern, fifth son of the former Kaiser, was initiated as Grand Master of the Order of St. John in a large midsummer night celebration at the Castle Sonnenberg.

He is taking the place of his elder brother, Prince Eitel Friedrich, who is entitled to the post but who was dethroned because the Knight's vow to "protect women, the orphans and the weak," was not lived up to by Prince Eitel, it was said. The action was taken after the details of his divorce was published.

Prince Oscar was chosen because he was the most moral of the princes and unscathed by gossip. Only once did he terrify the bluebooks, and that was when he married a mere countess instead of a princess of a royal house.

But he and the Countess are living happily together with their four children and the aristocrats elected him grand master of the order as a reward for his moral example.

"Times" Daily Short Story

RELATIVES - - - By Fannie Hurst

We say "From our relatives deliver us." Why? What is there wrong about the blood tie that seems to warrant meddlesome familarity, prying rudeness?

DOES the statement, "I haven't a relative in the world" move you to pity or to envy?

Probably the latter.

Every one of us has at some time or another been a relative.

Almost every one of us is a relative.

And yet we say "from our relatives deliver us." Deliver us from us. It is surprising how few of us, when we let that word "relative" smoke contemptuously off our lips, stop to remember that we, too, are relatives.

What is there that builds up inhibitions between members of the same family? How difficult sometimes it is to realize that the Tom and Mary—brother and sister—whom you see in the fastness of the home wrangling and snarling at each other, are the identical Tom and Mary you behold outside the home, courteous and fastidious in the company of strangers.

What is there about the mere family tie that seems to imbue an individual with a sense of his right to be rude? To be inconsiderate? To pry?

A man who can respect the reticences of a friend, will ruthlessly meddle into the most sensitive recesses of his brother's silence. Why are relatives not observers of the little niceties that go such a long way toward keeping human relationships ever, ever green?

Who of you has not experienced that irritated feeling when a cou'd, rude with his sense of relationship, bursts into a group of friends with whom you are on a basis of pleasant regard and reserve?

The intimate prying attitude that relationship seems to warrant!

It can make a family dinner-party an ordeal. The what Shaw calls "the low family jokes!" The unreserve of familiarity which is not unmindful with contempt. The mental shirt sleeves. The women in their spiritual kimonos, their entire demeanor, the undress one of curl-papers and slippity-slop slippers.

If everybody in the world who is a relative could realize the ugly, mental unprivacy between members of the same family, it might help to elevate this business of being a relation to a more endurable plane.

Why should not people who are bound by blood or social ties be the most interesting and the most exciting people in the world to each other? Many of their interests are in common. Often their traits of character are similar and their general tastes and preferences not unlike.

There have been, and are, of course, rare lasting and beautiful relationships between members of the same family, but in general family ties seem to presuppose a certain namount of antagonism.

There is the mother-in-law joke

And how usual it is for brothers and sisters living in the same town to pay one another only the duty calls of Christmas and Thanksgiving.

Cousins usually take pride in quoting how seldom they see one another.

The individual who confesses to a large number of relatives becomes an object of pity, of ridicule, of the facetious jibes of his friends.

Grouchy old uncles have done their share to make the avuncular ti; the subject of many, many a farce—and tragedy.

Maiden aunts have succeeded in making the business of being a niece or nephew not always the beautiful and tender affair it might so easily be.

Why is it that if Aunt Tabby asks you where you are going, a fierce resentment wells within you at the question, while if Miss Wells, the house-guest from Syracus, asks you the identical question, you are pleased at her interest in your destination? Obviously, it is not against the question itself you rebel or because Tabby, who asks it, is an aunt. But because she is your aunt!

There are people who outside the family group are social favorites. Gay. Generous. Interesting. But who, when they enter the home, become glum, reticent and antagonistic to the slightest approach from any member of the family.

Laura Blank is the life of every party she attends, but at the family dinner table insults her brother, is rude to her father and gulps down her soup with her eyes on the table cloth and a chronic look of headache which she wears as a sort of defence against family conversation.

Animated, agreeable family meals where the relatives discuss their doings, current affairs, each other, occur mostly in fiction and in those rare homes where relatives regard each other as friends and not as cousins, aunts and brothers.

How frequently the precious restraints of good manners that exist between friends and sweethearts crash down under the family relationship of husband and wife.

The evil lies with the relatives You. Me.

Social amenities between relatives are almost paradoxical.

Familiarity not only seems to breed contempt, but it breeds the mother-in-law joke, and the maiden aunt farce.

Out of this same kind of whole cloth has come the proverb, "No man is a hero to his valet."

There are men who have been Great men. Napoleon was a hero to his valet. The proverb might apply more generally. Few men are heroes to their mothers-in-law. To their cousins. To their brothers.

If all the relatives in the world would only realize that family ties are not the slovenly, down-at-the-heel unexciting ones that you and I and cousins, and aunts, and brothers have made them.

Blood runs in mysterious rivers through us.

Blood ties, disaparage them as we will, bind us, and make us in times of trouble turn to our own.

The mystery of the little red and white corpuscles. The mystery of blood. Relatives. On the battlefield, men in the delirium of pain call not for friends. Not even for sweethearts. But for mother. Father. Sister.

It is a well-known clinical fact that nine people out of ten emerge from the ether of a surgical operation with the word "mother" on their lips.

Convicts who have not seen blood relatives for years and who have even been guilty of heinous crimes against their own, want not their boon companions about them when the shadow of the electric chair looms, but relatives. The hand of a sister whom they had neglected. The touch of a mother whose heart they have broken. Men on the Bowery, pieces of driftwood, mumble family names when they sleep huddled in doorways.

One member of a family speaks upbraidingly of another, but let an outsider as much as agree, and how blazingly the fault-finder will rise to the defense of the relative he has just been maligning!

Blood ties. Relatives.

They call out certain of our better aspects. But to the fact that all of us are relatives, we owe great cardinal virtues. Sacrifice. Loyalty. Courage.

Men have fought and died to defend their flesh and blood.

Women have sacrificed, forgiven, endured.

We may be our pettiest at this business of being relatives.

But again we can be touched with the sublime.

Considera el señor Davison el aeropuerto como uno de los tres más grandes factores para el progreso de la aviación; los otros dos son la producción de aeroplanos y la instrucción de pilotos. Dijo que el aeropuerto no sólo ha de ser estación terminal del tráfico aéreo de una región, sino puerto de escala para los aviones que se vean obligados a hacer paradas no comprendidas en su itinerario. Elogió el empeño de la Legión por promover la creación de aeropuertos.

Ha Sido Sacado a Plaza el Rescatador de Blanche Sweet

Protestando que no deseaba notoriedad de ninguna especie, Carl F. Smith, ingeniero de la Compañía de Gas de Sudcalifornia, fue sacado ayer, casi a tirones, de su oficina, identificado y fotografiado como la persona que rescató el domingo en Santa Mónica a Blanche Sweet, actriz de cine, salvándola de que se ahogara.

"Hagan favor de no darme publicidad de gente de cine," exclamó Smith. "Protesto enérgicamente contra ella. Para evitarla, no me paré en casa en toda la noche de ayer."

Pero Smith se dejó al fin convencer, y se logró sacarle el relato de lo ocurrido. Dice que vio, primero a un hombre, y luego a una mujer, a bastante distancia de la orilla del mar, en Santa Mónica, levantar las manos pidiendo auxilio, y hundirse luego. Se echó al agua, nadó hasta donde se hallaban, auxilió a la mujer y la llevó hasta la orilla. Se dirigió luego a casa de un amigo suyo, donde se restableció de un desmayo que le vino, y hasta hoy no llegó a saber que había salvado a una actriz de cine.

Naturalization Denied Woman of Peace Ship

CHICAGO, June 28. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Rosika Schwimmer, who gained widespread notoriety by her actions on the Ford "Peace Ship," tentatively has been denied American citizenship after a two-year struggle. Fred J. Schlotfeldt, naturalization director for this area, is said to have turned down her application for three reasons:

Because she answered the question as to whether she would bear arms for the United States with "not personally."

Because in a radio lecture in New York Mme. Schwimmer described herself as an atheist.

Because Mme. Schwimmer has no "nationalistic feeling."

Mme. Schwimmer is a Hungarian and a pacifist internationally known. She was the chief organizer of the Ford "Peace Ship," which was to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." The expedition attracted world-wide attention.

A SECURITY IS JUDGED BY THE "COMPANY" IT KEEPS

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Showing Who Buys Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates of the Mortgage Guarantee Company, and Why

ANALYZE the list of holders of any thoroughly high-grade investment issue. You will find principally the very best class of investors—the most intelligent, the most experienced, and the most successful.

On the other hand, analyze the list of holders of any questionable issue. You will find principally the types of buyers whose annual losses throughout the country aggregate hundreds of millions of dollars—inexperienced investors, deliberate speculators, and those whose craving for quick profits nullifies their better judgment.

There is only one safe course to pursue, namely, that which is consistently followed by the leading banks, insurance companies and other State-supervised institutions, trustees, guardians, etc., and private investors whose purchases are restricted to securities of the very highest type. These are the buyers of Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates of the Mortgage Guarantee Company.

An analysis of the outstanding guaranties of the Mortgage Guarantee Company shows that these are apportioned among the following classes of investors in the amounts indicated:

	Number	Amount
Individual Holders	3028	$17,759,899.00
Insurance Companies	16	16,622,287.00
National and State Banks, Trust Companies and Title Companies	78	7,842,835.00
Guardians, Trustees, etc.	126	2,046,489.00
Corporations	34	1,535,800.00
Institutions (Hospitals, Churches, Lodges, Charities, etc.)	38	603,150.00
TOTAL		$46,210,460.00

These investors are located as follows:

England, France, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Mexico, Czecho-Slovakia

and the following States of the United States:

Arizona	Minnesota	New Jersey
California	Montana	Oklahoma
Colorado	Missouri	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Michigan	Tennessee
Dakota S.	Nevada	Texas
Dakota N.	New Mexico	Vermont
Illinois	New Hampshire	Virginia
Indiana	Nebraska	Washington
Florida	New York	Washington, D.C.
Kentucky	Iowa	Wisconsin
Maryland	Ohio	Wyoming
Massachusetts	Oregon

WHY?

Why are the investments issued by this Company purchased by such a select class of investors—for example by banks in amounts averaging over $100,000, and by insurance companies in amounts averaging over $1,000,000.00?

The answer is that these investors find in the offerings of this Company the three factors which they consider essential to completely satisfactory investment, namely, (a) the soundest form of underlying security, (b) a guarantee of unquestionable dependability, and, (c) the highest moral responsibility.

Note carefully, then, the following facts:

UNDERLYING SECURITY

Every loan made by this Company is secured by improved real esate conservatively valued by State-approved appraisers at twice or more than twice the amount of the loan. Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates, however, are never issued against any single piece of property or small group of properties. They are issued only in substantial aggregate against a large number of properties in different localities, thus adding the factor of territorial diversification to the other factors of safety. Hence these Certificates are safeguarded by the soundest form of security in existence.

GUARANTEE

These Certificates are guaranteed by this Company as to both principal and interest under the Mortgage Insurance Act of California.

Back of the guarantee is the entire strength of the Company as indicated by capital, surplus and undivided profits of $6,500,000, and resources of more than $50,000,000, making it one of the strongest guarantees in the United States; a guarantee that is acceptable to the foremost institutional investors of the country.

Nor is this guarantee a matter of resources alone. Back of it are the sound, conservative and unvarying policies of operation which have been characteristic of this Company since its inception. These policies stand as a constant safeguard of the investments originated by this institution, and insure their continued pre-eminence in the field of mortgage obligations. Following is a concrete example:

The California Mortgage Insurance Law provides that:

"No Mortgage Insurance Company shall have at any time outstanding policies of mortgage insurance guaranteeing the payment of securities the aggregate amount of the unpaid principal of which exceeds twenty times the amount of its paid up capital."

The outstanding guarantees of the Mortgage Guarantee Company are less than half the amount permitted by law.

MORAL RESPONSIBILITY

For exacting investors, figures alone are not sufficient. The record of the sponsoring Company and the character of men back of it are highly important factors. Size is significant but not conclusive. The standing of the Company, its financial structure, and its personnel are matters worthy of careful consideration.

In this connection the Board of Directors of this Company alone is, perhaps, sufficient evidence of "moral responsibility" in the highest sense of the term. These men are leaders in business as well as in community affairs—and they are all interested in this business in a substantial way. The Company's by-laws provide that no one can qualify as a member of the Board unless owning at least 100 shares of Capital Stock ($10,000 par.)

A large proportion of the Company's entire outstanding stock is owned by members of the Board; and the financial and moral responsibility of each individual member is in keeping with that of the institution as a whole.

OTHER ADVANTAGES

The Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates of this Company are issued in denominations of $100.00 and multiples thereof, to mature in two to five years, and arrangement may be made, if desired, for the immediate re-investment of funds on maturity dates without any loss of interest.

Interest is paid by check on designated dates, thus obviating the necessity for clipping coupons, and avoiding possible interest losses through failure to cash the coupons when due.

Certificates are registered and non-negotiable, and therefore subject to replacement if lost.

Free from all California taxes, these Certificates, on a 6% basis, provide a more liberal return than any other form of investment of comparable safety with which we are familiar.

FOR JULY FUNDS

Because of their convenient denominations and choice of maturities, with re-investment privilege, these certificates are particularly adapted to the needs of the average person who is planning for the investment of July funds.

If you are not already familiar with these Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates, we suggest that you send at once for a copy of the descriptive booklet. This will be promptly mailed without obligation. Simply use the coupon or telephone TRinity 0831.

CHUCKLES from LIFE

"Cook, will he ever get through taking off his shoes?"

My Husband Says

THAT of course he is fond of Tiddledewinks; he admires him profoundly.

He says he doesn't go into ecstasies over the four Californian pea beans and one Lima bean that I found on the bottom of each of his paws after a rain-storm; and he isn't inspired to write such lines as, "Sing a song of sixpence, a pocket full of fleas; four and twenty fiddle strings tied around his knees."

But he says he never winced when I paid fifteen dollars for a basket for him.

He says the basket episode marked a new era in his life; previously he had been thoughtfully economical at times, but he saw the futility of it and has had a much better time ever since.

But he says he hopes I will never again ask him to bring fresh catnip from town.

He objects to being followed home by a procession of anxious-looking cats who seem to look upon him as their own personal bootlegger.

Purchase of ten dining cars, eight club cars and fifteen mail cars was authorized by the directors.

DIVIDENDS DEFERRED BY COLUMBIA STEEL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. (Exclusive)—The Columbia Steel Corporation directors met yesterday and after discussing the preferred stock dividend again voted to defer payment of cash dividends. Heretofore the company has paid dividends in common stock at the rate of one share of common per annum for each share of preferred. This agreement, made several years ago, exists until November 22, next, at which time the option expires and must either be renewed, cash dividends paid or preferred dividends will become cumulative. There had been some expectation that the company would pay half cash and half preferred at this date.

OIL FINANCING ANTICIPATED

Banking Houses Reported in Negotiations With Large Companies; to Refund Bank Loans

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Immediately after July 1, when the estimated $600,000,000 of July dividend and interest payments will be released for reinvestment, the investors in the bond market are likely to have the opportunity of selecting a few new oil bonds for their lists. It is understood that several of the large underwriters are now negotiating with some of the leading oil companies, including some in California, for the underwriting and sale of short-term obligations.

Because of existing conditions in the industry it is evident that most of the oil companies are confronted with the necessity of short-term financing. Profits have been severely affected by the declines in crude-oil and gasoline prices, and the value of inventories also correspondingly reduced. In order to carry on operations the oil companies have had to resort to bank loans, hoping that the trouble in the industry would be short-lived.

CLOUDS NOT LIFTED

Counter to early expectations the slump in oil and gasoline is still very much in effect and nobody is willing to conjecture just when the light of improvement will peer over the horizon. The executives of the oil companies have probably decided now that it is better financing to refund the bank loans with short-time obligations and in addition provide more money for allocation to working capital.

Marland Oil was the first to enter the bond market for these purposes, and the provisions of this financing will probably come close to fitting the other issues that are scheduled to come on the market. The financing was for $30,000,000 in the form of 5 per cent serial gold notes, maturing from 1929 to 1932. The basis ranged from 5.30 to 5.50 per cent.

The investment position of the prospective oil financing can also be estimated approximately by the statements made in connection with the Marland notes. On the basis of the existing prices for crude oil and gasoline the gross earnings of all oil companies will be substantially reduced if the prices continue throughout the year. But on the existing prices the Marland company estimates that gross income available for interest, capital extinguishments and Federal income taxes will exceed $15,000,000 for 1927, or three times the principal amount of the note issue. The estimate of gross, however, does not take into account whatever adjustment of inventory values may be necessary at the end of the year.

CREDIT STANDS HIGH

Possibly the financing scheduled to come will sell on about the same basis as the Marland notes. The credit of the oil companies is high and the investors are always looking for attractive short-term issues. Because an oil company enters the money market at this time is no reflection on its financial condition, but merely, in most instances, is an action dictated by good business judgment.

Which of the California companies will sell short-term issues to the banking houses is a debatable question. The statements of financial condition at the end of 1926 are not the proper index to determine the companies that will finance since the last few months have worked major changes in most income accounts and balance sheets.

UNION ICE PREPARES FINANCING

First Public Offering in Company's History to be Made Shortly

Union Ice Company of California, manufacturing ice in more than sixty factories and occupying a prominent position in the general ice and refrigeration industry in this State, will shortly undertake the first public financing in its history. This financing will consist of an issue of $1,000,000 of the company's five-year 5 1-2 per cent gold bonds, series "A," which will be offered to the public by Blair & Co., Inc., and the American National Company.

Financing scheduled to be offered today includes an issue of $600,000 Sun Realty Company Taft Building first mortgage leasehold 6½ per cent sinking fund bonds, due 1947, and an issue of $650,000 Mid-Continent Telephone Company one-year 5 per cent gold notes.

The proceeds of the Union Ice Company liens will be used for additions and betterments to plants and for general corporate purposes.

The Sun Realty securities, which will be offered by Alvin H. Frank & Co., George H. Burr, Conrad & Broom, Inc., and Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, are priced at 100 and interest to yield 6½ per cent. The bonds are the direct obligation of the Sun Realty Company, net worth of which is in excess of $16,000,000 and are secured by first mortgage on the company's leasehold interest in the southeast corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Vine street.

The Mid-Continent Telephone notes are offered by E. H. Ottman & Co. and Keane, Higbie & Co. at 100 and interest.

The bulk of average Delaine wool has been selling at 44 cents, in the grease. A few offerings are still available at 43 cents, but the quality or the condition is below the usual standard.

The regular monthly dividend of the company amounting to 1 per cent has been declared payable July 1 to stockholders of record the 20th inst. EXCHANGE BANS MINE FROM LIST

Oatman United, Famous in Boom Days, Passes; Lack of Demand Reason

Stock of the Oatman United Gold Mining Company was yesterday stricken from the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, the second of the mining stocks to meet this fate at the hands of the exchange in the last few weeks. The cancellation of the listing was ordered because of the lack of demand for the stock and the lowness of the price. Oatman United was quoted at 1 cent offered and no bid.

The company has levied forty-one assessments, the last of 1 cent a share falling delinquent Thursday. Properties of the company are located in the Oatman district of Arizona, and at one time were the scene of a reported discovery of sensational values, which figured largely in the Oatman boom of 1922. The stock in that year sold at a high of $1.37. Capitalization consists of 1,770,322 shares outstanding.

Lucky Boy Divide was the first of the mining stocks stricken from the list of the exchange for similar reasons.

OIL SHARES NOTICEABLY STRONGER

Los Angeles Gas Sets New Record, Closing at High Point of 101 3-4

Prices on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday failed to show any definite trend, although oil shares were noticeably stronger and public utility issues strengthened somewhat.

Union Oil of California advanced 3-4 of a point to 40 3-4 and closed 5-8 of a point higher at 40 5-8 on a fair volume of trading. Standard Oil of California moved up to 52 1-2 and closed 1-4 point higher at 52. Richfield added a fraction of a point on a large turnover to a high and close at 18 5-8. California Petroleum moved up 1-4 to 22 1-4.

Los Angeles Gas and Electric preferred established a new record high at 101 3-4, where it closed, and Southern California Edison common was a fraction net higher at 34 1-4. Los Angeles Investment added a cent to 2.52.

Bancitaly Corporation, with a large number of shares crossing the board, sold off 3-8 of a point to 122 1-8 with considerable profit-taking in evidence. Bank of Italy added 1-4 to 173 3-4. Merchants National Bank added a point to 399 and Citizens National held at 440. First National sold at 404 1-2, a firm figure.

Virginia Louise continued the heavy trader in the mines and sold off 1 1-2 cents to a low and close at 1 1-2. New Gibraltar Consolidated was up a cent to 2 1-2. Boundary Cone and Idaho Metals held at 1.27.

HAY SUPPLY ADEQUATE

About Same Proportion Available for Market As Last Year

About the same proportion of hay available for market this season had been shipped by the 15th inst., as a year ago, according to reports from a large number of dealers, states the weekly hay market review of the United States Department of Agriculture. Local supplies of hay in consuming areas were of good volume on the whole and with pasturage better than usual dealers expected a quiet demand in the immediate future.

About 85 per cent of the surplus timothy had been shipped in the principal producing States, compared with about the same percentage a year ago and 80 per cent two years back.

Only a little alfalfa was moving into southern consuming territory, but some was arriving in the northeast from New York and Ohio, while a little California and Canadian alfalfa was also reported in the latter section.

The consumption of hay for the 1926-1927 season was the smallest for several years, but supplies seemed generally adequate and the carryover at the end of the season was reduced only slightly below last year's figure. Farm prices of hay averaged only a little higher than for the previous year in spite of the reduction in the amount of hay available, although they advanced sharply in some localities, particularly in the northwest where the crop was very short.

SANTA FE EXPECTS NO CHANGE IN EARNINGS

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Indications point to little change in June earnings of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe from those of a year ago, says W. B. Storey, president. "Our movement of general merchandise traffic is somewhat behind last year, while lumber and coal freight also are off slightly. The Kansas wheat harvest has just about started moving and it is expected it will be about 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 bushels below a year ago. The Texas Panhandle wheat crop also is under last year, especially in the territory where Atchison recently completed new extensions."

ACTIVITY LESSENING IN MACHINE BUSINESS

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Analysis of the industrial reports received from seven important centers reveals nothing in the way of substantial improvement in the trend of machinery and machine-tool business, American Machinist reports. Slight flurries in buying interest occurred in a few localities, but in most cases a lessening of activity has been noted.

COTTON SEAT SOLD

The New York Cotton Exchange membership of Arthur Card has been sold for $28,500 to Somer W. Orvis for another. The previous transaction was at $30,000.

MARKET TENSION RELIEVED

Rise in Brokers' Loans Strikes Fear in Hearts of Speculators; Increase Abnormal

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive)—A $44,006,000 drop in brokers' loans after five successive weekly gains has relieved the tension of the stock market. The recent persistent rise in loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers, by reporting member banks in New York City, had begun to strike fear in the hearts of speculators.

With the $400,000,000 jump in loans during the last four months to the highest peak on record, there was evidence of an expansion too rapid for comfort. The present downturn does not prove conclusively that the trend in loans will be toward lower levels from now on but it does bear out the conclusion that some changes favorable in character are in progress.

The rise to a record high in the figures for June 15 reported a week ago represented an abnormal increase stimulated by mid-June settlements. Two important influences in addition to this have been at work to reduce the volume of loans outstanding on June 22 now reported. A decline in stock prices induced by the fairly heavy liquidation of the period has shrunk the amount of loans outstanding on stocks in the hands of brokers.

Similarly a sharp cut in the volume of new capital issues offered on the market and a better distribution of bonds recently offered have reduced handsomely the volume of loans outstanding in the hands of dealers. Here are two good reasons why the financial district should have expected a cut in loans yesterday although, peculiarly enough, fear of another increase was so general that it weakened the whole market.

The two influences at work for smaller loans have been stronger since last Wednesday than in the week before but many will jump to the conclusion, therefore, that another reduction will be reported next week in the figures for June 29. Certainly the continued heavy liquidation of stocks of late will reduce the loans to brokers and the distribution of bonds in dealers' hands has been extensive since the middle of last week.

By cutting off the supply of new flotations the bond houses have been able to reduce from smart fashion their store of undistributed issues. All of these things would indicate that another drop in loans may be expected next week but it is possible that the transactions incidental to the approach of the 30th inst. may lift the volume of brokers' loans despite other influences at work for a reduction.

When the trend in loans is studied not for what it reveals of speculative movements but for what may be learned about business the new figures reveal little. Most of the shrinkage represents a cut in loans made for the account of out-of-town banks. If this were the middle of July it might be explained by the desire of out-of-town banks to call back funds for use in handling the agricultural crops.

In the circumstances a more likely explanation of the fall lies in the desire of these out-of-town banks to be in as strong a cash position as possible on the approach of the 30th inst. They are dressing their windows, in other words, in anticipation of bank calls.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Dividend declarations received yesterday by the Los Angeles Stock Exchange were as follows:

Buckeye Union preferred, 1 cent a share, payable July 15 to stockholders of record the 30th inst. This is quarterly dividend No. 10.

Buckeye Union common, 4 mills a share, payable July 15 to stockholders of record the 30th inst. This is quarterly dividend No. 10.

CALL MONEY UP TO HIGH FIGURE

Speculative Sentiment Shift Characterizes Stocks

Strong Opening Followed by Sinking Spell

New Sharp Break Occurs in Amusement Shares

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment characterized today's stock market, with final quotations irregularly higher. A strong opening, based on the unexpectedly large decrease in brokers' loans last week, was followed by a sinking spell when the call money rate was marked up to 5 per cent, the highest renewal figure since last January, and another sharp break took place in the amusement shares, but good buying support was provided, and the market worked upward again during the afternoon.

Credit conditions continued to be a source of widespread comment, with a movement under way to induce the Federal Reserve and Stock Exchange authorities to make a distinction between loans on stock collateral and loans on bond collateral, instead of lumping them as at present. While an advance of 1 per cent in the renewal rate on call money was unusual, stock exchange authorities indicated it was due merely to the month-end requirements, together with the customary strengthening of the reserve position in anticipation of the bank call. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

BUSINESS MIXED

The day's business news was mixed in character. Directors of the Atchison declared the usual extra cash dividend of 75 cents in addition to the regular payment of $1.75, and an extra dividend of 37 1-2 cents a share was authorized on Horn & Hardart common. It was announced that the Baldwin Locomotive Works would reduce operations from 20 per

4.80% Today Equals 7% in 1920

The economics of present interest rates

VALUES are only relative. Based upon the wholesale commodity price index, the purchasing power of the dollar in 1913 was 100c compared with 72c at present and 49c in 1920, consequently the investor who bought the best grade highly marketable railroad and public utility bonds in 1920 to yield 7%, needs to obtain only 4.80% today to buy the same amount of necessities of life.

As demonstrated many times in the past, commodity prices and interest rates go up or down together. Commodity prices have been steadily declining since the World War, as they have in the past following other great wars, and when they reach 1913 levels, bonds purchased now to yield 5% will yield 6.98% in purchasing power. It is regrettable that many investors believe they should still obtain a yield of 7% on bonds of the above mentioned class, although they would never have thought of investing their funds at 10.19%, the equivalent yield in purchasing power, in 1920.

Wealth can only be safeguarded by intelligent analysis of changing conditions and proper information. We have prepared a more complete explanation of the economic principles involved which is contained in our July investment letter. We shall be glad to mail a copy upon request. WEEVIL MENACE IN COTTON AREA

Appearance in Central Belt Causing Concern

Crop in Flooded Zone Doing Well But Late

English Company to Abandon 43,000 Acres

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 28. (Exclusive)—Considerable apprehension is being felt over the central cotton belt and in Georgia and Alabama over the presence of considerable numbers of boll weevil at such an early date, and this apprehension extends to parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Fair, hot weather for ten days can largely offset the threat of weevil at the present time, but rains have continued at too frequent intervals all spring. In many sections, weevil are appearing simultaneously with the first squares especially in North Mississippi. In the southeastern part of Arkansas, where the cotton has been planted on recently flooded lands, the crop seems to be doing well with little cultivation necessary as far as grass is concerned. Stalks, however, are generally small and the crop is spotted, being about two weeks late.

In instances of blooms being reported the last ten days, these particular fields, few in number, had a fairly good start and not much later than normal.

PLANTS THRIFTY

In the northern delta of Mississippi State, the cotton seems to be clean and doing well except for its lateness. In the hills of Mississippi the weevil are reported from many places and the creek bottoms are very grassy. Several small streams in North Mississippi have overflowed their bottoms again this week, often to the tops of the cotton stalks, but the water receded quickly and apparently little damage was felt except it will delay chopping still further.

Precipitation at Memphis to date is 40½ inches, an excess of 9.31 inches as compared with a deficiency of 10.77 inches last year, to date.

A large quantity of punctured squares reached Memphis yesterday from Northeast Mississippi and were the subject of wide comment. More than ever the crop this year will be susceptible to insect and weather damage, according to present indications.

TURNING TO COME

In the flood areas of the lower delta, the crest of the June rise has just reached Greenville, Miss., and all cotton lands in the counties of Issaquena, Sharkey, Washington and Humphreys are abandoned this year with efforts being made to plant only corn and soy beans for forage.

An attack is being made by a member of the Mississippi State Legislature on the flood rehabilitation corporation in that State as totally impotent. In refutation, L. O. Crosby, director of flood relief, states that it is the duty of the Red Cross to aid the helpless and that in substance the corporation could aid only those with collateral. Whereupon the answer came that those with collateral could do business with their own banks. The Mississippi corporation apparently has lent little money, while the Arkansas corporation seems to be functioning splendidly.

The economic situation in flooded sections of Mississippi is very serious. The delta and Pine Land Company, operating the 48,000-acre plantation at Scott, Miss., which is the biggest cotton farm in the world, announces its intentions of abandoning cotton planting altogether this year. L. K. Salsbury, president, has resigned. This company, a strong English syndicate, suffered a $1,000,000 loss from flood damage and inability to plant cotton.

MARKET QUIET

The spot market and movement of cotton in this section are dull. Receipts for the week were only 8057 bales, against 17,817 bales last week and 14,912 bales last year. Shipments dropped off 9000 bales on the week to 17,400 bales. Total sales were 6925 bales of which 2325 were actual spot sales, the total comparing with 7150 last week and 7250 the same week last year. Total stock was reduced 9000 bales during the week to 115,222 as compared with 198,000 bales this time last year.

Basis remains relatively good on the longer staples, but the spot market comparatively is quiet with few inquiries for the shorter cotton.

West Texas seems to have had good rains recently, but the trade is skeptical that they arrived in time. Prospects of better weather over the central and eastern belts over the week-end exerted a slightly bearish effect on the market yesterday

Ratio of Earnings High Compared with Market Value of Stock Group

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 28.—No one in Wall street is old enough to recall when the first attempt was made to forecast market movements on the New York Stock Exchange; yet each new thought of theory advanced invariably commands a certain degree of attention. It is regrettable that so much effort in that connection heretofore has been expended in the interest of the speculator and so little, relatively, applied to the solution of the investor's problems.

Occasionally, however, the investor has received his day in court, and this has usually culminated in the accomplishment of worth-while and lasting results. In an endeavor to make a constructive contribution along that line, P. H. Whiting & Co. have applied the principle of earnings to market values, and the results are interesting if, perhaps, not entirely convincing.

In a research which they conducted recently, it was discovered that the ratio of net earnings applicable to dividends on 100 of the better grade stocks traded in on the New York Stock Exchange to that of their market prices at the end of 1926 was higher than at any time since 1923. In other words, they found that the purchaser of such stocks in 1926 received more in the way of earning power for his money last year than he did in either 1925 or 1924.

From this they calculated that stocks were really cheaper in 1926 than they were in the previous two years, even though their prices per share of stock were much higher. Stocks used included such issues as United States Steel common, American Telephone and Telegraph, General Electric, Pennsylvania Railroad, General Motors, Standard oil Company of New Jersey, etc.

Since the first of this year, of course, the prices of securities have advanced materially, while earnings have been holding about on a steady course. It is, therefore, entirely likely that the ratio of earnings to market values today would not make as satisfactory a showing as they did six months ago. It is safe to assume, however, that, using earnings exclusively as a measuring stick, current prices are not so much out of line as they would appear otherwise.

While it is undoubtedly wise to study values from many angles in addition to earnings before arriving at definite conclusions, earnings should by no means be underrated in making such a study.

The ratio of earnings to market prices during the past six years were as follows: 1921, 14.06; 1922, 12.83; 1923, 9.44; 1924, 11.82; 1925, 11.09, and 1926, 10.44.

Baldwin Locomotive which heretofore had provided most of the thrills among volatile performers in recent trading. The Durant favorite rose perpendicularly more than 7 points in the course of the afternoon and while there were some who regarded this strength as foreshadowing the likelihood of important developments within the company a majority were disposed to look upon it as a squeeze of shorts who have been resting unperturbed for considerable length of time. Demand for the stock was urgent on the way up.

General Railway Signal

Another burst of buying developed in General Railway Signal at the outset on the news that the company had won the New York Central award for the installation of its train control apparatus on the New York-Chicago main line. After a bulge to new record high levels, however, the stock encountered considerable realizing on the theory that the good news was out and a setback was in order. It developed, however, that the Central award was not really new inasmuch as the work has been started according to gossip in reliable quarters.

Awaiting Corn Report

Followers of the grain market are looking forward with more than the customary anxiety of interest to the forthcoming government report on the corn crop as of July 1. The report which will be available on July 11, will give not only the acreage planted but also the condition of the growing crop as of July 1. Those who are acquainted with conditions in the corn belt are of the opinion that the showing will be distinctly poor by comparison with the average for the last ten years.

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive)—The speculative fraternity received something of a shock when the renewal rate for call loans was fixed at 5 per cent this morning. Until that time the market had given indication of a substantial rally on relief felt at the drop of $44,000,000 reported in brokers' loans. Wall street had been looking forward to firmer money rates over the end of the month but the jump of a full 1 per cent in the renewal rate was something to which it has not been accustomed in recent years. It was the highest charge for carryover loans since January 5, last. This day last year renewals were fixed at 4 per cent, but a 5 per cent rate was in force before the end of the day, holding until the afternoon of June 30 when a drop to 4½ per cent was recorded.

Seeking Reason

To some observers the fixing of the high renewal rate was more significant than as a reflection merely of the approach of the period for semi-annual disbursements. It was the opinion in some quarters that the stiff rate was intended as an offset to the sharp shrinkage reported in brokers' loans which might reasonably have paved the way for a spirited rally. Belief here was that the high charge was an indication that important interests were of the opinion that the market was in need of further correction.

INCOME OF LEADING RAILS IN MAY OFF

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Aggregate net operating income of $62,804,000 for the first fifty railroads to report May earnings, indicates net for all class one carriers of about $88,200,000, compared with $83,130,501 in May last year. This would represent the month's proportion of an annual return of 6.06 per cent on a rate making valuation of $21,050,000,000 on January 1, 1927.

CANADIAN TRAFFIC IN WEEK INCREASES

Morrison Company Exploratory Work Progressing Favorably

Favorable progress in the exploratory work under way on the properties of the Morrison Development Company, located near Patagonia, Ariz., is reported in a letter to stockholders by Bluford M. J. Balter, president and general manager. The letter states that a vein six and one-half feet in width was encountered on the 300-foot level of shaft No. 2, and ore running 6 per cent in copper was found on cross cutting. Drifting from this point has been advanced approximately eighteen feet during which higher grade copper was found.

Mr. Balter states in his letter that he is providing the funds for the development work, which are sufficient to complete the entire work contemplated.

UNION BANK & TRUST CO. OF LOS ANGELES, TRUSTEE

Exempt from Personal Property Taxes in California, in the opinion of Counsel

The following information has been furnished by Mr. I. Eisner, President of the Sun Realty Co:

SECURITY: These bonds are the direct obligation of the Sun Realty Co., whose net worth is in excess of $16,000,000, and are secured in the opinion of counsel by a closed first mortgage on the leasehold interest in the real property situated on the Southeast corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Vine Street, being 120 feet on Hollywood and 150 feet on Vine Street, upon which property is erected a modern, limit height Class "A" store and office building. This building, according to appraisements given below, has a replacement value of approximately $1,000,000.

LOCATION OF BUILDING: The Taft Building is the largest office building in Hollywood and is situated at the intersection of Vine Street and Hollywood Boulevard, one of the most important business centers in the district.

It is a recognized fact that Hollywood Boulevard has become the definitely established uptown business district of Los Angeles, this particular section affording easy access to the large residence centers of the Wilshire and Hollywood district. The past few years have clearly demonstrated the popularity of this section, both for general business and for the steady demand for office space in this and the other large buildings which have been erected in the neighborhood.

APPRAISEMENT: The following appraisements have been made of the present replacement value of the Taft Building:

Messrs. Curlett and Beelman, Architects	$1,075,000
J. V. McNeil Co., Contractors	$1,050,000
Robert Baker, Realtor	$1,025,000
Average of Appraisals	$1,050,000

In these figures no consideration has been given at the present time to the very valuable leasehold interest, the appraisement being entirely based on the value of the building.

EARNINGS AND MANAGEMENT: The property has been leased at a rental of $42,000 per annum for a period of 98½ years to the Sun Realty Co., who have had an enviable record in operating many of the large buildings of this community. Among the Company's holdings are twenty-three completed business structures in the Metropolitan district of Los Angeles, including the Barker Bros. Building, Lincoln Building, Roosevelt Building, Grant Building, Chillis Building, Swelldom Building, Sun Finance Building, Mayfair Hotel, Dalton Theatre, Insurance Exchange Building, Alhambra Theatre, and a number of other very important properties.

Based on leases now in force and with certain additional plans to be put in operation by the Sun Realty Co., it is estimated that the income from this building for the year ending July 1, 1928, will be as follows:

Gross Income	$
Operating Expenses:
Ground Rent	$42,000.00
Taxes	18,267.00
Insurance	4,528.12
Maintenance	34,824.00
Total Operating Expenses
Annual Net Income	$

Based on this schedule, estimated annual net income will be approximately 3½ times maximum interest charges on these bonds.

SUN REALTY CO. EARNINGS

It will be seen from the statement below that the net income of the Sun Realty Co. has steadily increased from the year of its inception and that the many operations in which it is engaged have been exceptionally profitable.

Year ending	Dec. 31, 1927	Dec. 31, 1926	Dec. 31, 1925	Dec. 31, 19
Gross Income	$382,140.80	$810,866.44	$1,163,864.80	$2,150,695.29	$2,79
Expenses: Including depreciation and Federal taxes	349,320.73	679,017.71	852,670.18	1,498,327.22	2,87
Net Income Available for Dividends on Stock	$ 32,820.07	$131,848.73	$ 311,194.62	$ 652,368.07	$

Earnings for the year 1927 will be largely in excess of those of 1926 on account of the opening during the early part of this year of the Roosevelt Building, Chester Williams Building and Mayfair Hotel, all of which are at least 90% occupied, and the addition of earnings for the balance of the year on the Taft Building.

SINKING FUND: The trust indenture securing this issue of bonds will provide a sinking fund which will retire the entire issue by maturity. The schedule below indicates the par value of bonds the Company is required to retire each year through the operation of the sinking fund, either through purchase in the open market or call by lot at 102 and accrued interest.

1931	25,000	1941	40,000
1932	25,000	1942	40,000
1933	25,000	1943	40,000
1934	25,000	1944	40,000
1935	25,000	1945	40,000
1936	30,000	1946	40,000
1937	30,000	1947	50,000
1938	30,000
1939	30,000	Total	$600,000

GENERAL PROVISIONS: The mortgage covenants to maintain at all times adequate insurance against loss by fire or earthquake.

The Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles will issue its policy of title insurance in the full amount of the bond issue. All insurance policies are payable to and deposited with the Trustee for the benefit of the bondholders.

All legal proceedings incident to the issuance of these bonds have been prepared and approved by Messrs. Lowenthal, Lissner, Roth and Gunter for the Company and Messrs. Loeb, Walker & Loeb, attorneys of Los Angeles, for the bankers.

Application has been filed with the Commissioner of Corporations of the State of California for permission to issue and sell these bonds, and bonds are offered subject to the receipt of such permits, when, as, and if issued and received by us.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Although a few recent favorites among the utilities and industrials were given good support, most of the price changes in the curb market today were downward, and a dozen or so of new lows for the year, or longer, were recorded.

Richmond Radiator continued in brisk demand and Celanese of America scored a jump of nearly 4 points. New peaks were reached by Bucyrus Corporation and Checker Cab A, while American Superpower B and Midwest Utilities gained a point or so.

Most of the oil shares inclined to heaviness, Vacuum sustaining an extreme loss of 1 3-4 points, while Standard of Nebraska registered a new minimum. Margay Oil failed to follow the general trend, advancing 3 points to a new peak.

Among the numerous issues which sank to new low prices were Brill Corporation A, Davega, Inc., Fox Theaters A, Mavis Corporation, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, Rolls Royce preferred, Sanitary Grocery and Ohio Bell Telephone preferred.

Losses of 2 to 3 points were sustained by several such issues as Warner Brothers Pictures B, Stern Brothers A, Richman Brothers, Neisner Brothers, Firestone Tire, Deere & Co. and Eastern Rolling Mills.

A drop of nearly 5 points in Pernambuco 7s on the dissolution of the offering syndicate featured the bond department.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

cent to 100 per cent of capacity next month. Stockholders of the American Ice Company approved a 4-for-1 split-up.

Bear traders discovered an "air pocket" in Fox Film A, which broke from 58 3-4 to 50 when strong buying support appeared and sent the stock back to 54. Other amusement shares fluctuated in sympathy, Pathe touching a new low. Baldwin, Eastman Kodak, Reynolds Tobacco E and Union Bag and Paper all closed 2 or more points lower, while Kresge Department Stores common and preferred, Hupp Motors, Weston Electrical Instrument, Chesapeake Corporation and Electrical Refrigeration were among the score or so issues to reach new low ground.

NEW HIGH PRICES

New high prices were established by American Chicle, American Home Products, Adams Express, Arnold Constable, General Railway Signal, Indian Motorcycle, New York Dock and a few others. A sudden outburst of buying in United States Cast Iron Pipe sent that stock up over 8 points to 231 3-4, but it slipped back to 230 on realizing. Gabriel Snubber was bid up 3 points despite the denial of reports that automobile interests were seeking to buy into the property. General Motors rallied 2 1-2 points to 197.

Rails presented several weak spots, although the general undertone was firm. Little credence was given in railroad circles to recent brokerage house rumors that a decision in the Van Sweringen merger case would be handed down this week.

In the commodity markets cotton and wheat ruled briskly, but coffee prices were slightly heavier, and sugar was practically unchanged.

Foreign exchange trade was quiet, with a 10-point jump in Japanese yen to 47.30 cents and a 6-point drop in Italian lire to around 5.62 cents the only features. Demand sterling and French francs were quoted around 84.85 1-4 and 3.91 1-2 cents, respectively.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—The cattle market yesterday ruled steady to strong on the light supply on sale. Only one fresh load of stock was in but several pens held over from Monday. Nothing of outstanding quality was offered, both being common and medium grade steers and cows. A number of odd lots of drive-ins cows and bulls were included.

One load of medium grade 918-pound steers brought $.25, with other plainer 922-pound averages at 7.60 and some light 392-pound plain yearlings at 7.90.

Arizona was well represented in the supply of the stock. One load of cows averaging 836 pounds brought 5.60 with another load weighing 802 pounds but of less fleshy type, at 5.25. A load of 858-pound Californias sold for 5.50, and a pen of 707-pound Arizona heifers made 6.00. Part loads of light 490-pound heifers landed up to 6.75. Cutter cows sold from 2.50@4.50, with bulk around 2.90@3.75. Odd bulls on the market sold steady, largely at 3.50@4.25 with common kinds down to 3.00.

CALVES—Offerings consisted of one load of fresh arrivals and about 100 head over from Monday. The market on strictly good and choice vealers was strong, one part load of 181-pound native vealers bringing 12.25. The market here over, was very fairly on the general run of grassy California and Arizona calves of all weights and some were mould late. One load of 225-pound Arizonas sold at 9.50 with others at 9.00. Smoother kinds were held above ongoing bids, which were considerably lower than Monday.

HOGS—With light receipts yesterday and only fair supplies in sight, the market ruled strong to 10 cents higher. Two loads were on sale, one being held over from Monday. Both were smooth eastern butchers, averaging 123 and 127 pounds and crossbred at 12.00. Packing sows were scarce and quoted at 9.00@9.50.

SHEEP—All of Munday's supply of sheep was cleaned up before the close and no arrivals were in yesterday. The week's receipts comprised two loads of medium grade shorn ewes which turned at 9.50. No lambs were offered and the market is quotable steady at recent quotations of 12.25@14.00 on medium to choice grades.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—The bond market today displayed more activity than has been present in many days, but prices continued to move in an uncertain manner. Gilt-edged investment securities generally were slightly reactionary, although there were a few which received good support.

Tightening of the money market, although regarded as temporary, unquestionably had its effect on prices. While time money remained unchanged for the day, a tightening would not be surprising before the end of the week, as banks are confronted with the task of meeting an increased demand for funds for July settlements to investors.

Business in rails was again active, more than $10,000,000 of them changing hands, but the price remained around the figure at which they were offered a few weeks ago. Union Pacific and Southern Pacific-Oregon issues also changed hands in large volume at very little change in price.

Weakness of New York tractions including the utilities group, New York Edison and Third Avenue 5s losing 1 1-4 and 1 1-8 points, respectively.

Oil issues also displayed heaviness, the losses being sustained by Shell Union and Sinclair 6 1-2s, the latter falling to a new low.

Foreign issues continued to move forward, Cologne 8 1-2s losing nearly two points. The foreign group as a whole was soft.

Liberty second and fourth 4 1-4s changed hands freely on a fractionally declining price scale.

Prompt sale was reported of the $12,000,000 Western Maryland 5 1-2s offered this morning.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transactions, close is omitted when same as low, and both low and close when same as high.

Grain Prices React After Early Upturn

CHICAGO, June 28. (Exclusive)—Grain markets were extremely unsettled, easing early on profit-taking, only to bulge sharply in the last few minutes of trading. September corn advanced 4c from the early low to a high of 1.09⅝, getting into new ground on the present movement. Wheat closed about the top, with net gains of ⅞@1⅝c, with September leading. July was 1.45⅝@1.42⅝, and September 1.43⅛@1.43¼ at the last. Corn was ⅞@1⅝c higher, with July 1.01⅝@1.01⅝ and September 1.03⅛@1.03⅝. Oats finished unchanged to ⅛c higher, with July 47⅛@47⅛, while rye was ⅜c lower to ⅛c higher, July being 1.13@1.13¼ and September 1.02⅛.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the violent upturn in the corn market, although the trade had reports that the Kessinger bill at Springfield was so far down the list that it might not receive consideration during the present session of the Legislature. There was free profit-taking early on the clear and hot weather over the belt, and the pit element was bearish, but later a house that was a good seller early turned to the buying side and found offerings limited.

Fluctuations in corn were extremely erratic on the bulge, with trading in September at 1.09@1.09⅛, at the same time all of the orders to sell at the latter price could not be filled. General run of crop comments were more favorable and temperatures over the belt were generally high, with no rain reported. Forecast, however, was for scattered showers and cooler. July corn went to 6⅝c under September at the last, or better than a full carrying charge difference.

While wheat traders were inclined to be slightly bearish, due to excellent weather for harvesting in the Southwest, the hot and sultry weather in the Northwest, which is favorable for the development of black rust, caused them to operate with considerable caution, and when corn started upward, wheat firmed quickly. Strength in Winnipeg was also a factor.

Movement of new wheat in the Southwest is increasing steadily, but so far offerings of grain to arrive, both here and at Kansas City, are not large and some of the leading local houses have practically no grain hocked for forward shipment. Minneapolis July closed ⅝c under September in that market, a most unusual situation for this season of the year, as the former is an old-crop month. The Kansas City-Chicago July spread showed little change and remains around 18c. Export demand at the seaboard was slow, with no sales of consequence reported. Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜d higher, with continued unfavorable crop comments from Australia.

Scattered liquidation was on in July oats and they went to ⅜c under the September at the last, the widest difference on the crop. Market rallied sharply from the inside figures in sympathy with corn.

July rye was under pressure from longs and prices failed to get more than a fraction above Monday's finish. A boat was loading 200,000 bushels at Duluth to come here and sales of that quantity were made to go to store for delivery on July contracts.

Realizing sales of lard, combined with sales by packers, satisfied all demand from investors and shorts and made a close at net losses of 7½@15c. Short ribs were unchanged to 2½c lower and bellies 2½c lower to unchanged.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive) The cotton market showed a snappy rally today, the first that had developed for some time. It was due to the readiness of the stopping of the large number of "notices" sent out for the contemplated delivery of actual cotton on January contracts. The total was estimated at the equivalent of 180,000 bales of the contract stock here of over 200,000. When it was seen they were being readily taken care of instead of forcing fresh liquidation by speculative holders, some houses that had issued them were taking them back.

This inspired the local trading bull element with renewed confidence and enough new buying developed to send prices up about 20 to 23 points from yesterday's closing quotations for the general contract list, including July, by the end of the noon hour, or the equivalent of $1 a bale.

July advanced to 16.70 cents; October, 17.05 cents; December, above 17.25 cents; January 17.32 cents, and March to about 17.50 cents. These prices compared with the opening quotations of 16.40 cents for July to 16.80 cents for October, and 17.05 cents for December, which had been 2 to 8 points down under the lead of July from yesterday's final prices.

This local development in the spot month offset the better weather and crop needs from most sections of the belt. It was hot again in Texas and the Central States with very little further rainfall that was not beneficial, being mostly of a light and scattered character, just the kind now needed for the progress of the crop.

Liverpool was dull early but closed firm, with last prices for futures up 4 to 6 of their points on the day, against 2 down that had been due.

W. H. Kemble, President, has summarized, in a letter addressed to us regarding the business of the corporation, as follows:

BUSINESS. "The Neon Light Corporation of America was organized under the laws of Delaware in 1927, to engage in the manufacture of Neon Gas electrical display signs to be sold under the trade name of 'GLO-RAY.'

"Our method of manufacturing and constructing individual letters of various sizes and colors, each letter being virtually a sign in itself, to be distributed and marketed nationally, enabling retail sign companies in their respective communities to assemble 'GLO-RAY' signs, has opened an unusually large market for this corporation's product.

"The corporation is a going concern, the financing for the installation of our completely equipped plant and laboratory having been furnished by the present management.

"The offer of our stock to the public is for the purpose of obtaining additional capital which should place us in an enviable position so far as earnings are concerned.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE. "The funds made available through the sale of these securities will be used to supply additional working capital, made necessary by the indicated increased volume of business, and to provide additional facilities made necessary by the company's increased production and for other corporate purposes.

MANAGEMENT. "The affairs of the corporation will continue in the hands of those largely responsible for the successful operation of the company to date and by those responsible for the corporation's affairs since its inception. The officers and directors of the Corporation are all successful business men. Among them are: Messrs. W. H. Kemble, Frank R. Strong, C. H. Bereman, George W. Dickinson, A. I. Lasker, N. J. Newman, W. D. Howell and H. F. Brewer.

EARNINGS. "Based on the present demand for the product of this corporation and the substantial profits shown at current market prices, the earnings of this company, in my opinion, will be more than sufficient to show a substantial rate of return on the common stock as well as meeting the requirements of the preferred.

DIVIDENDS. "The preferred stock is entitled to dividends at the rate of 7% per annum payable quarterly and is cumulative from date of issue. All earnings over and above the preferred stock requirements are applicable to the common capital stocks of the corporation.

STOCK PROVISIONS. "When issued, the preferred and common stocks of this corporation are fully paid. The preferred stock is preferred as to assets and dividends and becomes fully voting if, after eighteen months, dividends have accumulated on the preferred stock and are unpaid. The preferred stock to be presently outstanding is subject to redemption at 105% of its par value, together with accrued dividends thereon.

LISTING. "No application has been made to list the preferred and common stock of the corporation, but it is the intention of the corporation to apply for listing in due course on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange and the New York Curb.

LEGALITY. "All legal proceedings incidental to the issue of this stock have been approved by the law firm of Newman, Haas, Agins & Schwartz, counsel for the corporation, and Arthur Latcher, Esq., patent counsel for the corporation, and have been approved by counsel for the underwriters."

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The California Eastern Oil Company, operating in the Goleta district about ten miles west of Santa Barbara, has picked up the top sand in its Doty No. 1 well at about 900 feet, according to authentic reports. The Doty well is about one and one-quarter miles east of the original Mission discovery wells, and about halfway between the Miley wells and the Hope J. Berry well which picked up the same sand about ten days ago. Both for the top sand in the Goleta field has not proved commercially productive, although when the Miley-Hope No. 1 first found it about fifty feet of high gravity oil were bailed in the hole. This well first discovered that it had the sand at about the same level, but apparently it had penetrated a considerable thickness of it before it was found, in view of the fact that subsequent wells found it at about 200 feet.

While the zone has not proven commercial one to date, it is regarded as an excellent marker by which to correlate the various wells in the Goleta structure, and, according to this criterion the Goleta field is prone to extend two or three miles to the east of the present producing area.

Rota Chica Oil Company has completed its Kettleman Hills well for the General Petroleum Corporation's Burbank No. 1 to about 4,000 feet, at which point it has entered the Burbank zone, according to field reports. The crew has started drilling, and is now bailing. It is said that a considerable quantity of oil has been bailed out. The Rota Chica's next move is essential in as much as the General Petroleum Corporation has had a great deal of success with them. It is considered probable that the Rota Chica will set casing, and go ahead carefully to avoid getting into the bottom water which is said to be the source of the water in the Burbank well.

Richfield Oil Company is drilling around its Bonner No. 1 well in the Alamitos Heights district. The danger of a renewal of the fire of last Sunday night is past, according to field reports. The Bonner well is making about 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day when the fire broke out in adjoining wells, and although it was shut in, the terrific heat expanded the Christmas tree fittings so that there was a steady escape of inflammable gas that threatened to start things all over again when the fire was out. But a new Christmas tree is being put on the well, and it probably will be back on production in a few days.

The Mariand Oil Company has another good well on its Bixby lease in the Signal Beach field, eastern area, it was reported yesterday. The new well on the Bixby No. 13, which was brought in over the week-end with a production of 2900 barrels a day from a depth of about 4750 feet.

The Bixby No. 13 originally was a big producer in the Bixby zone, but after a considerable decline, and the Standard Oil Company began drilling into the Selover sand on the Gabriel lease a few hundred feet away, the Mariand followed suit.

The Elbe Oil and Development Company has spudded in another well on Round Mountain, east of the Richfield fields, and is drilling ahead at about 3000 feet, according to reports.

The original Elbe well continues to produce at the rate of about 300 barrels a day, according to field reports. The consistent performance of the well over a period of nearly a year is leading operators to believe that the Round Mountain field is to prove one of the stand-by producing fields of the State.

Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company is preparing to make an immediate test of its Hobson B. No. 1 well in Padre Juan Canyon near Ventura, according to field reports. A tank has been built, and other preparations for the test are about complete.

The Hobson B. No. 1 well is being watched with as much interest as any well in the State just at present. C.C.M.O. officials admit it has had highly favorable showings, but the admission is almost superfluous in view of the activity the company has displayed in starting two wells on neighboring property in the past couple of weeks.

Cement Frozen Casing

The McKeon Drilling Company has cemented eight-inch casing at 5100 feet in its Magenheimer outpost well on the north flank of the Ventura-avenue field at Ventura, according to authentic reports. Bottom of the hole is at 5600 feet, and the original intention was to land the casing at that depth, but it was frozen 400 feet off bottom. It was impossible to push it in or pull it out, but circulation finally was established, and it was cemented at that point. A string of six-inch casing now will be run inside the eight-inch, and preparations for the production test continued.

The Magenheimer well is understood to have penetrated some good oil sand in the last 100 feet of hole.

Down 3789 Feet

George F. Getty, Inc., is drilling ahead at about 3790 feet in its wildcat well at Rivera, northwest of the Santa Fe Springs field, according to authentic reports. No showings have yet been found, but the well is being drilled and cored carefully, as it is reaching a depth at which showings, if any, are likely to be picked up.

In the consolidated steel nailing territory prices are definitely down $1 a ton, with producers now accepting third-quarter contracts at $39. RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, June 28. (Exclusive)—An early recession in the primary markets extended to the outside crude rubber market and quotations were fractionally lower. New York spot changed hands at 26¾c, compared with the previous closing of 26¾c. London cables displayed a weak tone, quoting spot at 17 5/16d, a decline of 1/16d. Singapore was off ⅛d on heavy liquidation. It is said that very little actual rubber is changing hands, according to recent dealings reported by the New York Rubber Exchange. Prosperity has wrought a daily average of 1600 contracts of two and one-half tons each, representing a turnover of more than 2500 tons per day, or considerably more than the total world's production, and at the rate of about double the present American requirements.

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) June 28. Joint action also is to be taken on construction of a highway that will lead directly from Flagstaff to Durango, Colo.

NEW FILM PAY PLAN OFFERED

Academy of Motion-Picture Arts Urges Reprieve

Proposes Salaries Continue Until August 1

Program of Economy in Interim Suggested

A reprieve for workers of the motion-picture industry, who were facing a high-salary cut, was in sight yesterday when the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, an influential organization, came forward with a recommendation that salaries continue as usual.

This recommendation, offered in the form of a resolution passed by the board of directors of the academy, asked the delaying of any salary cut until August. It also recommended the institution of an economy program during the interim. It suggested that a strict and efficient program would save enough money that a salary cut would not be necessary.

OFFER NOT BINDING

While the resolution of the academy in no way binds producers to accept it, it is believed the recommendations will be followed. If they do the academy will then act as a body to cut production costs so that the salaries may remain intact.

Producers yesterday refused to comment on the resolution. Two producers, Joseph M. Schenck and Louis B. Mayer, are members of the board that passed the resolution but it is said they are not bound to accept it in their studios. It is probable that some concerted action will be taken by producers after a meeting, to be held today, at which the matter is to be discussed.

The resolution puts the academy on record as believing that reforms in production methods will save enough money so that the salary reduction will be unnecessary. It asks that the producers put the salary cut over until August 1 in order that the reforms may be thoroughly tried out.

SILLS DOES NOT SIGN

The resolution, which was given out by Frank Woods, secretary of the academy, yesterday, is signed by four-teen of the fifteen members of the board. This board includes three representatives from each of the five branches of the industry. The signers include Douglas Fairbanks, Conrad Nagel, Louis B. Mayer, Mary Pickford, Joseph Schenck, Frank Lloyd, John Stahl, Fred Niblo, Carey Wilson, Joseph Farnham, Jeanie MacPherson, Hobart Gibbons, Roy Pomeroy and J. A. Ball. The one member who did not sign is Milton Sills. It is said that he was not present at the meeting.

It is generally believed in film circles that the producers will accept this recommendation as the best move for the industry.

Although the academy has swung behind the workers of the industry it is said that officers of the Motion Picture Equity Association are still busily taking membership applications. It is believed that a large body of actors and actresses will stand with this body to fight any salary reduction.

SCREEN WRITERS' GUILD OPPOSES PAY REDUCTION

A resolution flat-footedly opposing any arbitrary reduction in the salaries of contract film actors, directors and writers was adopted last night at a meeting of the Screen Writers' Guild of the Authors' League of America. The meeting was conducted at the Writers' Club, with many of the more important scenario and continuity writers in attendance. The resolution expressed the belief that "the excessive cost of motion-picture production is due to extravagant mismanagement rather than to high salaries" and urged the members of the guild not to accept or acquiesce in the reduction of salaries under existing contracts.

The guild, in the resolution, also pledged its co-operation with the organized directors, actors and technicians of the industry "to prevent the threatened invasion of rights and

DAY FINDS EUROPE BETTER

Banker and Wife Nevertheless Glad to be Back Home After Tour of Continent

One of the best things about a foreign tour, declared J. Dabney Day, president of the Citizens' National Bank and the Citizens Trust and Savings Bank, is the pleasure of returning to Los Angeles. Mr. Day, accompanied by Mrs. Day, arrived home yesterday from a three months visit in England, France, Germany, Italy and Palestine.

Business conditions, according to the banker, in the western countries of Europe slowly, but surely, are readjusting themselves from the effects of the World War; the unemployment problem being taken as considerable of a key to the economic situation.

J. DABNEY DAY

This, Mr. Day found, is less distressing than at any time since the armistice. In England, he found, for the first time in the last decade the number of the unemployed has dropped below the 1,000,000 mark. From English bankers he received reports of a healthier tone in British industry as an aftermath of the strikes of last year. Credit for this situation is given to the government for its firm and decisive action at that time, with the resultant reduction of unrest today.

In France and Italy the traveler found evidences of depression as a result of efforts being made to stabilize the currency in both countries. However, he declares this is a necessary evil that must be reckoned with before any genuine prosperity may be enjoyed. In both countries he states citizens and officials are bending every effort to overcome their disagreeable problems.

MRS. J. DABNEY DAY

Evidence of thrift he found everywhere and was particularly impressed with the fertility of the fields and by the excellent quality of the live stock, which forms an important element in European agriculture.

PLEASED TO RETURN

In Great Britain and France the many beautiful trees in evidence and the care taken to preserve them held a strong appeal for the visitor, while one of the comparisons that struck him forcibly was the small number

BOARDMAN LOSES IN COURT

Attorney's Petition to Set Aside Judge's Ruling in Lunkenheimer Estate Guardianship Denied

An action filed by Attorney Louis P. Boardman to set aside rulings of Superior Judge Crail in connection with the estate of Frederick Lunkenheimer failed yesterday when Superior Judge Guerin, before whom the matter was argued, denied the attorney's petition. Judge Guerin's ruling came after affidavits had been filed by Attorney Boardman, and others by Joseph Scott, acting for Judge Crail.

Following the court's action which came at noon yesterday, Attorney Philip Boardman, who appeared for his brother, the petitioner, announced that he did not intend to let the matter rest, but will bring other court action in the near future. He declared the nature of the future action will be announced in a few days.

ACTION UNUSUAL

The action, which ended for the time being yesterday with Judge Guerin's ruling, was one of the most unusual ever filed in the local Superior Court and was in the nature of a petition looking to the voiding of an order signed by Judge Crail which accepted a resignation as guardian ad litem delivered to the court by Louis P. Boardman who had been named such for the estate of Frederick Lunkenheimer.

In his petition Mr. Boardman declared he tendered his resignation because he thought that the office of guardian ad litem was to be discontinued and was accepted by Judge Crail, according to Deputy Assistant attorney, the office from which he had resigned was continued by the court and Miss Anne Hoefle appointed. She was later allowed the sum of $500 for two months' work, according to the filed petition.

ACTION MISUNDERSTOOD

In the affidavit by Judge Crail it was set out that Attorney Boardman misunderstood the judge's attitude in the entire matter and drew conclusions which were not justified by the facts in the case. A second affidavit was also placed in the records by the clerk in Judge Crail's court which set up the same facts as brought out by Judge Crail.

Judge Guerin in making his ruling which denied the petition stated that in his opinion there was "something behind" the entire action and that he could not understand some of the motives in the affair. He held, however, that Judge Crail had acted within his rights in the entire matter.

In early rulings Judge Guerin decided that no evidence or testimony would be heard in the case regarding events or conversations subsequent to the court hearing during which Mr. Boardman was discharged as guardian ad litem. It was as the result of this ruling that much of the evidence gathered by Mr. Boardman was excluded.

SPECTACLES OF MALACHI DISCOVERED

Hollywood Pastor Avers Relic From Holy Land Was Worn by Prophet

News of the discovery by Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan of what purports to be the rims of the spectacles of the prophet Malachi is contained in a letter received recently by Joseph H. Gray, president of the Macsmen of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, of which Dr. MacLennan is pastor. The curious relic will be exhibited at the Macsmen banquet to be given in honor of Dr. MacLennan at 6:15 p.m. on July 11. A feature of the welcome-home program will be an address by Dr. MacLennan on "Our Atlantic Hero in Paris."

The discovery of the skeleton of Malachi's eyeglasses was made by Dr. MacLennan when he was on a research expedition in company with Dean Hunter and Prof. Hill of University of Southern California and Dr. Worley, who conducted the party.

"Going on a tour down into the Kedron Valley, near the tomb of Absolom, on the left side of the road below the walls of Jerusalem, I discovered what I believe will prove to be the rims of Malachi's spectacles," writes Dr. MacLennan. "I am bringing them home and will exhibit them at the first men's meeting of our church, if I am allowed to do so after exhibiting them to the director of the British Museum and the Palestine Archeological Research Society."

Since receiving the letter Mr. Gray has received the spectacles from Dr. MacLennan.

"While it has not been proved that Malachi wore glasses, it is probable that he did, for his writings reveal that he was nearsighted in one eye, although farsighted in the other, some of his prophecies being fulfilled more than 400 years after they were pronounced," said Mr. Gray.

THE ANCHORS WERE DROPPED

FIGHTING GIANTS OF FLEET ANCHOR IN HOME PORT

Men Welcome Summer Play Time; Admiral Says Maneuvers Greatest in History

BY WALDO DRAKE
"Times" Staff Correspondent

Out of the south on the dying breeze the battle fleet came home yesterday at dawn; with the sun just far enough above the horizon to splash the entire southern sky with an aurora of red and gold—as though the elements themselves were saying "welcome home."

The seven dreadnaughts in the van made a beautiful picture as they steamed over the horizon in cruising formation, their dark hulks contrasted against the sky's riot of color.

Exactly at 6 o'clock the massive port anchor of the U.S.S. California struck the waters of San Pedro Bay and at two-minute intervals the mudhooks of her consorts dropped into their familiar holding ground on schedule to the very second after 3000 miles of cruising north from Panama.

GLAD TO GET HOME

"Boy! We're glad to be back in California!" were the first words, in effect, of every one of the 15,000 officers and men—from Admiral Jackson down—with whom I came in contact yesterday.

The fleet is back from four months and 15,000 miles of hard work and bad weather, wherefore the sunny slopes of the Palos Verdes Hills looked exceptionally friendly yesterday morning. From now until September 3, when the fall gunnery program begins, relaxation will be the main idea.

Admiral Richard H. Jackson, commander-in-chief, whose four-starred flag flies at the main truck of the U.S.S. California, said that the cruise just completed was probably the most successful from the standpoint of training and general results obtained in the history of the fleet.

BATTLE OF SANTIAGO

"Our maneuvers with the scouting fleet in the Caribbean were the largest, in point of numbers of vessels employed and problems executed, ever held in those waters," Admiral Jackson declared, "and proved that the fleet has attained almost perfect coordination of effort. That is, so perfectly did every man know his job that every one of those 120 ships, battleships, cruisers, destroyers, aircraft, submarines and auxiliaries, operated as a single unit—though we had them scattered in every corner of the Caribbean Sea.

"The most tremendously impressive sight, to me, was our refighting of the battle of Santiago, an exercise conducted by the combined United States fleet over the very area where Cervera's fleet was destroyed in 1898. Like the real battle, our theoretical fight was conducted at 9:30 o'clock on Sunday morning.

PROGRESS SHOWN

"The strides the Navy has made in those twenty-nine years were forcefully brought home to me that morning. In 1898 we had four battleships in the action, of which the

RENEE ADOREE BECOMES BRIDE OF MERCHANT

FOR the first time in several years, no doubt, Tom Meighan just carried a spear yesterday. The star of the show was Renee Adoree, and William Sherman Gill was her principal support. The action of Scene One took place at Room 355, Courthouse, and of Scene Two in the chambers of Department Sixteen, Superior Court.

Department Sixteen, Superior Court.

What happened was that Renee Adoree married Mr. Gill, Judge Crawford of the Superior Court officiating and Thomas Meighan acting as witness. It took place during the noon recess of court.

On the marriage license application Miss Adoree confessed to 26 years, one previous marriage—dissolved by divorce—and to having been born Renee A. de la Ponte. She signed her name for the last time, however, as Renee Andree Moore, reminiscent of her former marriage to Tom Moore, of the pictures. She gave her address as 851 Burnside avenue.

Mr. Gill described himself as a merchant and gave his age as 38 years and his address as 3627 Country Club Drive. It is his second nuptial venture, also, his first having been terminated by divorce.

The second witness to the ceremony was Maude W. McGrail, 3472 Hollyridge Drive.

Miss Adoree's final decree of divorce from Tom Moore was signed May 18, 1926, by Judge Stephens. She charged desertion.

The actress scored her first real triumph in "The Big Parade," in which she played the feminine lead, and which picture, incidentally, was awarded the medal by a motion-pictur magazine as the greatest film drama of the year. Since then she has been in great demand by screen producers and is one of the most popular members of the film colony.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Gill

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Gill were honored at a surprise party given by Mrs. Edna Shaw, sister of Viola Dana and Shirley Mason, at her home, 628 North Elm Drive, Beverly Hills. Many notables of the film colony attended. The party was originally planned by Mrs. Shaw for her sister, Viola, in honor of the latter's birthday, but the newlyweds dropped in and turned the event into a double surprise celebration.

'MAIN' PUT IN DISCARD BY COUNCIL

Ordinance to Change Name of Street Will Come Up for Vote This Morning

Main street received the ax yesterday at the hands of the City Council and neither the pleas of Councilman Colden, of Joseph Mesmer, Herman Lichtenberger, nor of Main-street business men could save the street name. The Council voted to instruct the City Attorney to present an ordinance changing the name of Main street to Huntington Boulevard for a distance of twenty-one miles, from the northeast city limits at Mission Road to S street in the Wilmington district.

Councilmen Colden, Ash, Randall and President Workman voted, no on the name change.

The ordinance is scheduled to be presented this morning. If any one of the four Councilmen opposing the name change votes today against suspension of the rules, then action on the ordinance will be postponed until next Wednesday, which will bring the matter before the new City Council. If the ordinance is adopted and signed by the Mayor, it was said that a referendum will be circulated against the measure.

Speaking in favor of the name-change were H. J. Benedict of the Central Improvement Association, which petitioned for it, William May Garland and O. A. Vickery.

Opponents of the change of name included O. E. Johnson of the German Seed Company, I. B. Benjamin, representing Main-street furniture stores, V. Bell, of a Main-street department store, Joseph Mesmer and the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

ELEVEN GIVE UP IN JULIAN CASE

Total of Forty-one Arraigned on Various Charges

Bonds of $430,000 Posted as Suspects Surrender

Lewis Calls Mass Meeting for July 7

Eleven more financial figures of Southern California, indicted on charges of conspiracy to commit usury in connection with the Julian Petroleum Corporation investigation, surrendered before Superior Judge Stephens yesterday, bringing the total arraignments to forty-one, while Dist.-Atty. Keyes revealed the entire list of names of those involved by the grand jury in the sensational breaking of the financial bubble.

As the excitement attending the return of fifty-six indictments faded temporarily, S. C. Lewis, resigned president of the Julian corporation, called a mass meeting of the stockholders July 7 at 8 o'clock at the Olympic Auditorium, where he declared he will reveal pertinent points of the stock-overissue scandal.

SWANSON SOUGHT

The District Attorney's office last night had a search under way for A. Swanson, assistant secretary of the Julian corporation and manager of the New York offices, whose name in the asserted usury plot was revealed exclusively in The Times Tuesday. Swanson, when attempts at arrest on the indictments were made, was reported missing.

While forty-one of the prominent financial figures had filed into Judge Stephens's court and surrendered, the exact number accused, according to the indictments, stood at fifty. Three Richard Roes and three John Does were named in addition.

Several names in the indictments were duplicated under various charges. Jacob Bertsan, alias Jack Bennett, Lewis's so-called "right-hand man" in the pool operations, was named twice, once in asserted conspiracies to obtain money under false pretenses and violate the Corporate Securities Act and again indicted for forgery and embezzlement. The authorities have no trace of him, although he was reported recently in New York.

THOSE ACCUSED

Those named in the indictments, several of which heretofore were held secret, are as follows: First indictment, charging conspiracies to obtain money under false pretenses and violate the Corporate Securities Act: S. C. Lewis, Jack Bennett, E. H. Rosenberg, R. M. Reese, Charles E. Reese, Louis Berman, W. C. Kotteman, H. F. Campbell, I. L. Rouse and A. Swanson.

The second indictment, charging embezzlement and violation of the bankers' bonus law, named Charles F. Stern, president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, and John E. Barber, president of the First Securities Company.

The third indictment, charging

AND WHAT A SHORT WELCOME!

MOVE MADE TO CUT SIZE OF COUNCIL

Body of Eleven Members, Four Elected at Large, Proposed in Resolution

Councilman Zahn, as the climax of his two years in the City Council, from which he retires tomorrow, yesterday introduced a resolution to start a move to abolish the present Council of fifteen members, elected by districts, and to substitute a Council of eleven members, seven of whom would be district Councilmen, and four would be elected at large. So far as it could be ascertained yesterday, this was Zahn's first Council resolution in two years' service. He was defeated for re-election. The resolution was sent to the Council's Legislative Committee.

Under the Zahn plan, a charter amendment would be submitted to the voters providing for a Council of eleven members. The four Councilmen-at-large would be elected for four-year terms, and the seven district Councilmen two-year terms. The city would be redivided into seven councilmanic districts instead of the present fifteen districts.

DAM-CEMENT BIDS OPENED

Four Companies Submit Joint San Gabriel Tender; Quote Price in Barrels of $4,602,000

So great is the quantity of cement required for the San Gabriel flood control dam that no one of the great California manufacturers is able to supply it from present plants, it developed yesterday when bids were opened by the Board of Supervisors and it was found that the four largest concerns had entered a joint bid.

This tender, the only one received, is for delivery of 2,600,000 barrels of bulk cement at a price of $1.77 per barrel, f.o.b., cars, Crestmore or Colton, it being provided if shipment is made from any other point the freight differential will be absorbed. At this price the cement called for in the specifications would cost a total of $4,602,000, plus freight.

An alternative bid at $2.22 per barrel for cement in sacks was submitted. At this price the total cost of cement would be $5,777,000. It is for the Supervisors and their engineers to decide whether advantages in handling would offset the higher cost of sacked cement.

With the bid there was forwarded to the board a letter from the manufacturers setting forth that the reason they joined in a common bid was that the order was so large no one of them could guarantee deliveries at the rate called for without increasing plant facilities, and thus adding cost. There was also submitted a copy of the four-company agreement, providing for selection of a trustee to collect and disburse funds received in payment.

The undertaking of each of the four companies are as follows: Riverside Portland Cement Company, 850,000 barrels; Southwestern Portland Cement Company, 500,000 barrels; California Portland Cement Company, 850,000 barrels; Monolith Portland Cement Company, 400,000 barrels.

Surety bond in the sum of $200,000 guaranteeing faithful performance, was offered with the bid. The bid was referred to Supervisor Graves for a recommendation.

HOTEL MUSICIAN PROMOTED

Gus Arnheim has just been appointed assistant manager and placed in charge of music and entertainment at the Ambassador Hotel, it was announced yesterday. This new post was created and given Arnheim in recognition of his six years' connection with the hotel and his ability in directing orchestral and entertainment features in the Ambassador Cocoanut Grove. He is also now supervising preliminary work on the recording of recent song compositions.

The Lancer

MR. PAUL KELLY—en route to San Quentin—sternly rebukes the public.

He says it is nobody's business whether or not he had a farewell dinner with Miss Dorothy Mackaye while out of jail in charge of a deputy sheriff "on private business."

It has always been supposed that the conduct of a convicted prisoner was very much everybody's business.

Before he is much older Mr. Kelly will have to adjust quite a few of his ideas.

SLAVE GIRLS

The slave girls of China have now been set free.

And this is very sweet and very lovely of their slave masters; but if this be freedom what must their captivity have been like?

Whereas they formerly had no freedom to marry, from now on they will be permitted entire freedom in marriage—provided they marry young men designated by their masters.

The main difference between the slave girl of yesterday and the same young lady today is that she will henceforth be known as an "adopted daughter."

TONG WARS

Meanwhile—whatever you call them—the merry wars between the tongs will continue to be fought over them.

The smiles of Chinese slave girls have caused more miscellaneous shooting than any other human agency.

HIS HIGHNESS

When this frightful struggle dies down, and we find out whether Pola Negri's husband is a real prince; or merely "a nobleman with a questionable title," maybe somebody will be good enough to advance with some information: Where is Georgia, anyhow—and why—if any?

To quote the estimable Bunker Bean, I can think of nothing of less importance than the title of His Royal Highness—the Prince M'Divani.

What I am excited about is how you pronounce it. Sounds as though you had a mouthful of pie at the beginning—gulped it down and said the rest of it.

SAFE BET

The burning heroism of the Chicago young lady who asks to be hanged rather than imprisoned for life is probably based upon the fact that she knows there is not much chance of her being hanged.

SENSE OF HUMOR

The only criminals I ever heard of who seemed to have any real enthusiasm for being hanged were two Mexicans executed in Arizona.

Wallace McDonald sent me a photograph of them on the gallows just as the nooses were about to be adjusted. Both of them had broad grins on their faces.

ACTING

"Chang," this astounding motion picture of the jungle life in Siam, illustrates a famous saying of D. W. Griffith—that anybody can act—except an actor.

I know of no actor on the screen so simple, so natural or so convincing as those little, lovely Japanese jungle folk.

After all, although it is not a drama—it is the essence of great drama—innocent, attractive, naive people, confronted with the menace of jungle beasts.

Dorothy Mackaye's Fate May be Placed in Hands of Jury Today

LAWYERS PLEAD TO AID ACTRESS

State Calls Her Vampire and Home Wrecker

Defense Asks Love Tangle be Not Considered

New Raymond Death Theory Enters Arguments

Dorothy Mackaye may learn her fate today on the felony charge of concealing the death of her husband, Ray Raymond. Court officials expect her case to reach the jury of eight women and four men in Judge Burnell's court sometime this afternoon. Arguments will be completed this morning after which Judge Burnell will read his instructions and then send the jury out to deliberate.

The State's closing argument will be started by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray when the trial is resumed at 10 a.m. He said last night he expects to finish his statement within an hour. It will take Judge Burnell forty minutes to charge the jury and it is possible he may wait to do this in the afternoon.

Defense Attorneys Jerry Geisler and Roger Marchetti pleaded that the case be decided solely on the facts and I.e the jurors not to let prejudice creep in against Miss Mackaye because of her associations with Paul Kelly, young film actor, who was convicted of manslaughter for killing Raymond in a fist fight over her affections.

CALL HER VAMPIRE

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kemp pictured Miss Mackaye as a vampire and charged that she had wrecked three homes—the homes of Kelly, Raymond and Dr. W.J. Sullivan, who attended Raymond and will who awaits trial next month on an indictment in which he and Miss Mackaye are jointly accused. He was granted a separate trial.

Mr. Geisler made a detailed analysis of the evidence, pointing out the jury must disregard the asserted love affair between Miss Mackaye and Kelly, which testimony was allowed only to show motive, and arrive at a verdict solely upon the accusations that she, Kelly and Dr. Sullivan engineered a conspiracy to cover up the facts of the case and that they misled the Coroner.

"These other matters were brought up to pull a curtain of prejudice before your eyes so you'll forget the real charges," the defense attorney asserted. "This case has been gin, gin, gin, and a great deal has been said about love making, but the facts cannot and must not be overlooked. All this testimony was brought up merely to build a structure of perjudice and to cloud the issue."

DIFFERENT THEORY

He declared the Kelly verdict must not be taken into consideration in the case inasmuch as the theory of the cause of death of Raymond differed from that at Kelly's trial. At the latter's hearing it was contended Raymond died from natural causes and that a subdural hemorrhage which caused his death resulted from a series of ailments from which he was suffering and not from Kelly's fists.

At the Mackaye trial the defense theory is that Raymond suffered the subdural hemorrhage from a fall out of bed and not from Kelly's fists. He pointed out that Raymond did not lapse into unconsciousness until after his fall, which was nearly ten hours following his fight with Kelly. One of the physicians called by the defense, he said, testified that unconsciousness in nearly every case of this kind immediately follows a subdural hemorrhage, which was not the case with Raymond.

"I am not trying to justify Miss Mackaye in respect to her relations with Kelly," Mr. Geisler said. "There has been a great deal written to prejudice her and to gain sympathy for Kelly. The evidence does not show it and I do not believe Kelly killed Raymond. They have tried to paint Miss Mackaye as a jassing, ginning, dancing woman and brought in all these things about Valerie wiping the tears out of her father's eyes merely to excite more prejudice against her."

He said that the $500 fee charged by Dr. Sullivan was a reasonable fee and that there was no evidence it was given to him to sign a death certificate from natural causes and to misinform the Coroner. He stressed the fact that everything done in relation with the payment of the money, which was given to Miss Mackaye by Kelly, was done by disinterested parties and not by her.

RELIED ON DOCTOR

The State, he said, failed to show Miss Mackaye had knowledge that Raymond's death was due to Kelly's beating; that Dr. Sullivan told her he was suffering from Bright's disease and that she had a right to rely on his word. The first time she learned the real cause of his death, he said, was when a member of the District Attorney's office told her.

Only four things must be considered in reaching a verdict, Geisler declared. These things, he said, in substance were: Did Kelly kill Raymond or did he die from a fall? Did Miss Mackaye have knowledge his death was caused by Kelly? Did Miss Mackaye pay the $500 to hush up the case or merely for Dr. Sullivan's services, as a physician.

Mr. Marchetti talked solely from the prejudice standpoint of the case. He warned the jurors against deriving opinions from anything they had read. He said Miss Mackaye had nothing to do with the fight and attributed it to liquor. He referred to her as "an innocent little creature" and pleaded that the jury take into consideration the future of her 4-year-old daughter as well as her own future. He hit at the testimony of "Jungles" Teno Yobu, Kelly's Japanese houseboy, who testified Miss Mackaye spent the night on several occasions at Kelly's home, referring to this witness as "a cur."

"She is a good woman and her own husband thought so for he asked her for another chance after the fight and was willing to let bygones be bygones," the attorney said.

In event the jury convicts Miss Mackaye and holds that Raymond's death constituted murder she faces imprisonment of from one to five years. On the other hand, if they find his death constituted manslaughter, she faces a one to three-year term. The jury can also recommend a six-months County Jail sentence under the code section on which she is being tried.

PORTRAYED MISS LOS ANGELES

More Kick Than in Painting Royalty

Lillian Knight

Herr Nicola Michailow's portrait of Miss Los Angeles of 1914.

KINGS, princes, financial wizards and hundreds of lovely women have posed for him in the years he has been painting, but Nicola Michailow, court painter of the King of Bulgaria and the royal family of Coburg, got more "kick" out of doing the portrait of Miss Los Angeles in 1924 than out of any picture he ever did, he said yesterday at the Ambassador. Herr Michailow is on his first visit to Los Angeles and while he hopes again to meet Miss Los Angeles, who in private life is Miss Lillian Knight, he said.

"I was painting several persons at my studio in Atlantic City when the contest to choose Miss America was held there," Herr Michailow said. "I saw the crowd of girls, about eighty-five of them there were, and out of the lot I picked one that I thought was the most beautiful and started to paint her. Later I saw another that I thought was still more beautiful and I asked her to pose for me. She was Miss Los Angeles. It turned out that the two girls I had painted won first and second place when the judging was completed a week later but Miss Los Angeles, who I thought was as pretty and charming a girl as I've ever seen, was not named Miss America. Instead Miss Malcolmson of Philadelphia was chosen for that honor. But I got a "kick" out of having the girls I had painted win first and second place."

Herr Michailow has painted numerous portraits of Bulgarian kings, princes, princesses and others of the royalty, of Kaiser Wilhelm and many members of the German royalty and nobility and a great number of financiers and scientists. He has also painted a large number of prominent citizens of New York and officials of South American governments.

BOY'S DROWNING AT POMONA ACCIDENTAL

The death of Walter Brummond, 17 years of age, of Cucamonga, was declared to be accidental in a certificate signed yesterday by Coroner Nance. The youth was drowned while bathing in a reservoir near Pomona. According to Deputy Sheriff Stensland, who investigated, the youth was on a raft sixty feet from land, and attempted to swim, though he was not a good swimmer. The accident happened Monday evening. The body was taken to the mortuary of Todd & Reeves, Ontario.

JOHN C. RAY, ONCE PUBLIC FIGURE, DIES

He Was Associated With "The Times" Many Years and Held State Offices

John C. Ray, 81 years of age, at one time a prominent figure in the newspaper circles of Los Angeles and a widely known character in California public life for many years, died Monday at his home in Randsburg, Cal.

Born in Ireland, Mr. Ray came to California shortly after arriving in this country. He was associated with The Times for many years and later became owner and publisher of the Santa Ana Blade. He was at various times Internal Revenue Commissioner, Game and Fish Commissioner and major-domo of the State Senate. In later years he was a locator for the Randsburg Silver Mining Company.

He leaves one relative, a brother, in Washington, D. C. Funeral services will be conducted this morning at 11 o'clock at Randsburg.

of automobiles in evidence abroad as contrasted with the large number found in the United States.

"The return home," said Mr. Day, "is a source of pleasure, especially when one notes the encouraging progress that has been made even during a few short months. It is doubtful if there is any section of the world that has greater prospects for development than has Southern California. We have a climate that is unsurpassed, a system of roads and highways that is unequaled, railroad and interurban transportation of the best, plenty of room for expansion, and fruits and produce that by reason of their superb quality command top prices in all the markets of the world.

"California is a young and progressive empire and we need to develop our water supplies, to plant trees as they do in Europe and to take care of those we have, and to utilize to the full our splendid natural resources to equal, if not surpass, the famous Italian and French Riviera. No other city has a stronger economic background than Los Angeles and our future is in our own hands."

FLEET AT HOME FROM ATLANTIC

strongest was the Oregon and the extreme effective range of her main battery when she overhauled the Cristobal Colon was a scant 9000 yards.

"Today we could take one of the fifteen battleships participating in the exercise and outfight the entire Santiago fleet, while the West Virginia, our newest battleship, fires battle practice at a range of 30,000 yards.

"We used fleets of airplanes, submarines, radio communications, smoke screens and electrically-driven ships, all new since the Battle of Santiago—regarded as the beginning of the modern Navy."

Admiral Jackson had high praise for the performance of the aircraft squadrons and the new V-type submarines during the maneuvers, a great deal of which were executed in heavy weather. The cruise north to New York and Narragansett Bay was work, he said. The personnel has had but little liberty and recreation since the battle fleet left Los Angeles Harbor last February 19.

TEN TO STAY HERE

Tactical exercises were held en route south to Panama; during the stay at Gonaives, Haiti, for maneuvers there was no shore leave; while at Guantanamo Bay liberty was confined to the naval reservation; and liberty at east coast ports was overshadowed by the business of fighting.

The dreadnaught West Virginia, flagship of the battleship divisions, and nine ships of the fleet train will remain at San Pedro until July 11. Other units of the fleet will sail on the morning of July 1 for various Coast ports to participate in Fourth of July celebrations. The fleet will rendezvous off the Farallone Islands on the morning of July 13 and then proceed to Puget Sound, where it will be engaged in the annual summer cruise until late August, returning to Los Angeles Harbor September 3, next. All forces will thereafter remain at this base for training until April 5, 1928, when it departs for Hawaiian waters in company with the scouting fleet, from the Atlantic.

SHIPS IN PORT

Battleships arriving yesterday included the California, West Virginia, Maryland, Idaho, Mississippi, Arizona and Pennsylvania. The U.S.S. Colorado, delayed at the New York Navy Yard for repairs, will arrive here July 3; the U.S.S. Tennessee is in the north and will join the fleet on Puget Sound; the U.S.S. New Mexico is undergoing annual overhaul at the Puget Sound Navy Yard; while the U.S.S. New York and U.S.S. Texas, which have replaced the U.S.S. Nevada and U.S.S. Oklahoma, in Battleship Division Three, will not arrive here until next autumn.

Other units in port include the U.S.S. Procyon, flagship of the United States Fleet Base Force, the hospital ship Relief, the repair ship Medusa, the transport Arctic, the aircraft tender Aroostook, the naval tankers Cuyama, Kanawha and Neches, the minesweepers Tern and Kingfisher and the fleet tugs Sonoma and Algorma.

"Mystery Lady" Preview to Be Given Tonight

A preview performance of "The Lady of Mystery," a comedy written by Mme. Ina Diligenti, known in private life as Countess d'Audiffret, will be presented tonight at Beaux Arts, Eighth and Beacon streets, under the auspices of the Women's Overseas Service League.

Mme. Diligenti, who served with the American Hospital at Neuilly, France, during the war and since that time has contributed her talent to the production of plays and pageants for war orphans, will take the title role in the play tonight, which is to be free to the public. She will be supported by Ronald Tilly, Jack Castle, Barbara Norman and Christian Lynton. A committee of members from the Overseas League is in charge of the program.

COLLEGE PARTY TO LEAVE FOR MEXICO

SUMMER EXCURSION WILL BE UNDER DIRECTION OF POMONA FACULTY

The first annual Pomona College travel party to Mexico, sponsored by the faculty committee on travel, will leave Los Angeles tomorrow morning on the Southern Pacific Apache at 10 o'clock. Twenty-two Californians, including seven from San Francisco, are making the trip under the direction of Francis Flynn of Los Angeles, a graduate of Pomona College who has long been intimate with life in Mexico.

The party will travel over the new route down the west coast of Mexico, crossing the mountainous regions into Mexico City, where they will spend several weeks. Several members of the party plan to avail themselves of the educational opportunities offered by the National University of Mexico.

FERRY ON HIGHWAY

Passengers Cross Flooded Part of Apache Trail in Boats

With portions of Arizona's Apache Trail today reported submerged by waters rising behind the new Horse Mesa Dam, the famous highway still is open to travel, according to advices received by C. L. McPaul, assistant passenger traffic manager for the Southern Pacific.

Busses are maintaining schedules, passengers being ferried over the submerged section of highway in comfortable excursion boats that are said to add much to the enjoyment of tourists traveling between East and West.

Ferry service is to be continued until the new detour highway is opened to traffic, which will be in the near future.

WIDOW AND SON TO DIVIDE PROPERTY

Equal division between his widow and son is the way the late Shelley H. Tolhurst, president of the Empire Water Company, wished his estate disposed of, Mrs. Tolhurst said yesterday. She had her son, Louis H. Tolhurst, were named executors of the deceased's will. It contained a provision which enjoined upon Josefa, the widow, the carrying out of "certain wishes, verbally expressed, when it becomes wise and practicable." The verbal expression referred to, Mrs Tolhurst said, had to do with equal division.

BATTLESHIP COMMANDS SHOW SHIFT

Four Dreadnaughts Under New Captains, Changes in Personnel Numerous

Many changes in battle fleet commands were effected during the Caribbean-Atlantic cruise, four of the seven battleships arriving yesterday having new captains, in addition to the shifting of approximately 190 other officers.

Rear-Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, commanding Battleship Division Three, is a newcomer, he having relieved Rear-Admiral Henry J. Ziegemeier during the cruise.

The U.S.S. Maryland's new commander is Capt. J. V. Kleman, relieving Capt. Thomas T. Craven. Capt. W. T. Tarrant now commands the U.S.S. Arizona, Vice-Captain Harlan P. Perrill. Capt. Arthur St. Clair Smith has been relieved as commander of the U.S.S. Idaho by Capt. William C. Asserson, while Capt. Thomas C. Hart has been relieved as commander of the U.S.S. Mississippi by Capt. C. M. Toser.

This morning Commander W. R. Furlong, executive officer of the U.S.S. West Virginia, will leave that post to become captain of the naval tanker Neches, relieving Commander A. S. Rees. Capt. William H. Standley, commanding the fleet flagship California, has been named for promotion to the grade of rear-admiral and in the fall he will be relieved, probably by Capt. Claude C. Bloch, now a temporary rear-admiral, as chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, Washington.

Other battleships of the fleet still retain their old commanders, as follows: U.S.S. West Virginia, Capt. W. T. Cluverius; U.S.S. Pennsylvania, Capt. C. T. Owens; U.S.S. Colorado, Capt. F. D. Karns; U.S.S. Tennessee, Capt. G. L. P. Stone; U.S.S. New Mexico, Capt. W. D. Leahy; U.S.S. Texas, Capt. Zeno E. Briggs; U.S.S. New York, Capt. C. A. Abele.

Transfer of the flag commands of the United States battle fleet probably will be made at this base early in September, rather than on November 14, it was announced yesterday.

DEMOCRATS TO HEAR CRAIL

KERRICK CASE MERCY DENIED

Judge Sentences Five to Terms in Prison

Scores Drunken Orgy in Denying Probation

Jurist Intimates Truth Not Told at Trial

Censuring them for their conduct during an asserted orgy which ended in the slaying of Tom Kerrick, motion-picture cowboy, Judge Hardy of Superior Court yesterday sentenced each of the five defendants found guilty of manslaughter in connection with Kerrick's death to serve from one to ten years in San Quentin.

Judge Hardy pronounced sentence on the quintet after denying their applications for probation with the remark that "if persons under the circumstances in this case be granted leniency, who then shall be denied leniency?"

The five who stood before the bar to hear the sentence read were Mrs. Sarah Kerrick, wife of the dead man; Irja Burns, Anita Davis, Joe Hunt and Henry Isabell.

Attorneys for the five filed oral notice of appeal from the judgment and asked that the defendants be admitted to bail pending hearing. Judge Hardy denied the request.

Picturing the drinking party which culminated with the shooting of Kerrick as a "disgraceful orgy of drunkenness where emotions and passion ran riot," Judge Hardy intimated that he believed everything but the truth had been told at the trial and gave each of the five an opportunity to review his or her version of the party. The defendants advised the court that they had told "all they knew."

"People who lead such lives usually come to a bad end," the court commented. "I am casting no reflection on the motion-picture industry because some of these defendants were employed there. But I cannot see where persons of this type should be granted leniency."

CLUB'S FAREWELL MEET

The Poetry and Music Club, which meets twice each month at 730 South Grand avenue, will hold its closing meeting of the season this afternoon at 2 o'clock. An informal program will be given under the direction of Mrs. John A. Baldsley, president. Those who assisted in the last year's programs will be guests of honor.

TRUST TREND OF RADIO SURVEYED

Future of Broadcast Declared Up to Listeners

Boy Scout Press Association Gives KHJ Program

Spanish Serenaders Present Evening Concert

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Press dispatches of a few days ago announced the ownership of the National Broadcasting Company and its close affiliation with three immense utility groups.

There is, of course a certain element of truth in the feeling that at times the various commercial broadcast stations might be forced out of the field through economic pressure which would leave the public to the huge chain system and a few scattering good-will acts.

Admittedly there might be much to be gained from such an event. Commercial firms could offer programs for the entire potential air audience. The immense chain could spend tremendous sums of money on research and propaganda and firms could spend large sums in the presentation of their programs.

In the final analysis, however, the public will be both the judge and jury on the trust tendency of radio broadcast. The monopoly of Great Britain in its radio field has not fared well with the British Broadcasting Company experiment, and continental European radio programs do not get over in a big way except the idea of the tax fee for the set, which goes to pay for radio programs.

QUICKLY DESTROYED

A monopoly of broadcast could only be gained via public approval and it could as quickly be destroyed by the same agency. Programs of the air are a luxury and if these programs should or fail into disfavor the public could destroy its effectiveness through refusing to programs.

The National Broadcasting Company will develop so long as it continues to raise the standard of broadcast programs. There is considerable evidence at hand to make one believe that they are even now producing considerable difficulty in finding novel entertainment and diverse broadcasts.

It looks as though the radio public is ready in for a good period of constructive competition on chain broadcasting stations, for there are several new hook-ups under way, although not on the immense scale of the present blue and orange networks as yet.

BOY SCOUT PROGRAM

The first hour of the KHJ broadcast following the news items last night was sponsored by the Boy Scout Press Association of Los Angeles, a group of some sixty aspiring Scout newspaper men from the troop ranks. Their Los Angeles Scout, published monthly, is a six-page publication of merit.

Scouts from Troop 59, Scout Louis Jacobs played a violin number to the accompaniment of Miss Mary Moshinsky, while Scout Halden Boyd of the Scout Band offered a euphonium solo.

A piano solo from Jim Harasathy, Scout-aid second-class scout, from Troop 59, and a trumpet solo by Scout 98, in a violin selection; a vocal duet by the Scout twins, Harold and Howard Clemens, members of the Scout Band, and a trumpet solo rendered by Earl Willars Jones, brother of the violinist, were also features of the Scout hour.

Speaking parts of the hour broadcast consisted of a talk on vacation days by Raymond J. Spencer, life scout of Troop 87, and sports editor of Los Angeles Scout; Merit Badge Scout Bud Testa, Troop 20, and staff reporter of the Scout Press Association, with a talk on weather predictions, for which topic he recently received his merit badge; and Jack Pringle, an associate editor of the press association, and Troop 78 merit badge scout, talking on safety first.

Field Scout Executive Elroy A. Thomas assisted by playing the accompaniment for most of the musical numbers.

WHISTLING NUMBERS

Shortly after 9 o'clock Naomi Sweeney Brown, whistler, known as the "California Mocking Bird," accompanied by Evelyn Surber, offered a brief radio recital which also included "Silver Song Birds," a unique number, for which Miss Surber played the accompaniment and offered the vocal refrain while Miss Brown carried the whistling obbligato.

The remainder of the broadcast was given over to Blanca Flor and her Spanish Serenaders, assisted by Roberto Guyman, tenor. This talented group, which gives a program each Tuesday night over KHJ, offers one of the breeziest broadcasts of the week in the form of tinkling dance tunes and waltz melodies under the direction of Blanca Flor, celebrated creator and interpreter of dance numbers.

On the early children's hour at KHJ Lois Jane Campbell, "Brown Eyes," gave a reading, followed by piano numbers of Betty Jane Uhl. Songs by Marguerite Bringham, "Nightingale," and the semimonthly radio visit of Charles Leslie Hill, "Honey Boy," were also featured.

As the Sandman and Uncle John were chatting in the studio one corner of the room became clouded with a mist. In the heart of this mist the face of little Queen Titania appeared framed in the light. Her soft voice carried to Uncle John a welcome home and an invitation to join her in Fairyland.

threatened evasion of obligations by the organized producers."

ACTORS' EQUITY OFFICER WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Frank Gillmore, executive secretary of the Actors' Equity Association, will be an unofficial observer when motion-picture performers in Los Angeles consider the proposed salary cut tomorrow night, the Equity office reported today.

About 45 per cent of the motion-picture actors and actresses are members of the Equity Association, which has on its membership roll the greater part of the stage performers. Paul Uzzell of the Equity Association said Mr. Gilmore will take steps to organize film actors more strongly in the Equity ranks if the proposed reduction is not accepted.

PHYSICIAN SUCCUMBS

Dr. Marion Dillon of Alhambra Dies Suddenly at His Office

While sitting in his office at 134 South Garfield street, Alhambra, writing a prescription for a patient yesterday afternoon, Dr. Marion Dillon, 52 years of age, prominent Alhambra physician, suffered a heart attack and died before assistance could be summoned.

Since moving to Southern California ten years ago Dr. Dillon had practiced medicine in El Monte and Alhambra. He was a native of Lincoln, Mo., and had practiced there following his graduation from college in St. Louis. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Ethel K. Dillon of the family address, 704 Linderax Park, Alhambra. Dr. Dillon was a member of Al Malaikah Temple, Shrine; the Masonic Lodge, and the Alhambra Athletic Club.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Turner, Stevens and Turner, Alhambra directors, announced.

VANDERBILT STOCK SUIT UNDER WAY

Investor in Newspaper Securities Asks to Have Money Refunded

The suit of Cassius Smith of Brawley to recover $4000 he asserts he lost by buying shares of stock in Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., went to trial yesterday before Judge Haas, sitting in Superior Court.

Smith, in his complaint, says he was prevailed on to place his order for forty shares of the stock at one time and for twenty shares more a few weeks later, on the strength of representations that Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., had pledged or would pledge "his millions" as a guarantee of the soundness of the investment and that it would return dividends of 8 per cent per annum.

Not all of the shares ordered were delivered, however, Smith said. He actually received only thirty-eight shares of preferred and a bonus of 50 per cent in common stock, he related, his investment being adjusted later. The price paid was par, according to the complaint.

Smith asserts the stock was not worth more than $20 and $25 a share at the time he purchased, and that he was deceived by confidence in the pledge that Vanderbilt's millions were behind its value.

The case, which is being vigorously contested by Attorneys Joseph Ford for the plaintiff and Moot and Vallee for the corporation, no more than got under way yesterday and will be continued today.

WATER LAND LEASE GETS APPROVAL

Owens Valley Tract of 85,000 Acres Taken Over by Power Commission

Approval of leases, fourteen in number and covering 85,000 acres in the Owens Valley section, was given by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners at its session yesterday. This land has been acquired by the city over a period of several years to extend its water rights in the valley and increase its potential water supply.

The fourteen leases include ranches varying in size from one to 7700 acres, and under the plan of the board as much as possible of the territory will be kept under cultivation, the owners being given an opportunity to lease back their own lands from the city at a very low rental, usually sufficient to cover taxes paid by the city.

Members of the board point to this attitude as refutation of the claims being made in connection with the several recent dynamiting attempts, that the city is devastating the valley and driving the ranchers from their homes.

In connection with the 85,000 acres there are two orchards which will be maintained and cultivated by their former owners, under the supervision of the city, which keeps in the valley a trained horticulturist whose services are available at all times.

FUND DRIVE TO WIND UP TOMORROW

Workers Will Make Final Reports on Jewish Appeal Campaign at Luncheon

Bringing to a conclusion the city-wide campaign for funds for relief and reconstruction purposes among Jewry here and abroad, the United Jewish Appeal will hold a luncheon at the Biltmore tomorrow noon when workers will make a final report.

George Jessel, Florence Reed and Belle Bennett are on the program, which will be presided over by Henry W. Louis, chairman of the local appeal campaign. Among others of the luncheon speakers will be Rabbi Lissauer and Rabbi Magnin.

To date slightly more than $170,000 has been subscribed, according to I. Irving Lipsitch, campaign director, who points out that the motion-picture division headed by Jack Warner and Mrs. Louis B. Mayer has turned in more than $40,000 of this amount. Mr. Lipsitch anticipates that the balance of the Los Angeles quota of $225,000 will be forthcoming in voluntary subscriptions before the end of the week.

Among those who have done notable work in association with the screen division are Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Stern, Mrs. Hunt Stromberg, Mrs. Herman Mankiewitz, Mrs. Sol Lesser, Mrs. Julius Meyer, Mrs. Sol Wurtzel, Mrs. Irving Thalberg, Mrs. Jack Warner, Mrs. Sam Jaffee, Mrs. Harry Rapf, Mrs. Fred Beetson, Mrs. M. C. Levee, Hal Wallis and Pete Smith.

RESIDENT OF TEXAS SEEKS SISTER HERE

Seeking a sister whom she has not seen for years, but believes to be living in Los Angeles now, Mrs. S. K. Williams, 75 years of age, of Canyon, Tex., arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and is visiting at the home of W. F. Foster, a friend, at 507 East Thirty-third street. According to Mrs. Williams, her sister formerly lived in Louisville, Ky., under the name of Margaret Kusler. Since then she has moved to Los Angeles, where she is reported to be living at the home of a daughter. Mrs. Williams said that she formerly was a resident of Webster Grove, St. Louis, and that her first husband's name was Troutwine.

CLEAN SKIRTS

Los Angeles should be able to acquire a fit and proper airport without having it hedged about by scandal.

OUR LEADERS

In the matter of clothes, at least, it's the women who are the real leaders in the back-to-nature movement.

CROSSING THE BAR

The Catalina Channel has been negotiated by swimmers, planes, skiffs, ships and flying fish and the only thing left is a Wrigley prize for the first guy who can make Avalon on roller skates.

JUST WAIT

With reference to Presidential possibilities in 1928 the Philadelphia Public Ledger says "there is small chance for a Johnson revolt next year." Wait and see. Revolting is what the sunkist Senator doesn't do anything else but.

WARE SHEIKS

What is to be done with such banana peels on the doorstep of progress as those two young men reported as sheik burglars who have been lifting the purses and gems of susceptible Hollywood maidens? Such a man may be a sheik, but his acts are anything but chic.

MUCH MARRIED

Look out, single ladies. A polygamously inclined gentleman of smooth appearance and attractive address is reported to be haunting this coast and searching for other wives to add to his little string of fourteen who are trying to round him up and land him in jail. A fifteenth wife probably would fare no better than the rest. Such gentlemen should not be encouraged in further matrimonial adventures.

BOLSHEVIK FILMS

The Russian government is making what is called a historic film, which will present the glorified side of the Bolshevik revolution. About 2000 men and women are to be used in the picture and possibly the next step will be an effort to dump them on Hollywood as trained actors. Let them try to get in! They may crash the gate at Ellis Island, but it will take more than that to get by the barrier at the Hollywood studios.

THE SESQUI DEFICIT

Those prophets who had piled up an enormous deficit for the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial Exposition must be disappointed to learn that the latest audit of its accounts show that the big fair will be only $200,000 in the hole and that even this may be canceled by the salvage of the property on the exposition grounds. So much for having a Philadelphia lawyer right at hand to turn loose on the financial problem.

PLACE FOR PORTIA

Of sixty judges now on the Los Angeles bench one is a woman. The lady lawyers of the Southland are certain that they should have larger representation and are working various wires to that end. It is admitted that they have competent material in their ranks, yet the fact remains that many of the skirted apostles of Blackstone indicate a preference for male judges. Outside of the women's and children's or domestic-relation courts they look upon the bench as a man's job.

A DESPOILED SCIENTIST

Unable to apply the theory of relativity to the trapping of a thieving maid servant who robbed him of nearly everything of value in his Berlin house, Albert Einstein applied to the police. A detective found the girl garbed in one of Frau Einstein's daintiest Paris creations and wearing her Russian furs despite the heat. The girl was found through a sweetheart of hers. All of which goes to show that, though a scientist may be up in everything that relates to time-space-motion refraction and such like, when it comes to a practical mundane application of the theory of relativity there's nothing like the work of a plain-clothes man.

CHINA'S PLEA

Before the Institute of Pacific Relations, which will meet in Honolulu July 15, China will plead its case in a unique way and make as many points as possible for complete independence from foreign control and for the right to collect and use its own customs duties. One hundred men and women of the institute will listen to Dr. Chang Po-Lin and several other Chinese educators as well as statesmen, and President Lowell of Harvard will be there to make suggestions as to how full justice may be done to China by other nations. Of course, nothing really will be settled by the discussion, but the vote upon it will indicate to a certain extent how far America and other powers are willing to go to meet the demands of the Chinese for what they consider their just rights.

SAFEGUARDING INVESTORS

One of the results of the Julian debacle should be development of auxiliary safeguards against the recurrence of such speculative disasters. Aside from the stock overissuance phase, the whole Julian affair has demonstrated the ineffectiveness of the law of California to deal with deliberate crookedness. The list of promotional failures during the last few years is staggering in the total of their losses, notwithstanding that they were conducted under color of the permissive authority of California's blue-sky law.

The law has failed in its purpose to protect the gullible. But more than mere protection of the gullible should be undertaken. These failures impose a severe and unnecessary handicap on legitimate and deserving new and expanding enterprise. By stock purchases the investing public has fostered and made possible many of the most outstanding industries in the country's history and stock investment should be and could be made normally safe; but for each dollar of profit earned by stock investments there has been nearly an equal loss in dishonest and poorly managed ventures, with the result that most new enterprises, however meritorious, come to be regarded with suspicion. Notwithstanding, so eager are get-rich-quick suckers that they will be duped again and again unless real safeguards are provided.

It manifestly is in the interest of an expanding city, inviting the world to come and invest and greatly in need of new enterprises to provide a labor market, that public offerings of whatever nature should be most rigidly investigated and their conduct safeguarded with reasonable diligence. This especially applies to Los Angeles, under the scrutiny of the entire country, with willing critics to exploit our shortcomings.

The launching of a new enterprise depending on public investment for its capital is in the nature of a public undertaking and if honestly promoted public exploitation of all available facts could do it no harm. But the public very seldom knows anything about a corporation applying for a permit. The venture conforms to the law and a deputy corporation commissioner is persuaded that it is meritorious. Personal "pull" and skillful attorneys are frequently employed in this persuasion. The official disposition is to be encouraging and all the argument is pro-permit. The permit issues and presently a well-organized, high-powered sales campaign is launched, promising profits comparable to those of the Ford Company, Bell Telephone or Standard Oil. The public response is generous and in the case of ill-considered or crooked ventures the mischief is usually done and millions more of savings gone into the dump before there is time for a warning. The most vicious phase of the high-pressure sales methods of such stock sharpers is that their victims are deluded into believing that the permit to sell stock is a guarantee by the State of the merit of the enterprise. In such cases the blue sky law does more harm than good.

If these applications for public investment permits were required to be made under circumstances insuring public knowledge of the facts and requiring that the resources and business and personal characters of the promoters be analyzed additional safety would surely be offered. The public would acquire more intimate knowledge of the matter and be less liable to capitulate to the glamorous promises of the prospectus.

SOLO FLYING

Private aviation has caught the imagination. Winging your way through the clouds is cheaper than chugging through traffic. Planes are now being built by eleven firms in the United States that sell any place from $1750 to $3500. The cheapest one will fly 400 miles in five hours for $11.45.

With ninety-horsepower engines and the cockpit swung below the wings the mechanical bird tends to equilibrium. "Safety first" is written on the sky. Motor failure is eliminated by three small engines.

There are few landing fields. However, when the first automobiles arrived towns were hooked up by chuckholes, dust and peruna billboards. Now a tourist may motor from one end of California to the other on two highways without running off the concrete. And intersections have legends of directions and distances. When all flivvers arrive in swarms landing fields will spring up like toadstools on a wet morning.

Perils and airplanes are too frequently associated in public psychology. And yet there are more people killed by putting their trust in bootleggers than in God's heavens.

Aviators are not necessarily daredevils. Stunt flying in circuses is an abnormality. A man can make a fool of himself on a street car. Looping the loop is as unnecessary in a flying machine as in an automobile. Flying right side up may be as highly esteemed as motoring on four wheels instead of skidding around on the top.

Nor is physical fitness essential in flying. Learning the tactics and strategy of Hannibal and Napoleon in crossing the Alps is unnecessary to hop off over the Tehachapi to San Francisco. Wagging a stick about in the right direction is about all there is to it. Running a kiddy car and a flying machine have points in common.

QUEEN MARIE TRIUMPHS

The change of government just announced in Rumania is of interest to the general reader, since it evidences the disturbed political condition in Europe, as is also the fencing for position of rival parties in that nation in anticipation of the death of Ferdinand. The troublous question of the succession also comes up. The nervous tension among the nations of Europe is so intense that an event of so little importance in ordinary times as the change in government, especially in a nation of only minor importance, is now carefully considered as it may show the direction in which the storm is traveling. So the question is asked, what does this return to power of Bratiano mean?

We must understand at once that whatever may be the explanation sent out from Bucharest it does not touch the real motive. The question back of all political questions in Rumania is that of complications after the death of King Ferdinand. Will Carol be recalled? What will be the position of the Queen in the regency that will have to be established in case little Prince Michael becomes King? The Queen wishes to occupy a responsible position. She is able, resourceful and ambitious. But she was an English princess. She is cousin to King George. If she has much to do in shaping the foreign policies of Rumania she will naturally be influenced—to some extent—in favor of England. Bratiano is supposed to favor the Queen's ambitions. The government overthrown is thought to have been opposed to her. France certainly does not wish to see English influence strengthened. We now see why this governmental change excites comment in Europe. This sketch discloses another instance of rival policies on the part of England and France. It helps to explain why united action of Europe is almost impossible, as was so painfully evident in the recent meetings of the Council of the League of Nations.

PRODUCTIVE ENTHUSIASM

A current news item reveals the fact that six boys, members of the graduating class of Alhambra High School, have declared their intention to make the study of aviation their life's work.

If Alhambra boys are representative—as they are—this means that an army of young men in the high schools of these United States have the same ambition.

This means that a group of intelligent and capable boys in all the towns and cities of the land are planning to take an active part in developing and enlarging what is to be a powerful factor in the future growth of the country and one which to a degree will determine our standing among the nations of the earth.

Col. Charles Lindbergh is directly responsible for this awakening to the possibilities of aeronautics—it is one of the outstanding results of his epoch-making feat. When we wonder, as did the flyer himself, if his trans-Atlantic flight was worth while—if we stop to think whether or not his great receptions and world-wide recognition were his due, one of the answers is that six young men in one high school plan to devote their lives to practical aviation.

THE CHILD AT THE WHEEL

If anything were lacking to confirm the prevalent and rational belief that the child at the wheel of the automobile is a grave menace to the lives and limbs of people in street and highway it is supplied by recent accidents in which under-age drivers have played a conspicuous part.

In the report of one of these tragic affairs it was stated that the police had found the age of the driver whose car crashed into another vehicle with dire results was only 13, whereas the law permits no one to drive an automobile who is less than 14 years of age—a limit which many persons believe too low for the safety of the public.

Not infrequently one notes mere children driving in heavy traffic with all the assurance but little of the mental or physical equipment necessary to such a serious and responsible task. To see a boy or girl of 12 at the wheel of a big sedan maneuvering his car down a street thickly cluttered by vehicles of many kinds is not a sight to warrant one in the belief that his parents are the wisest persons in the world. He affords one of the best examples of the Wordsworthian idea of "a creature moving about in worlds not realized" to be found anywhere, though, of course, he is to be commended for his enterprise in undertaking a job so formidable for one of his age.

Motorists say that the child at the wheel gets by because of the care with which older drivers avoid collision with his car. Often he audaciously or unthinkingly insists upon the right of way at crossings where he is not entitled to it, but by giving him a wide berth other motorists avert disaster. Some parents who are fond of telling what wonderful drivers their small boys and girls are never take these things into consideration.

A peculiar and not very happy phase of our modern civilization is our concurrence in disregarding the laws of cause and effect. We provide all the machinery for the production of street and other tragedies, and when they occur we call them "accidents." And one of these provisions or preparations is the permission given by elders to mere children to drive automobiles.

TRAINING THE ALIENS

For her important work in aiding the State to assimilate its alien population Miss Ethel Richardson, assistant State Superintendent of Schools in charge of adult education, has received the Harmon Foundation medal. The citation is for the most distinguished contribution to the social, civil or industrial welfare of the United States. It is a high distinction, reflecting credit both upon the recipient and the State which she has so ably served.

Under Miss Richardson's administration more than 50,000 adults have been enrolled throughout the State during the past year for leisure-time study, chiefly alien men and women, eager to acquire the knowledge necessary to enable them to become genuine American citizens. Special care has been given to the training of mothers in the rearing of their children and the work has been extended even so far as to the women of labor camps in remote districts.

A noble peasantry, the poet observes, is its country's pride, but an educated citizenry is a nation's greatest safeguard, of special importance in a country like ours, where the ignorant immigrant of today may tomorrow, because of his native abilities, become the wielder of great financial or industrial power. There can be no doubt that the State has won the loyalty and gratitude of great numbers of foreign men and women by this work of better fitting them to grasp their opportunities and fulfill their responsibilities to the institutions under which they have elected to live.

California not only leads in this important work, but it is the only State employing the public-school facilities for the laudable purpose, and though we have large alien populations, the acute problem presented in many eastern cities which have failed to assimilate their aliens is entirely absent.

A DISAPPOINTMENT

By James J. Montague

I often have thought, as the orchestra brayed
A jazzy and jolting refrain,
That the pallid-faced boys who produced all that noise
Must shortly crack under the strain.
I thought these young men, after four or five years
Of toil that seemed simply appalling,
Would wear themselves out and start searching about
For some calmer and easier calling.
And so I looked forward, within a short time,
To a lull in the volume of sound,
To a break in the blare which makes vibrant the air
While the dancers are jazzing around.
"When the players are spent with their efforts," I said
They perforce must give over this riot,
And what time that they rest, all the world will be blessed
With a term of comparative quiet.
I felt rather selfish in hoping the lads
Who now are amassing great wealth
Would soon have to cease thus disturbing the peace—
Or break down forever their health.
Yet in spite of this fact I kept turning my ears
Toward the future that seemed to be looming,
When the drums would be mute, silent oboe and flute—
And the trombones would cease from their booming.
But now I am told that the efforts put forth in pursuit of this popular art
Are far better than pills in the healing of ills—
Being good for the lungs and the heart.
Musicians can play till their hair has turned gray
And never grow weary or jaded,
And I'm forced to admit that I'm miffed quite a bit—
That my fond expectations have faded!

Ancestors

TUJUNGA, June 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mdivani, the newly acquired husband of Pola Negri, is very much disturbed because some one has questioned his claim to the title of prince. At last reports he was loudly "telling the world" and displaying documentary evidence to show that his ancestors were honest-to-goodness, blue-blooded royalty.

But why need he bother?

When Marshal Ney was taunted with the fact that the imperial nobility lacked pedigree he proudly answered:

"We are ancestors."

So here in America we are too busy with the affairs of today to pay much attention to ancestors—our own or anybody's. "We are ancestors."

Split 'Em in Two

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Instead of very wide boulevards, which are dangerous to life in people trying to cross them, at points where there are no signals or traffic officers, and if we had traffic officers and signals it would delay traffic; why shouldn't the City Traffic Commission or the city improve, say, two medium-width streets running near each other?

In other words, say two fifty-foot or sixty-foot streets would be safer and easier for either pedestrians or other automobiles to cross than one say 100 feet broad. To demonstrate this just let some of the street planners or others try to cross, say, any busy 100-foot boulevard, where there are no signals or traffic officers, and it will be impossible to furnish these for all crossings, they will realize what I am driving at. The other advantage of two medium-width streets over a wide boulevard it gives two more rows of parking, which is and will always be a problem. Two medium-sized boulevards or streets not too far apart would relieve congestion, give a little more business zoning and distribute the assessments to a better advantage. I am only offering this as a suggestion and would like to hear through The Times from others. Economy, safety to life and relief of congestion sometimes have to be taken into consideration over beauty and appearances, and it's the happy medium that will satisfy most people, who have the bills to pay.

Movie Girls' Welfare Watched

Reports of immorality in connection with the hiring of girls for work as movie "extras" have been greatly exaggerated, declares Campbell MacCulloch in an article in Liberty. "The commonest charge," he points out, "is that the casting directors and their assistants offer girls work on the one-thing-for-another basis.

"Admittedly, instances of that sort of thing have existed, and I do not doubt that they still occur," the writer continues, "but I have known them to exist in other industries also, and the labor reports of a dozen States have dealt voluminously with similar conditions.

"The Labor Department of California is fully aware of the conditions surrounding the extra girl. Much legislation has been enacted in her behalf. I think the studios are inclined to learn backward in their efforts to protect women—as much for business reasons as anything else. In a business where the supply of embryo talent is twenty times the demand, it is surprising that conditions are not extraordinarily bad."

WHAT HUXLEY SAID

BY RANSOME SUTTON

III

Julian Huxley, England's great biologist, declares: "In matters biological we are just emerging from the age of mythology through a period of observation into one of experiment; and this in its turn is opening up visions of future control, hitherto undreamed of, over the processes of life itself. In the little domain with which we have been dealing we can see clearly held out to us, as the reward of patient labor, the possibility of prolonging the normal life of man and of robbing death, which so often shadows human thought, of the worst of its terrors."

Besides prolonging lives biologists are seeking to make life more worth the living. Well-born persons get more out of life, for example, than badly born persons. And all children are not born alike and equal. Thomas Jefferson to the contrary notwithstanding. Today biology is showing us the way to correct inborn tendencies. Take the pituitary gland; it is only about the size of a pea, but the growth of a child depends upon the way it works. If it secretes too much fluid the child will be overgrown. If it secretes too little the child will be dwarfish—mentally perhaps as well as physically.

Biologists are finding ways and means to make the glands function normally. A bit of thyroid extract injected into the veins of an expectant mother who has goitre may save her child from a similar affliction. An Austrian biologist, Steinach, rejuvenated senile men by grafting into them glands from younger animals, and they lived 40 per cent longer than average rats.

That there are numbers of internal glands devoted to the manufacture of hormones is said to be one of the most remarkable discoveries of biology. According to Sir Arthur Keith, "if all the glands of internal secretion were rolled together they would form a gland small enough to go into a waistcoat pocket, yet such a small mass can influence the working and growth of the whole body." These ductless glands send out hormones or chemical messengers, which circulate in the blood stream and stimulate the various organs to do their duty. They apply the match, then the oxygen fires in the various organs begin to burn. How do the milk glands, in all mammalian mothers, know just when to start manufacturing milk? The hormones carry the information.

Biologists have learned what some hormones do, but not exactly how they are. To find out how the glands all work is one of the dreams of men, like Crile of Cleveland, and Morgan of Columbia University, and mankind will be richer when their dreams come true.

A still more daring effort is just now being made—to learn how plants how they manufacture the carbon compounds, the sugars, starches and proteins that feed both kingdoms of life alike. Biologists believe we should be seriously the fact that, within 10 years, there may be more than to feed than the fields can supply. We plant potatoes and expect them to trap the sunshine and put the ingredients from the soil and air for the manufacture of starch. We even expect them to do the manufacturing. And this starch, being the sugars and fats and proteins constructed out of starch, are the actual fuel which keeps the fires of life burning in us.

What other hope could there be than to find out how the plant factories in green leaves work? Now we have to hoe corn and plow, reap and thresh by the sweat of our brows; whereas, if we could wrest from the plant the secret of its manufacturing process we would have time to improve our minds and enjoy ourselves. Then the fear of over-population would vanish, like other fears being stilled by banishing. We could then look to our laboratories for all the food mankind will ever need. And biologists and chemists, working together, are getting close to the secret. A very good grape juice is now made in laboratories. The world used to go to the yeast plant for alcohol; but, so far as the product is concerned, man has put the yeast plant out of business. Likewise indigo, vanillin (used in candy,) turkey red dye, oil of wintergreen (used in medicine) and quite a long list of other products were formerly produced exclusively by plants, whereas now they are made—better and cheaper—by man.

Thanks to biochemistry, man is also learning how animal protoplasm produces some of its own products. The sepia, used by painters to darken their pictures, formerly came from the ink with which cuttlefishes empty their water to cloak their retreat from enemies. Man makes his own sepia now. And he makes silk more expensively and almost to order as that produced by silkworms.

A long list of perfumes, heretofore produced by plants, are now made in laboratories. Geraniol, the chief ingredient of rose oil, roses, and the fragrance of many blossoms are artificially manufactured. And, if we had to depend entirely upon trees for timber, only rich people would be able to ride in automobiles.

Biology has a finger in almost every science. Biochemistry is studying life from a chemical standpoint. Biophysicists are working out the forces at work in living matter. Biopsychologists are looking for the link between mind and matter.

And all this has happened since in the memory of men now living. Apparently the poet was right: "The proper study of mankind is man."

It says 'Refrain From Rubbing.'"—Brazil Gazette.

FOREIGN TRADE AGENT CHOSEN

H. Smiley of Haverhill, Mass., Sent Here

Commerce Department Office Will Open Friday

Talks to Be Given Bankers, Exporters, Growers

Selection of James H. Smiley of Haverhill, Mass., to be manager of the district office of the Commerce Department in Los Angeles, which will be opened Friday, was announced yesterday by O. P. Hopkins, acting director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Mr. Smiley has been associated with foreign-trade work of the Commerce Department since 1921 when he entered the government service as a commercial agent in the Boston office; later; transferred to Philadelphia. In 1926 he was promoted to trade commissioner and sent abroad to conduct economic investigations. After two years' service in the Near East Mr. Smiley was returned to Washington and made assistant chief of the foreign service division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

The opening of a branch office at Los Angeles is part of the expansion program of the Commerce Department's foreign-trade promotive service, authorized by the last Congress. Offices, serve as a foreign-trade service bureau for Southern California, providing information to manufacturers and trade and farm organizations on the trade of the world and the chief commodities of those countries. Commerce Department representatives abroad, who send in this information service reports on specific sales opportunities, advise on packing, names of desirable agents, economical shipping routes, necessary documents, rates of customs duties, warehouse facilities in foreign countries and many other details essential to foreign trading.

Southern California ranks among the States. In 1926 exports abroad reached a total of $207,601,000 which represented an increase of almost $40,000,000 over figures of the preceding year. Petroleum products headed the list with shipments with a value of $50,000,000. Raisin shipments were valued at $11,000,000, oranges at $10,000,000, and prunes at more than $5,000,000. California fresh fruit is shipped throughout the world and the demand for it is increasing steadily. Europe and Latin America are large buyers of California products and even the Far East takes considerable quantities.

Exports from Arizona last year were valued at $8,924,000, raw cotton representing more than one-fourth of the shipments.

PILES of dresses, rompers and layettes are being assembled by Mexican girls of the home nursing and hygiene classes at American Red Cross headquarters, 610 Transportation Building, for use of the children of soldiers stationed along the Mexican border. The student nurses engaged in the work are from the Bronson Settlement House and have been taking the course in home-nursing offered by the Red Cross.

Truck Driver Charged With Hit-Run Habit

John Mathews, a truck driver giving the address of 2208 West Pico street, seemed to have formed a "hit-and-run" habit, according to a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ham and sworn to by Detective Lieutenants Freudenberg and Luke of the Georgia-street station.

The detectives reported to Mr. Ham that Mathews was released on probation for a previous hit-and-run case on May 23, last. They also said that last Saturday night he ran into the car of Jacob Gabler, 1222 West Twenty-third street, at Pico and Arapahoe streets, backed out his car and dashed away. The officers said he later was stopped at Washington and Burlington streets, after a chase, and after he had crashed into a second car, driven by J. Nedler, 2545 Carrallitas street. He was held by citizens until officers arrived and arrested him. A second count in the complaint charged driving while intoxicated.

INSANITY TEST FOR WOMAN IN POISONING

Three Nurses Seriously Ill After Drinking Doped Tea at Resthaven Home

Mrs. Sarah Jackson, 60 years of age, was taken to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital yesterday by deputy sheriffs following an asserted attempt to poison four occupants of the Resthaven Home at Montrose by the placing of poison in their tea. It was learned yesterday that Mrs. Jackson is a ward of the court under the guardianship of Mrs. Jean McCracken, psychopathic probation officer.

Mrs. Jackson is scheduled to appear before the Sanity Commission on Thursday for possible commitment to the Patton asylum.

It was reported to the County Health Officer that after drinking tea furnished by Mrs. Jackson, housekeeper at the place, three out of four persons for whom it was intended became ill. All are nurses in the sanatorium. They are Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Gould. Mr. Richards did not drink the tea and was not ill.

The condition of Edwin Hurst, 29 years of age, a civil engineer, who suffered a possible basal skull fracture early yesterday morning when he fell from a moving street car at Seventh street and Westlake avenue, was reported critical at the Good Samaritan Hospital last night. Hurst, according to a police report, fell to the pavement when he attempted to board the street car while it was in motion. He is employed by the Stone & Webster Construction Company. His home is at 743 Beacon street.

LIQUOR ROBBERY BRINGS ARRESTS

Two Bail Bondsmen Seized for Warehouse Theft

Secret Indictments Voted by Federal Grand Jury

Action Forecast for Today in Orange County Case

Two bail bondsmen, one a resident of Los Angeles and the other of Long Beach, were arrested yesterday by the United States Marshal's office on warrants issued under secret indictments returned by the Federal grand jury in its investigation of the robbery of the government liquor warehouse here on December 10, 1925.

James H. Lloyd, Los Angeles bondsman, surrendered yesterday to United States Marshal Sittel. A few hours later Deputy United States Marshal Finn arrested Bruce Butler in Long Beach. Both men are being held under bonds of $10,000.

According to government officials, Lloyd was the man who posed as deputy sheriff the night the government warehouse was entered by armed men and 700 cases of confiscated liquor stolen. Butler is said to have been in possession of part of the stolen liquor.

The United States Attorney's office yesterday was completing plans for winding up its three-cornered liquor investigation before the grand jury, which is to meet today. Today's session will be the final one of the present grand jury.

It was reported at the Federal Building that the grand jury had completed its investigation of smuggling activities in Orange county, but there are several angles in connection with the theft of liquor from the Orange County Jail to be taken up.

Several indictments in connection with the Orange county liquor thefts are expected to be returned today.

Motion Delays Auto Murder Case Sentence

Sentence of Pat Goidacan, first asserted "hit-and-run" automobile driver ever to be convicted in California of murder, was continued yesterday by Judge Craig to July 5 when counsel for Goidacan filed motion for a new trial.

The jury that heard the testimony in the case found Goidacan guilty of second-degree murder, which carries a penalty of from ten years to life in the State penitentiary.

Retired Rail Man Designer of Safety Sign

Thousands of highway travelers in all parts of the world today hail Thomas H. Grey, Southern Pacific pensioner retired after almost forty-one years' service, as father of highway safety.

THOMAS H. GREY

In 1904, while working in the railroad's car repair shops at San Francisco, Grey designed the now familiar cross-arm railroad crossing sign. The first of these signs, on a redwood standard eighteen feet high was used to mark a railroad crossing in San Francisco.

Within a few months the new type of crossing sign was in general use throughout the United States, and at the end of ten years its use has spread to European countries and to Japan. Today it is familiar wherever there are railroads, warning vehicle and foot passengers to "Stop, Look and Listen."

Grey, retired and living quietly at Burlingame, makes frequent visits to Los Angeles and says that he has the satisfaction of knowing the sign has saved many lives and prevented thousand of accidents.

Warning Issued for Dealers in Narcotics Here

Less than 25 per cent of the dealers of narcotics in Southern California have obtained the new special tax stamps for the fiscal year beginning July 1, it was announced yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Welch.

Unless the new special tax stamps are obtained before July 1, Mr. Welch stated, a 25 per cent penalty will be added. The law also provides that a heavy fine and imprisonment for five years may be imposed for violation of the law. Mr. Welch stated that he believes most of the dealers merely have been careless in renewing their tax stamps and do not realize the serious consequences of delay.

ORIENTAL HOMES MENACED

Preponderance of Men of Race Here Causes Broken Hearts in Old Triangle Problem

The growing menace of the eternal triangle in the Japanese colony in Los Angeles has added a new problem for the City Mothers' Bureau to cope with.

"There are 15,000 more Japanese men than Japanese women in Los Angeles alone," City Mother Gilbert said, "and we are confronted more and more with the problem of broken oriental homes. The law will not allow any more Japanese women to come here, so some of the Japanese men just break into a countryman's home and carry off his wife, not by force, however. Ofttimes little children are left and the problem really is serious."

HOPE FOR FAMILY

Mrs. Gilbert had before her yesterday one such instance. In it a 5-year-old Japanese girl and loving Nipponese father and husband is affected at least a start toward mending a broken home and hearts.

Ichishi Kabayshi, a gardener, and his wife, Hamaye, lived together happily at 6125 De Longpre street. Last December Ichishi went home one evening and his wife was gone. But bit by bit he learned from his child Chitose, that her mother had gone away with a man who had "waxed and coaxed" until the mother yielded. He learned enough from the baby girl to give him a clew, and he presented the matter to the authorities with an offer of $50 reward. His kindness to his baby was touching, Mrs. Deane Harris, assistant city mother, said.

COUPLE ARRESTED

Eventually Police Officers Clinton and Powell found the mother and George Toyota in rooms over a garage at 1415 Arapahoe street. Clinton recognized the woman on the street in Hollywood from a picture of her printed in the Police Bulletin. The two were arrested and placed in jail.

Toyota will be tried before Municipal Judge Wilson tomorrow and the woman before Municipal Judge Blake, July 12. They face immorality charges.

Keeping A Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

© 1927 Pacific Beauty Features

The only RIGHT soap for you is a complexion soap

MANY soaps may be good for laundering or household use, but you'd hardly expect them to excel for personal uses as well. Hence those wise in beauty culture warn against touching the face with any but a true complexion soap.

For today the important rule in keeping skin clean and pores open with soap and water lies in using a complexion soap. One made primarily for facial use. Soaps intended for other things are apt to be too harsh for the skin.

Thus, largely on expert advice, millions use Palmolive Soap, made of cosmetic oils, for one purpose only—to protect and beautify the skin.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Rinse with warm water; then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little good cold cream. That is all—it's nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Do that regularly, and particularly before bed. Never let powder, rouge or make-up remain on your skin over night. Note how much better your skin in even one week.

Get Palmolive today. Costs but 10c a cake. Use no other on your face. But be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Crude imitations, represented to be of olive and palm oils, are not the same as Palmolive. Remember that and take care. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U.S.A.

Photograph of a sane man phoning to his dentist

CLEAN"

HE is not scared. His sound sense tells him to see his dentist twice a year—and in the meantime, he keeps his teeth clean.

You couldn't frighten him into using a dentifrice. Since boyhood he has known that the surest way to healthy teeth and strong teeth is clean teeth. When he chooses his dentifrice he selects one made to clean—one made with the sole purpose of cleaning, and cleaning better.

Most people use the same dentifrice he uses. Most dentists recommend that same dentifrice. It is Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream—designed by Colgate & Co. with the express purpose of doing the one thing that leading dental authorities agree a dentifrice must do.

Ribbon Dental Cream is made to clean teeth, and it cleans them better by the following method: As you brush, it breaks into a sparkling, bubbling foam; in this foam is calcium carbonate, a finely ground powder that loosens clinging food particles, and polishes all tooth surfaces. Next, this foam, in a detergent, washing wave, sweeps over teeth, tongue, gums—washing all surfaces, removing the very causes of tooth decay.

SOCIETY

With the last two days of June at hand, several brilliant weddings are scheduled. This afternoon in the gardens of St. Elizabeth's Church in Altadena, Miss Helenita Constance Kenealy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Kenealy of West Twenty-fourth street, will become the bride of Charles Howard Traunsweiser of Calgary, Canada. Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell officiating in the presence of several hundred relatives and friends.

An informal reception in the gardens will follow the ceremony after which the bridal party and relatives will motor to the home of the bride's parents for the wedding supper.

Miss Muriel Kenealy will assist her sister as maid of honor while another sister, Miss Alicia Kenealy, and Lubel Northcote will be the bridesmaids and Mr. Kenealy will give his daughter in marriage. Leighton Dudley of Santa Monica will serve Mr. Traunsweiser as best man and the ushers will be Richard Ryerson Stadelman, and George Barr Brown.

After a wedding trip Mr. Traunsweiser will take his bride to Calgary where they will make their future home.

Miss Kenealy is graduated from St. Mary's Academy and also in a Chi Omega at University of California at Los Angeles while Mr. Traunsweiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Traunsweiser, attended the University of California at Los Angeles and is affiliated with the Zeta fraternity.

Mrs. Traunsweiser came from her northern home to attend her son's wedding and is the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dudley at their home in Santa Monica for an indefinite visit.

Garden Ceremony

One of the loveliest of the summer weddings was that of last evening when at half past eight o'clock Miss Mary Frances Harwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Harwood, was the dainty bride, her marriage to John Maclaren Marble son of Mr. and Mrs. John Emerson Marble being solemnized in the lovely gardens of the Harwood home in San Marino, with Rev. Robert Freeman, D. D., officiating. The decorations were charmingly carried out with potted plants, and thousands of gladioli while in the reception room where the bridal party stood after the ceremony a profusion of butterfly roses and ferns were used.

The ceremony took place on the terrace of the gardens before a background of potted plants and growing shrubs and hundreds of candles twinkled amidst the foliage. Preceding the ceremony a musical program was given by Adolf Tandler and his orchestra and Leon Rice sang, while Charles Wakefield Cadman played his own wedding march as the bride and her attendants came down the flower bordered aisle. Mr. Harwood gave his daughter in marriage, the wedding gown of white satin having been brought by her from Paris. It was elaborately trimmed with pointe applique lace, and the court train of the lace was worn by both her mother and maternal grandmother, Mrs. James L. Paul on their wedding gowns. The veil of tulle was held in place by orange blossoms and she carried an arm shower of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Marian Nichols assisted as maid of honor in a frock of all shades of green georgette and carried an armfull of yellow roses. The other attendants, Miss Miriam Marble, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Catherine Harwood, sister of the bride, Mrs. Sanford Ballau of Ontario, Miss Mary McKenna of Upland, Miss Mildred Barnes of Kansas, and Miss Catherine Harwood of New York City, cousin of the bride, wore frocks fashioned alike of pastel shades of pink georgette and carried flowers to match their frocks.

Little Margaret and Frances Paul, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Paul of Upland, cousins of the bride, were flower girls.

Robert Marble assisted his brother as best man and Paul Harwood, Boyd Everett, Earl Cairns, William Jackson, Giles Hall and Gail Johnson Burck were the ushers.

A reception and wedding supper followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Marble left in their machine for Monterey for a month's honeymoon and they will make their future home in Cambridge, Mass., where Mr. Marble has accepted a position with the administration offices of the business school of Harvard University, from which he has just been graduated.

Mrs. Marble is an alumna of Stanford University and is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Mrs. Harwood received her guests in a gown of black lace over flesh chiffon while Mrs. Marble, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink lace gown.

LOS ANGELES BANK THEFT CONFESSED

Youth in Texas Will be Returned Here as Result of Confession There

Preparations were being made late yesterday by Chief of Detectives Cline to send officers to Houston, Tex., to bring back J. H. McWilliams, who was reported to have confessed that he is the lone motorcycle bandit who, May 25, last, held up the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings branch bank at 1835 South Main street, while a police officer and three bank examiners were present, and escaped with $699.

As there is no local police record showing that a man by the name of McWilliams is wanted for robbery, Houston police were requested to wire the suspect's description. According to dispatches from the Texas city, the youth is supposed to have made the confession voluntarily, after being picked up there on a minor charge.

The robbery of the branch bank was one of cool daring. While Officer Dorchak and three bank examiners were standing not more than forty feet away, the bandit presented J. Spencer, teller, with a note demanding all of the money in sight. Under cover of his coat he threatened the teller with a revolver. Having obtained the money the bandit succeeded in running out of the bank and driving away on a motorcycle before other occupants than the teller were aware of what had happened. Officer Dorchak gave chase in a commandeered automobile, but lost the fugitive in traffic.

CALVES' BRAINS IN TOMATO SAUCE

Two sprigs of parsley, calves' brains, one onion, one bay leaf, grated bread crumbs.

Plunge the brains into cold water to disgorge them of all blood and remove the fine skin and veins that surround them. Then blanche with scalding water. In five minutes take them out of the hot water and put them into a saucepan and cover with cold water. Add a tiny onion, sliced fine; parsley and bay leaf, whole. Let them simmer gently for five minutes. Then take from the fire and drain. When cold, cut into pieces an inch square, dip these in a batter of tomato sauce, and then in grated bread crumbs, patting gently. Drop into boiling shortening and fry to a golden brown. Take out and drain of grease and serve on a bed of fried parsley.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

INHERITED FAT?

"Dear Doctor: You certainly are deserving of a few words of praise from me, and here they are. I can never thank you enough for the wonderful results I have had from Petersizing. Ten months ago I sent my little ole ten cents and self-addressed stamped envelope for your booklet on reducing and gaining. The day I received it I weighed the terrible load of 208 pounds. Today I weigh 142—sixty-four pounds lost! Isn't that something to be thankful for? Never again will I be so foolish to think I 'inherited' my fat.—Mrs. W."

Good! I'm glad that you reduced and are through with that delusion about inherited fat. There was a paper given by Dr. Stewart Roberts at the recent American Medical Association convention in Washington, on the pernicious effects of overweight on the heart; he stated that a large percentage of those overweight were constitutionally so, and thus inherited it, and many of them were small eaters.

I discussed this paper, and—after I had commented on some of the many fine points of it—I told the thousand or more assembled doctors that there were two points I violently disagreed with, and they were inheritance of fat and the small appetites of the overweighters! I brought out the fact that it wasn't always the total quantity of the food, but the total number of calories consumed, that constituted overeating. In other words, quality counted as much as quantity; and I didn't believe that fat is inherited any more than scarlet fever is inherited. Children who have fat members in the family are exposed to the same type of concentrated food that those members like and eat, and, as every one knows, children learn to like the same foods they see their elders eat.

The doctors know that I have had a very extensive experience in dealing with reducing patients, so I hope that my disagreement with Dr. Roberts will be instrumental in stopping the lot of them—who are normal weight themselves and so don't know from personal experience—talking about inherited fat and the small appetite myth, for it ... ery of very many ... weight.

Republican Study Club

"I christen you Cal." With these words Mrs. Florence Collins Porter emptied a vial of perfume over the head of the elephant that stood on its wooden pedestal serenely unconscious of the great dignity that was being bestowed upon it. The christening of the G.P.O. symbol was the major event of the all-day provacation picnic held Friday by the Republican Study Club of Los Angeles at the Deauville Beach Club. Mrs. E. C. Magauran, president, began the ceremony by giving the reins of the affair into the hands of Mrs. Ida Koverman, chairman of entertainment, who in turn gave Mrs. Buron Fitts the honor of introducing "Reverend Doctor Porter," as the president emeritus was dubbed for the day. The significance of "Cal" as the affectionate name of a great nation's leader as well as that of a great State was carried throughout the christening, as the elephant was respectfully draped in the colors of the country and stood beneath a picture of President Calvin Coolidge. The Rev. Dr. Porter spoke briefly and seriously and wittily, not only on the strength of the jungle leader but on the spiritual interpretation accorded it by many. More than 200 women listened to her address.

Peanut and hurdle races, amusing questionnaires and a tongue-twisting spelling bee were among the festivities marking the day as one to be remembered. There were ten stunts in all with three prizes given in each; one for the best, second best and worst. Mrs. Magauran gave many of the prizes, some of which were salt and pepper shakers in the form of small elephants, books and several more elephants. There were three point prizes, which were won by Mrs. J. J. Berry, winning the first, which was a three months' pass for two to the Loew's State Theater, given through the courtesy of Rasty Wright; Mrs. W. E. Evans winning the second, which was a book chosen and given by Ralph Arnold; and Mrs. Mary Vrooman winning the third, which was a handsome bit of statuary given by Mrs. Koverman. Lieut.-Gov. Buron Fitts also gave a book, to be the objective of one of the contests.

Among the other winners were Mmes. L. M. Brown, Lucy B. Nathan, Leone G. Plum, Ralston, S. H. Creager, Margaret Hudson, Latham, Hattie B. McMillan, Cora M. Ambrose, C. R. Hopewell, C. W. Gries, G. Etta Ransom, R. G. Terrell and Miss Vera Coons.

Overseas Service League

Tonight at the Beaux Arts, Beacon and Eighth streets, the Los Angeles unit of the Women's Overseas Service League will sponsor a program in which Mme. Ina Diligenti will appear as "The Lady of Mystery."

Miss Frances K. Eales, president of W.O.S.L., also announces the presentation of Countess d'Audiffret, author-actress, who served as a nurse with the American Hospital at Neuilly during the war, and since then has devoted her time and talent to presenting plays and pageants in Europe, Canada and the United States for the benefit of war orphans, in the title role of "The Lady of Mystery."

The performance, to which all friends of the local unit of the Women's Overseas Service League are cordially invited as their guests, will serve to reintroduce Mme. Diligenti to the theatrical world and to the theater-going public.

Active on the committee, whose appreciation of Countess d'Audiffret's rare charm and ability have made them particularly interested in staging her performance, is Miss Margaret Bourne, a local actress, who recently has resumed her dramatic career after an interruption caused by several years of war work in France. Miss Bourne, a member of the W.O.S.L., played the Queen Regent in "Castles in the Air," and the part of Calpurnia in the Hollywood Bowl production of "Julius Caesar." Also on the committee are Miss Florence Crosier, Miss Elisabeth Hill, Miss Anne Dunderdale, Mrs. Rose Connelly, Miss Freida Grosser and Mrs. Belle Cooley.

Matinee Musical Club

Members of the Matinee Musical Club who have entertained many distinguished guests of honor at its luncheons and programs, will themselves be favored in that manner tomorrow afternoon, when the cast of the "Geisha" company will be hosts and hostesses to the club women at an informal tea in the foyer of Wilkes Vine-street Theater after the matinee. Raymond Hitchcock and Miss Virginia Fiohri, the stars, and W. G. Stewart, the manager, will be assisted by the other members of the opera company in greeting the club gathering. Mrs. Louise Heydenreich, Matinee Musical's newly elected president, presented the "Geisha" company principals to the guests at the closing luncheon of the club given at the Ambassador recently.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

POISONING FROM MILK PROTEIN

There are some few children who cannot drink milk without showing positive signs that it disagrees. This does not mean just a milk "upset," which may be due to a wrong formula, to too much milk, or too rich milk, but the illness which is due to milk poisoning. Doctors understand that this exists in some few children and their method of combatting it is to feed the milk in drop doses, gradually increased until the child acquires an immunity to the milk, or by inoculation of milk protein just as one is inoculated against the action of certain diseases. The following letter suggests still another method which I failed to mention in the article on milk poisoning, and which is an excellent one.

THE USE OF OTHER MILKS THAN FRESH MILK

Mrs. R. N. R. writes: "This letter is prompted by your article on milk protein poisoning with the hope that I can, through your column, help the reader whose baby is subject to it. My 3-year-old daughter has this idiosyncrasy and it caused me months of worry before I determined what it was and solved the diet problem. Most physicians doubt that a mother has tried every form of milk and every way of giving it or even that milk is poisonous to the child. A recent article by a doctor reveals that practically every article of food is poison to some person, but it is hard to make people, even well-informed people, believe it of milk.

"No amount of 'drop' doses would immunize my girl. The only other suggestion was inoculation as that for hay fever, etc., but the family physician advised against it. What I have discovered is that the child can take evaporated milk. This solves the cooking problem and can be used with flavored malt drinks, cocoa, etc. Unfortunately milk is so universally used that it is difficult to avoid and as the child gets older, people will give her things to eat (I wish more of them had read your article on the subject.) I can not watch her every moment and it will be several years before I can be certain that she will not accept what is offered. I have has to supply her with protein in vegetables. I believe that many deaths from diarrhea are due to doctors refusing to believe that milk is to blame. I'll admit I found it hard to convince myself. What do you think of inoculation? My doctor does not believe in it, but it is a trial to have the child suffer with occasional attacks of diarrhea, disturbed sleep and skin eruptions when she eats something which contains milk."

Answer: I see no reason why the inoculation would hurt the child, and it might do a lot of good, especially now since she is getting along with evaporated milk and needs only to be immunized against the small amount of milk she gets accidentally. Incidentally, dried milk can often be taken when fresh milk cannot.

Architect Says Building Laws Give Character

The height of a city's office buildings determines the size and character of its business district, and the limit - height ordinance of the city of Los Angeles is giving this city a distinctive character, according to W. P. Day of the architectural firm of Weeks & Day, San Francisco, who is spending the summer in Southern California.

Mr. Day, who has designed many of San Francisco's skyscrapers and now is working on the twenty-two-story Huckins Hotel, says that limit heights for office buildings have nothing whatever to do with safety, as taller buildings are as safe as lower ones. The determining factor, he says, is whether a city wants to spread out or concentrate.

A theoretical advantage of spreading, according to Mr. Day, is that it lessens congestion.

Mr. and Mrs. Day are at Arrowhead Springs to remain indefinitely.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

FATHER DEAR

When a college boy entertained a few friends recently I was particularly interested in one bright girl whose eager alert little face and charming manners made her so popular.

"She is studying art at college and doing so well," I was told. "And she is clever at sports, too, plays a corking good game of tennis and swims like a fish."

So, altogether, I decided she was a most desirable type of modern girl, and began wondering about her family.

And I have discovered that her father is a mail-man, and has been for twenty-two years. Her mother is quiet, earnest little woman who keeps their modest home twinkling with cleanliness. But it was the father who stood out as the arch-hero. For this father is crippled and walks his daily miles with a painful lurch. when he isn't driving an amazing old 1913 Ford. And this little girl is but one of five children—all bright, intelligent, attractive youngsters and doing their parents infinite credit in school. Father is tremendously proud of his college girl art student. He has been told that art doesn't necessarily pay very well and several neighbors advised him sending her to business college and making a stenographer out of her, but father wasn't going to squelch any spark of genius that showed up in his family.

Now it must so obviously have entailed weary years of faithful affection, any amount of extraordinary sacrifice, self-control, and brilliant economizing for this mail-man, handicapped as he is, to have provided for and raised a delightful family like this. It must have meant unfailing good temper, deep, affectionate understanding, even much precious wisdom to have achieved a family life like this and fine children like this on a mail-man's salary. It must have been extraordinary devotion day in and day out through the years, and precious little thought for his own personal welfare.

"But you are such a bright fellow, why didn't you get out of this mail-carrying job and into something better?" he was asked.

"Couldn't afford to take any risk with my little brood," laughs father. A sure steady job and wages were safer than fancy ambitions and possible risk. Besides, my kids will undertake all the progress for the family. I wanted to be an artist but never had the chance. But if my little girl can be an artist—well, that's all right with me. I get in on the art somewhere. Oh, I used to have all sorts of fancy ambitions all right," he grinned, "but I guess mail-carrying was meant to be my life work. And we've got along all right, haven't we, mother?" he asks his quiet little spouse.

And, of course, that is success. That father, for all his unprepossessing appearance, his modest job, his lame leg, is a gloriously successful hero. He is achieving a sumptuous victory, creating triumphs all along the way. There won't be any medals awaiting him. There won't be any banquets at which his prowess and courage and achievements are the subject of fulsome oratory. He is unlikely to leave his children any money. But he has equipped them with good health, happy intelligence, a fine education and produced citizens of which any nation would be proud.

And the world is full of hero-fathers like this. We don't hear much about them, because their ability and devotion are accepted so much as a matter of course. But when one realizes how many men cannot even support themselves, it is surely a sumptuous triumph for a man to support and successfully raise five children besides himself and his wife . . . seven people decently sheltered, clothed, fed on a mail-man's salary.

DYE SHOP EMPLOYEES WALK OUT

City Plant's Refusal to Talk Unionization Brings Strike, But Work Goes On

Without expressing any grievance other than that the management of the plant declined to hold a conference with representatives of the union looking toward unionization of the plant, about 100 employees of the City Dye Works at 3000 Central avenue walked out yesterday noon, leaving about 115 loyal employees on the job. The management closed down the plant for the afternoon, but announced that it expected to reopen the plant this morning, there being many qualified people ready to take up the work.

C. M. Brannan, president and general manager of the plant, stated last night that business as usual will be observed and that he does not anticipate any difficulty in handling the customary volume of business, as other retail plants in the city have volunteered to assist in carrying on until a full force has been recruited.

For some months there has been a movement on foot to organize the metal cleaning and dyeing business in this city, and the union finally singled out the City Dye Works as the key plant against which to launch its offensive, open-shop officials say. The union quietly organized 100 of the plant's employees and then pulled the out yesterday when Manager Brannan declined to meet union officials in a conference.

Some time ago, when trouble was anticipated, C. A. Pultz, general manager of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, took charge of the situation and made plans for handling the emergency when it should arise.

"The City Dye Works has been open shop," said Mr. Pultz last night, "and it is going to continue on an open-shop basis. The strike shows no particular strength on the part of the unions, and the Merchants and Manufacturers anticipate that before the end of the week normal conditions will prevail in the plant and the open-shop principle in the cleaning and dyeing business of this city will be stronger than for a long time."

Judgment on Actor in East Refused Here

A suit to collect $1670 on a New York judgment against Francis X. Bushman, film actor, came up before Judge Bishop in Superior Court yesterday on a motion for judgment on the pleadings.

The plaintiff is Suzzane Devoyod of the State Theater, Paris, who asserted that after $3150 had been advanced to Bushman to cover the cost of a trip to France to appear in a film production, he had failed to go, and had returned only $1450 of the money.

Judge Bishop denied the motion and advised that the case be given regular trial. It was stated the New York court already had found judgment for the plaintiff.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Jacqueline Logan, film actress, will be the guest of honor at Brandstatter's Hollywood Montmartre Cafe this evening in celebration of Motion Picture Night. Miss Logan is now appearing in Cecil B. De Mille's production "The King of Kings," now showing at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

A noteworthy vaudeville entertainment has been arranged for the occasion by Eddie Brandstatter in conjunction with Lou Erickson, leader of the new Montmartre orchestra.

One of the features of the evening's entertainment will be dancing contest being held under the auspices of Mandel's, Inc., with the lady of the winning team receiving an order for gloves or silk hosiery. The prize for the grand finals will consist of a pair of evening slippers. Miss Logan will judge the dancing contest and also award the prize to the winning couple.

The international aviation peace jubilee to be held in Santa Ana will extend over that date and an influx of visitors and tourists is expected.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Hardened Brushes

When paint brushes have become hardened and stiff through disuse, put some vinegar in an old can, put the brushes in and boil for about ten minutes. The brushes will come out soft and pliable.

Rusty Keys

Rusty keys can be cleaned if left in a saucer containing kerosene for a few days. The oil will loosen the rust, which will then rub off quickly.

Safe Furs

If you are doubtful as to moths, send your fur coat and valuable furs to a furrier for the summer months. The storage is very little and worth the damage one small moth could do

The Famed "Black Bottom"

Grease cake tins with lard rather than butter. Butter is inclined to make the cakes stick and become blackened on the bottoms.

Scaling Fish

Hold the fish under running water while scaling it. This will prevent the scales from scattering. Begin at the tail of the fish and scrape towards the head.

Longer Wear

The economical buy in bed linen is half-bleached linen. It is very much stronger than the bleached linen and will become absolutely white in a very few washings.

Better Bread

Never put fresh bread in the box containing stale bread. It will take away its nice fresh taste in a short time. Keep the bread box cleaned out and there will be no difficulties of this sort.

The Best Flavor

The safest way to make successful pastry is to always use freshly-bought shortening, saving the remainder for frying purposes. Nothing will spoil the flavor of pie crust more than stale or even slightly stale shortening.

STREET PLANS GIVEN IMPETUS

Eight Projects Approved by City Councilmen

Ordinances Sanctioned Due to Tenth-Street Case

Other Work Will be Speeded as Result of Ruling

As a result of the city's victory in the Supreme Court in the Tenth-street widening case, City Attorney Stephens yesterday presented to the City Council ordinances for eight important Major Traffic Plan street widenings and they were adopted. Additional ordinances which have been held pending the outcome of the Tenth-street case will be presented to the Council this morning.

The ordinances presented and adopted yesterday authorized the following street openings and widenings:

Blauson avenue from Central avenue to Figueroa street; Baltimore streets from Avenue 50 to Avenue 51; Allesandro street from the Los Angeles County Flood Control channel to Whitmore avenue; Franklin avenue from Gower street to Argyle avenue; Ninth street for a distance of 300 feet west of the Ninth-street viaduct; Eastern avenue from Huntington Drive south to Alhambra avenue; La Brea avenue from Washington Boulevard to Exposition Boulevard.

The Supreme Court decision in the Tenth-street case validated not alone the proceedings in this widening but also put the stamp of approval on the city's method of street widening thus enabling the Council to proceed with ordinances for the streets to be widened in accordance with the Major Traffic Street Plan approved by the voters two years ago.

POSTAL CLERK GIVEN SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

After severely reprimanding him for violation of his oath of loyalty to the government, United States District Judge James yesterday sentenced Jess W. Hinds, former postoffice clerk in a Hollywood substation, to six months in the County Jail. Hinds was arrested by postoffice inspectors three weeks ago for the asserted embezzlement of $49 of postal funds. Hinds entered a plea of guilty when he appeared in court.

By Painless Parker

MY principles are to do all the good I can for others and for myself at the same time. I am in the dental business to make money and to give the people good dentistry.

My associates and I use the E. R. Parker System, which is the only plan ever invented to make fine dentistry possible at a fair price. I am not a "cheap" man and don't believe in anything "cheap." But I do claim to do work as well as anybody can do it, often better, and to be able to do it for much less than the dentist who works alone in the old expensive way.

When we treat over a hundred thousand patients a year, we can well afford to work for lower prices than those who treat maybe a hundred patients a year.

When you think of TEETH think of PARKER.

WIFE TELLS OF MATE'S RUSE

There was a man named Smith, according to Elizabeth E. Pierce, in whose intentions Ruel S. Pierce placed no confidence whatever. She told about it yesterday in a divorce complaint.

Pierce, she said, driven by suspicion, dressed himself up as nearly like Smith as he could. Smith was a pipe smoker, so Pierce, his wife said, got a pipe, too, and clutched it between his teeth.

Thus arrayed, she related, he walked up and down in front of her store. He beckoned at her, and Mrs. Pierce, pleased by this manifestation of interest, waved back, she said. On the basis of this mutual misapprehension, Pierce accused her of flirting and caused her grievous mental anguish, and now she wants a divorce and allimony of $350 a month. She said their community property includes a bakery and a chain of retail bakery stores in Pasadena.

YALE MAN IN ADDRESS ON LEAGUE

City Club Audience Told Work for World Health Has Aided Peace Cause

Public health work has become one of the chief factors in bringing the nations of the world into closer harmony, Dr. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale University told members of the Southern California branch of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association at a meeting yesterday at the City Club.

Dr. Winslow told of the work of the League of Nations in promoting health on an international scale. The League, he stated, has found its public health activities had proved a tremendous asset in stimulating the desire for peace and friendship among all nations, due to the fact that health work lends itself so readily to internationalism. Virtually all civilized nations, he stated, are now banded together in war against disease.

The health committee of the League, he said, deals with emergency situations over the entire world. He cited its activities in the fight against malarial conditions in Southeastern Europe and sleeping sickness in Africa. The committee also is devoting special study to cancer, tuberculosis and other organic diseases and has made vital contributions as a result of its researches. It is conducting an international program of school hygiene and establishing a system of interchange of sanitary personnel, so that the best methods devised by one nation or State can be passed on to all sister nations.

In the afternoon, Dr. Winslow again addressed the popular section of the Public Health Institute at Patriotic Hall. He expressed the hope that plans for educational foundations for public health would meet with practical response.

Other speakers at the institute yesterday were Dr. N. M. Woods, superintendent of the General Hospital, Miss Agnes Talcott, superintendent of nurses of the City Health Department, and Dr. Charles D. Lockwood of Pasadena.

Mrs. Sun Yat-Sen, widow of the late leader of the Koumintang party in China, is a graduate of Wesleyan University, Macon, Ga.

MAY SETTLE DIFFICULTIES

First National, Colleen Moore and John McCormick Said to Have Reached Settlement of Dispute; Lars Hanson Cast for Second Sea-Going Role

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

While the war between John McCormick, Colleen Moore and First National Pictures isn't over by any means, I'm sure the dove of peace is waiting to drop an olive branch on the big studio out Burbank way.

Colleen Moore

Although all transactions between McCormick, erstwhile manager of First National, his wife, Colleen Moore, and studio executives have been persistently shrouded in all secrecy, I was informed last night of a pending new arrangement.

At a directors' meeting in New York of First National it was tentatively agreed, according to report, that Miss Moore, who is one of the foremost feminine drawing cards in motion pictures, should be permitted to make her pictures independent of the company, at a different studio under the production supervision of McCormick.

I learned that since Miss Moore's contract called for the personal supervision of McCormick, she considered her agreement automatically voided when her husband resigned from the company, thus making him unavailable for her vehicles. The Colleen Moore contract called for four pictures a year at a fee of $125,000 per picture.

The little star is now to receive $50,000 more for each film, or $700,000 annually, under the new arrangement, according to my informant. This will make her probably the second feminine star in point of earnings. Gloria Swanson's United Artists' contract being placed at $875,000 a year.

In addition, McCormick is to figure in a participation of the net profits of the films he supervises and, although the present Moore contract calls for five pictures before the termination of her stellar tenure, the new agreement will provide for her remaining a First National star for some years to come with McCormick possibly making two specials a year for the company in addition to the Moore features, one of which at least, "Lilac Time," will be in the special classification.

It is expected that the new arrangement will be effected this week and that Miss Moore and Mr. McCormick will forego their proposed European jaunt and return to Hollywood next week to resume production here.

Sea-Going Role Again

It seems that Lars Hanson does his best dramatic work while sailing the bounding main. Perhaps this isn't strange, for there is quite some water surrounding Sweden, the actor's native land. At any rate, following his tremendous success as the sea-going parson in "Captain Salvation," Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer has cast him for the much - coveted role in "Buttons," Jackie Coogan's starring vehicle of the trans - Atlantic merchant marine. The role is the important character part of the picture and potentially one of the most interesting Hanson has been offered since his arrival in America.

LARS HANSON

Jackie plays a page boy on a big British liner, many of the scenes of which will actually be filmed aboard such a vessel, it is promised. Hanson plays the captain, idol of the small boy.

George Hill, who has two recent box-office hits to his credit in "Tell It to the Marines" and "The Callahans and the Murphys," is directing "Buttons."

'Tis a Secret

Although this is supposed to be one of the deepest secrets on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, it is known that John Stahl is in the midst of retaking a number of scenes on "Old Heidelberg," which Ernst Lubitsch recently completed for this organization. Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer are the stars.

According to report, some of the powers that be at M.-G.-M. were not entirely satisfied with a number of sequences, and it is these that Stahl is remaking.

Ernst Lubitsch's contract especially stipulated that no one was to work on the picture unless he were present, but he is said to have cabled from Berlin permission for takes to be made.

Lubitsch is in Germany for the purpose of making exterior scenes of Heidelberg University, which will be incorporated in the completed feature.

Honest-to-Goodness Fighter

The fight in "One Round Hogan," on which Monte Blue starts work at Werners' early next month, will be no pink-tea affair. No less muscular a person than Frank Hagney, noted Australian athlete and boxer, has been signed to play opposite the star. Leila Hyams, who has given such a good account of herself in recent Warner features, will be Monte's leading lady.

MONTE BLUE

Howard Bretherton, who has directed Monte's last two pictures, will again be in charge of the megaphone in the forthcoming opus.

Must Pinch Pennies

Now poor Gertrude Ederle, the very same Trudy who conquered the English Channel, will be hit by the much-discussed economy wave in motion pictures when she arrives here Friday to take up her work before the camera.

Trudy signed a contract with Paramount a short time ago to appear with Bebe Daniels in "Swim, Girl, Swim," and, according to Paramount officials, she will not waste a moment in getting to the studio. In fact, a make-up man will board the train at San Bernardino Friday morning, and just as soon as the breakfast grapefruit has been consumed, Miss Ederle will be given her first tussle with the grease paint. She will be met at the train and whisked away to Long Beach where Bebe Daniels and the rest of the company will be awaiting her arrival.

Another Talented Schildkraut

All of the acting ability in the Schildkraut family is not vested in papa Rudolph Schildkraut and son, Joseph, apparently. Mrs. Joseph Schildkraut, known professionally as Elise Bartlett, seems destined to gather some screen laurels on her own account. She has just been cast in a featured role in Leatrice Joy's starring picture, "The Angel of Broadway," a De Mille production.

Miss Bartlett recently completed a prominent role in "Harp In Hock," which featured her father-in-law, Rudolph Schildkraut. Although this was her first screen role, she is said to have given such a splendid performance that she was cast for an important characterization in "The Angel of Broadway," an original story by Lenore J. Coffee.

Miss Bartlett, you remember, played in the recent production of "The Firebrand" at the El Capitan.

Shimmy Queen On Way

Gertrude Ederle is not the only feminine satellite who will join the picture colony on Friday. Gilda Gray, who can wave a grass skirt with the best of them, arrives on "The Chief," which will also bring Miss Ederle. Miss Gray will begin work shortly on a starring opus for Sam Goldwyn.

GILDA GRAY

Just by way of adding a little local color she will be met at the station by Prince Lellani and his Royal Samoans, who will greet their princess. Miss Gray was made Princess Fetuga during the filming of "Aloma of the South Seas" in Porto Rico.

Miss Gray will be escorted immediately to the Biltmore Hotel where a large reception and luncheon will be held in her honor.

By The Way Note

Frances Deaner, who has been putting pieces in the paper as a member of Robert M. Yost's publicity staff at the Fox West Coast Studios during the past year, has been transferred to the distribution desk. She replaces Elizabeth Riordan, who resigned to become the bride of Wallace Courtney of Victoria, B. C., where she is to make her future home.

Back in Town

The William Seiters are back in Hollywood after a three weeks' vacation in the Hawaiian Islands, and are ready to plunge into their respective pictures at Universal City. Oh, yes, Mrs. Seiter is perhaps better known as Laura La Plante. Laura's next picture is "Thanks For the Buggy Ride," while her director-husband will start his ninth production with Reginald Denny. It bears the fetching title, "Good Morning, Judge."

Quadruple-Head Bill Will Come to Hillstreet

Independence week will be celebrated at the Hillstreet Theater next week, when a quadruple headline bill will be offered on the vaudeville program and a wild west tale on the screen.

Pearl Hickman's Kiddies return on their fourth annual tour of the Orpheum circuit in a new act of diversified entertainment that has always marked this organization with success. Eduardo and Elisa Cansino (the original Cansinos) are also featured. The Cansinos have just returned from triumphs abroad and have broadened their scope of terpsichore with ideas gained in several foreign countries.

Del Chain and Lou Archer, the two comics who have amused Orpheum circuit audiences for a good many years, are features in a new version of their comedy skit, "Oh, I Did Not." George N. Burns and Grace Allen bring their comedy talkfest by Al Boasber, called "Lamb Chops" to this bill.

John Henry Lyons, song leader, will have a new stunt to offer in that he makes the audience a part of his act in both songs and comedy. Lucille Bragg, "gay dancing debuante" from abroad, will offer a series of steps and tunes.

Warner Brothers filmed for the screen feature a story of the wild and woolly West entitled "Tracked by the Police," which stars Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, with Jason Robards, Virginia Browne Faire and Tom Santschi in the cast.

PLAY SEASON ENDED

Writers' Club Entertainment Will be Last of Present Series

The last entertainment of the season at the Writers' Club will be given tonight and tomorrow night in the playhouse of the club, 6700 Sunset Boulevard. Four short plays will be presented. The first, "Thou Shalt Not," is a satirical comedy by Ewart Adamson. The cast comprises William Austin, Tina Marshall, Helene Sullivan and Albert Conti. Lawrence Grant staged the play.

"By the Sword," a comedy drama of domestic life by Sonya Levien, is the second number on the program. This will be presented by Mary Forbes, Claude King, Cora Williams, Carmel Myers, Helen Lynch and Ben Brindley, under the direction of Frank Reicher.

"Columbine in Business," a fantasy by Rachel Lyman Field, will follow next. Zelda Sears will direct the play and the cast comprises Kathleen Clifford, Kenneth Thompson, Lionel Belmore and John Junior.

The performance will conclude with "What Price Morning Glory?" a burlesque on a noted war play, by Agnes Moran. The players taking part in it are Ruth Renick, Harold Salter and Jack Carlyle. Eddie Cline staged the play.

"Thou Shalt Not" and "By the Sword" were both written by members of the Writers.

REPLACES ACTOR

Ferdinand Munier will assume the role of Oscar Squibbs in "The Great Necker" tonight in order to release James Donlan, who will resume his old part of Hap Spissell in "The Barker," which opens at the Curran Theater in San Francisco on Monday night.

PHIL TEAD WILL SIGN FOR LEAD

"If I Wuz Rich," McGuire Comedy, to Feature Actor Now in "Spitfire"

"If I Wuz Rich," the New York success by William Anthony McGuire, has been secured by the Hollywood Play House as the next play to succeed "The Little Spitfire," the current attraction. This announcement was made by the board of directors of the theater after a long conference. The comedy ran for a solid season in New York and for a lengthy time in Chicago and was a hit wherever it played. One critic put it: "Everybody who wants to get rich liked 'If I Wuz Rich,' which makes it almost unanimous."

Several of the members of the original New York cast will be brought all the way across the country to play in the local production. Among them will be May McCabe, Broadway actress, who will play an ingenue role. Phil Tead, who is Marty Gorman in "The Little Spitfire," is expected to be signed to play the leading male role in "If I Wuz Rich."

McGuire is an old friend of Ed W. Rowland, managing director of the Hollywood Play House, who produced the author's first play, and the playwright is said to have turned down many offers for his new effort in favor of Rowland and the Hollywood Play House. The two men have been separated for eighteen years and their coming together again presages many good things for theatergoers.

McGuire, who is the author of "Kid Boots," "Six-Cylinder Love," "Twelve Miles Out," and other successful plays, had just graduated from Notre Dame University when he prevailed upon Rowland and his partner, Clifford, to produce his original play, "The Divorce Question."

Japanese Cast Arrives to Act on Local Stage

With the docking yesterday of the Oriental-American Line steamer from Tokio, a score of Japanese film and stage players arrived in San Pedro to appear on the Orange Grove stage in conjunction with the showing of Kaito Edeguchi's Japanese film, "The Daughter of the Pacific," which opens at the Grand-avenue theater Sunday afternoon.

Those arriving for their Orange Grove engagement were Emi Naka, Mitsugu Sakai, Aeoko Asuma, Haru Fiujita, Sumi Umeda, Chiyo Umeda and others. Following the Orange Grove showing of the quaint attraction, the entire company will tour the United States under the management of Edeguchi.

SPECIAL TO BE MADE OF MONTAGNE SCRIPT

Notwithstanding the multitudinous duties connected with his position as editor-in-chief of Universal Pictures Corporation, Edward Montagne has just completed an elaborate screen version on "The Big Gun," which Irving Willat is to direct.

It is understood that Carl Laemmle is to produce this story on a big scale, with the intention to release it as one of the organization's super-specials.

The latitude provided by this subject has enabled Montagne to incorporate a succession of thrilling situations which should insure its appeal to the public, it is claimed.

Opera Boasts Lilting Melodies

Virginia Flohri

Prima donna in the musical play, "The Geisha," the first of several comic operettas which W. G. Stewart plans to present at the Vine Street Theater, opening tonight.

"HITCHY" OFFICIATES TONIGHT

Tonight will mark the formal opening of Los Angeles' first comic opera season, with the Stewart Comic Opera Company presenting the elaborate production of "The Geisha" at the Vine-street Theater.

This long-awaited event will be ushered in with a blaze of lights, what with stars of stage and screen attending and the ever-present kleigs.

Arthur William Green announces that there will be no advance in prices for the opening night and there will be many surprises in store for those attending, in the form of Japanese favors.

With a carefully selected ensemble of sixty of the best-trained voices on the west coast, "The Geisha" boasts of massed voice harmony second to none, reports have it. The inimitable comedian, Raymond Hitchcock, will be master of "hilarity." Virginia Flohri, of concert fame, takes the role of O Mimosa San, so that one is assured of the prima donna part being in capable hands.

University Day Matinee is Set at Morgan Play

University Day will be celebrated at the Majestic Theater at this afternoon's matinee of "All God's Chillun Got Wings," the Eugene O'Neill drama of intermarriage between a negro and a white woman.

So many members of the University Club, of which both Dickson Morgan, the producer, and Irving Pichel, the leading man, are members, have made reservation for today's performance, Morgan has announced a special matinee in their honor.

IN "BEAU SABREUR"

Raoul Paoli, French athlete, who made his American motion-picture debut as a heavy in Bebe Daniels' picture, "Senorita," will play the part of Dufour, the secret service agent, in "Beau Sabreur," the Foreign Legion melodrama which Paramount will produce as a companion picture to "Beau Geste." The cast so far includes Gary Cooper, Evelyn Brent, Noa Beery, Roscoe Karns, Joan Standing, William Powell and Oscar Smith.

Rejection Slip Fails to Make Writer Falter

Several years ago Garrett Fort, Warner Brothers' scenario writer, became the recipient of the most unusual and discouraging "rejection slip" it has ever been his displeasure to receive.

He had submitted a short story to Munsey's magazine. After stalking his mail man and insulting him for weeks, the amateur author received a personal letter from Robert Davis, the editor. Fort's story accompanied the letter.

Bob Davis is not a word waster. This is what he wrote to Fort: "This is your paper, I believe. You wrote on it."

Several years later Fort gained national recognition as a magazine fictionist, his sales market including, among other prominent magazines, Munsey's—still edited by the terse Bob Davis.

Fort's newest fiction story, "The Prince of Headwaiters," which he wrote in collaboration with Viola Brothers Shore, recently appeared in Liberty magazine. The Sam Rork-First National screen version of "The Prince of Headwaiters" may be seen at Loew's State Theater now. Lewis Stone plays the starring role, supported by Ann Rork, Bobby Agnew, Lilyan Tashman, John Patrick, Priscilla Bonner and others. The picture was directed by John Francis Dillon.

Violinist Sways Large Audience at Annual Concert

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Caimon Lubovlski, resident violinist, played brilliantly to a capacity audience at the Friday Morning Club last night. This musical descendant of Joachim through the teaching of Franz Vecsey, has the power of swaying the emotions of his hearers to a degree seldom approached by any but the world's famous artists.

His violin tone has the vibrant, personal quality of a human voice and if he were to discipline himself in the matter of emotional display, as expressed in his playing, and develop the more severely intellectual side of his nature, he could become anything he chose to be in the violinistic world.

At present he is quite at the top of the concert ladder here. He can draw so large an audience that it is a matter of regret that he does not appear in the Philharmonic Auditorium where his eager listeners could be more comfortable. Although his choice of an auditorium was larger this season than last, extra places had to be made and a large number heard him from another room than the concert hall.

Lubovlski's program was, the Handel D major sonata, the first movement of the Brahms concerto, Baal Shem by Ernest Bloch, two fine small works by Vecsey, a Sarasate and an air on the G string by Paganini.

Clare Mellonino, excellent pianist that she is, contributed largely to the violinist's success. She is one accompanist among the thousands who would like to be, but lack her instinctive gifts.

Hair styles originated in the smart beauty shops of Los Angeles and Hollywood and never before displayed in public, will be shown tonight at the hair-dressing contest to be staged in conjunction with a fashion pageant by the International Beauty Operators at the Cinderella Roof. A percentage of the receipts are to be turned over to the Red Cross Mississippi relief fund.

Nearly a score of models, among them a number of film players including Josephine Norman and Jean Lorraine, will display the new styles after having been prepared in the shops they will represent.

In addition to the feature event and the fashion pageant, a program in keeping with the occasion has been arranged, the popular new Landry-Dooley Cinderella Roof orchestra will play a special program of dance and novelty numbers, and special decorations and favors will be used.

"LOVE IN A MIST" TO SHOW

Madge Kennedy and Sidney Blackmer in Farce Follow Play at Belasco

Pursuing their policy of offering at intervals the best New York hits with the original casts Belasco, Butler and Davis announce that, following the engagement of "The Great Necker" they will offer, in association with Charles L. Wagner, Madge Kennedy in "Love in a Mist," with Sidney Blacker as featured player.

Miss Kennedy has not been seen in Los Angeles for several seasons and will undoubtedly receive a cordial welcome in the play in which she has been scoring for over seventy weeks, both in New York and in all the larger cities of the country. Sidney Blackmer played here two summers ago at the Playhouse and scored a signal success. Others in the cast, which is the identical one that appeared through the New York engagement, are Mary Marble, Natalie Schafer, Percy Haswell and Jack Willard.

Amilia Rives, known to the society column as Princess Troubetskoy, wrote the book from which Gilbert Emery—author of "The Hero" and "Tarnish"—made the play.

Forum Will Be Dark Preparing for Premiere

Syd Chaplin's comedy, "The Missing Link," now playing at the Forum Theater, will be shown for the last times on Monday. The theater will be dark Tuesday all day and Wednesday afternoon, in order to complete preparations for the premiere of John Barrymore's screen success, "When a Man Loves," in which Dolores Costello plays the female lead.

Warner Oland and Dolores Costello are now in New York, where they attended the opening of one of their new picture successes, but are planning to return in time for the opening of the new picture. Warner Brothers are also hoping that Al Jolson, who is to play in "The Jazz Singer" as the star, will have completed his San Francisco run in "Big Boy" in time for the Forum opening.

Oakland House Offers Connor Stock Contract

Allen Connor, juvenile lead in "The Great Necker," at the Belasco Theater, has been offered a thirty-two-week contract to play leading-man roles in stock at the Fulton Theater in Oakland.

Whether or not Connor accepts the offer will depend upon the future of "The Great Necker," which Messrs. Belasco, Davis and Butler, producers, may take east. It would mark his first venture into stock.

Connor has been leading man for such actresses as Margaret Anglin, Emily Stevens and others. He began his stage work in Los Angeles, his home, with Kolb and Dill, about eight years ago.

Producer Says Play's Success Is Gratifying

"The Shanghai Gesture" at the Erlanger-Biltmore Theater began its Los Angeles engagement as auspiciously as when it was produced at the Beck Theater, New York. Not a single seat was left in the ticket rack last week, thus creating a new record for gross receipts at the Erlanger-Biltmore and pleasing Mr. Woods, who has brought the original production and cast intact from New York to the west coast in the face of unstable conditions in the theater business.

HUSBANDS, WIVES AND "SHEIKS" MAKE MERRY

"Cradle Snatchers" is reported to be breaking all records at the Rialto, where it is now playing. Louise Fazenda, in a charming blond wig, is at her best in his farce of duck-hunting husbands, bored and angry wives and college sheiks.

It is said that there is not a dull moment in the entire film, and Louise Fazenda, Dione Ellis, Joseph Striker, Nick Stuart, Arthur Lake, Sammy Cohen and Dorothy Phillips romp through the play with a spirit of light-hearted comedy that adds much to the situations of the story.

"Cradle Snatchers" is now in its last two days at the Rialto and will be succeeded by Clara Bow in "Rough House Rosie," which opens Friday.

"BUGLE CALL," YARN BY SULLIVAN, REMADE

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer seem pleased with their "comeback picture" for Jackie Coogan. "The Bugle Call." "The Kid" has been lauded to the skies following the pre-view sessions of his latest film—his first under direct control of the M.-G.-M. studios, and much praise is given to C. Gardner Sullivan, who wrote the story.

An interesting tale has to do with this. Sullivan's very first motion-picture yarn was "The Bugle Call," made by Thomas H. Ince, with Buster Collier. Following this, he wrote approximately 380 more for the screen. Some he produced himself. Now his 381st story happens to be also his first.

"LION TAMER" AUTHOR SAID TO BE A POLE

The author of "The Lion Tamer," opening July 7 at the Gamut Club under Little Theater auspices, is known to French journalism as the columnist, Alfred Savoir. He is Polish. Savoir's popularity is based on a romantic satiric style, well exemplified in "The Lion Tamer," one of the most unusual of modern dramas.

The Little Theater will produce it with a cast including Sheldon Lewis, Mario Carillo, Crauford Kent, Nanette Vallon. Ole M. Ness is directing the production.

BRUTAL FATHER HELD IN JAIL

Lindsay Man Accused of Attempted Murder

Two Children Made Wards of Court

Angry Crowd Gathers After Arrest of Parent

LINDSAY, June 28.—Albert Schuster, 8 years of age, and his sister, Anna, 7, have been made wards of the Tulare county courts, pending action in the case of their father, A. B. Schuster, operator of a slaughterhouse near this city, who is lodged in jail in default of $1000 bail on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

The charge is the result of an alleged brutal attack upon the two children several days ago. The little boy was taken to the County Hospital for a time, suffering from a fractured skull and severe cuts and bruises.

The mother of the two little tots was separated from Schuster about five years ago, and has since remarried and makes her home in Bakersfield. It is understood she is willing to be a witness at the trial of Schuster, against whom local feeling ran high, a muttering crowd of angry men watching his departure for the County Jail.

The children, according to officers, have been too terrorized to talk for several days, but have finally admitted that their father beat the boy with a board and broomstick as well as his fists and that the fractured skull probably resulted when the man kicked his son several times in the head.

APRICOT SHIPMENTS

Kings County Sends Many Cars to the East

HANFORD, June 28.—Apricot shipments out of California east are easing up and it is stated that 80 per cent of those now being shipped are coming from this county. Last Saturday there were eight cars of "cots" shipped, from California, it is reported, of which four came from this county, center of the "cot" industry of the San Joaquin Valley. Peach and royal "cots" are through for shipping and the only variety now going out is Tiltons. That variety is also going into the canneries in large volume, as well as on to the drying trays. Yesterday six cars went out of Kings county, mostly east, some to Los Angeles. Shipping "cots" brought $70 a ton, while the cannery price is $55, but some cannery sales are reported at $60, orchard run.

The peak crop is coming on nicely, with a good-sized crop of excellent quality, which will be late in maturing. A considerable tonnage has been contracted for at $35 a ton. Picking of Tragedy plums began today in the large George Aydelott orchard, whence the shipments will go east.

FIRST OF VALLEY'S APRICOTS IN MARKET

LANKERSHIM, June 28. — The first of the new season's apricots is beginning to ripen in San Fernando Valley and is finding its way to market in small lots. Some of the new fruit is offered in baskets at ranch curbs in various parts of the valley. This year the apricot trees are loaded with fruit. In a survey made yesterday in orchards here, and near Van Nuys, Reseda and Owensmouth, trees were seen golden yellow in fruit. Some of the branches are so heavily laden that props are being used to keep branches from breaking. Most of the fruit is of good size, due to the heavy rains of last winter and spring. Large amounts of strawberries, loganberries and blackberries have been harvested in the valley this season. The fruits are still coming to the market in large quantities. The first of the season's sweet corn also is being sold.

SLEEP WALKER KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

BALBOA, June 28. — A Coroner's jury at Santa Ana today found that Mrs. Bertha Matignon, 74 years of age, who lived on Balboa Island, came to her death accidentally. She was run down and killed at midnight last night when she wandered away from her home, apparently in a daze, and stepped in front of a machine driven by L. L. Parker of Bellflower on the Palisades Road about a half-mile back of Balboa Island. The aged victim, who had been in ill health for some time, is believed either to have been walking in her sleep or in a semiconscious condition as a result of her ailments.

TO PROVIDE CONCERTS IN REDLANDS BOWL

REDLANDS, June 28. — Mrs. Grace Mullen, manager for the Community Music Association, which, for several years has provided free musical entertainment for the people of Redlands, in concerts of all kinds, has returned from Europe where she spent several months and has announced the opening of the summer series of concerts at the bowl.

The opening will be on Friday night in this city when John Smallman of Los Angeles will bring his Acapella choir to Redlands to give a concert. This is the first time the choir has ever sung here, although many Redlands people have heard it.

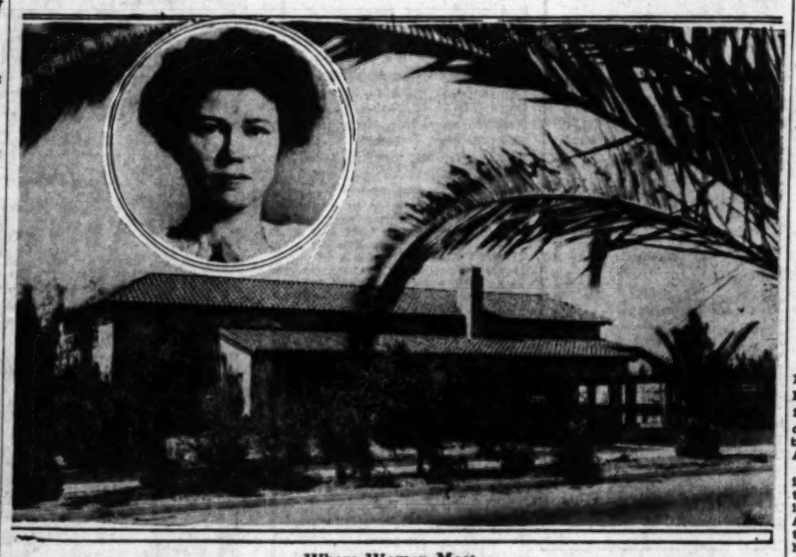
DWELLINGS BURN AT BAKERSFIELD

BAKERSFIELD, June 28.—Two houses, valued at approximately $5000, and part of a store were destroyed last night when fire, originating in one of the dwellings, spread rapidly through the section at Union and California avenues, shortly after 9 o'clock. The buildings were just outside the city limits and, while the fire department answered the call, the firemen could not combat the flames.

The cause of the blaze could not be learned last night.

FONTANA WOMEN PAY CLUB MORTGAGE

Celebrate Event With Fitting Program and Ceremony



Where Women Meet

Attractive setting of beautiful building is one of the beauty spots of Fontana. Insert Mrs. Charles E. Moore, president of the organization.

FONTANA, June 28.—Payment of the final installment of the debt on this community's attractive $16,000 clubhouse will be celebrated Thursday evening when the public will join the Women's Club in burning of the mortgage.

Following the burning ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. a program will be given at which Rex B. Goodcell of Los Angeles, a native of San Bernardino Valley, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by J. D. McGregor. Mrs. Charles E. Moore, president of the club, also will give a short talk and the burning of the mortgage will be by A. B. Miller. Mrs. E. J. Hauser has charge of the program and she is being assisted by Mrs. P. B. Hasbrouck, who is arranging for the music.

What is now the Fontana Women's Club with several hundred members is the outgrowth of an organization which had its inception in 1912. There were only twelve members then.

The proposal for a clubhouse in 1922 was given impetus when the Masonic Club here contributed $1000 to the cause. A. B. Miller then donated the site at Sierra and Sevill avenues and on November 1, 1923 the corner-stone for the structure of Spanish design was laid. In April, 1924, the clubhouse was dedicated, between $4000 and $5000 having been paid at that time toward the building. John S. McGroarty gave the dedication address.

The late Mrs. E. B. Miller, mother of the donor of the site, was one of the leading members of the club for many years and her efforts were a contributing factor in its realization.

The balance of the debt was paid off from funds realized in queen contests which closed with the crowning on Fontana day.

Railway Agent Is Successful in Steer Hunt

ALHAMBRA, June 28.—William Sheldon, Southern Pacific passenger agent, may never become a bull fighter but he has qualified to some extent for a career as a matador. And incidentally he has recovered property which was intrusted to his employer's care.

Last Friday a steer broke away when a carload of cattle was being unloaded in San Gabriel for a meat-packing plant. The animal leaped off the freight platform at the Southern Pacific station and galloped toward the hills.

Sheldon was notified and although the finding of a Texas steer was not exactly in his line, he took up the chase as somewhat of a sporting proposition. At every opportunity, when he was not selling tickets to travelers, he drove through the hills trying to catch a glimpse of a Lone Star steer. Several times complications were narrowly avoided when some domestic animal was mistaken for the stranger.

Last night Sheldon, in company with Glen Witherill, local haberdasher, invaded the San Marino territory. They drove through the streets and threw their flashlight over the lawns and arroyos and the hillsides. Their efforts were rewarded. Witherill picked out a steer with his flashlight. The animal was calmly eating grass near the road. Sheldon unwound his lariat. The rest was easy. Now the shipment of cattle from Texas is complete. There is no claim for shortage.

KERN JUDGE TAKES ISSUE WITH LINDSEY

BAKERSFIELD, June 28.—Judge Erwin W. Owen took issue with Judge Ben B. Lindsey, famous juvenile judge of Denver, in attacking the latter's argument for "companionate" marriage. Such beliefs as this, Judge Owen said, that marriages of this kind would relieve juvenile crime conditions are a fallacy.

The cure for juvenile delinquency, the judge declared, is religion. Only one of every twenty-five cases brought before him as the juvenile department judge in Kern county, Judge Owen said, concerns children who are reared by church-going families.

At the present time, he said, there are less than fifteen children from Kern county in Whittier, Preston and Ventura homes.

IMPROVEMENT AT SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

VENTURA, June 28.—Construction of a new laundry at the Ventura School for Girls, authorized under Gov. Young's budget as part of the extensive program for repairs and buildings for State institutions, will be started early in October, Paul Bailey, State Director of Public Works, said today.

The laundry will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000 and will supply a great need in the efficient management of the school, according to authorities.

It will be pushed rapidly to completion, State Architect George B. McDougall stated. It will be constructed under his supervision and probably be ready for operation the first of next year.

"DROWNED" GIRL IS VERY MUCH ALIVE

BALBOA, June 28.—Miss Mildred Louise Pierson of Riverside, who was thought to have drowned while in swimming in the surf on the 16th inst., has been found and returned to her home in Riverside, it was learned this morning. That she felt an urge to get a job and earn her own way and was rather perplexed as to how to accomplish her purpose, was the reason given by the 16-year-old girl for her disappearance.

The girl secured employment in a physician's office in Glendale. She has been placed in the care of an aunt in a mountain resort.

PICTURE ACTOR INJURED

LAGUNA BEACH, June 28.—Knute Hgorth, a Norwegian sailor employed in the filming of a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture at Emerald Bay suffered a broken collarbone, broken ribs and deep cuts on his chest last night, when he was crushed beneath a heavy boat. Hgorth was endeavoring to launch a boat in the surf when the boat upset, pinning him beneath it. The injured man was taken to the Laguna Beach Hospital. He will be confined to the hospital for two weeks it is believed.

He will be introduced by J. D. McGregor. Mrs. Charles E. Moore, president of the club, also will give a short talk and the burning of the mortgage will be by A. B. Miller. Mrs. E. J. Hauser has charge of the program and she is being assisted by Mrs. P. B. Hasbrouck, who is arranging for the music.

What is now the Fontana Women's Club with several hundred members is the outgrowth of an organization which had its inception in 1912. There were only twelve members then.

The proposal for a clubhouse in 1922 was given impetus when the Masonic Club here contributed $1000 to the cause. A. B. Miller then donated the site at Sierra and Sevill avenues and on November 1, 1923 the corner-stone for the structure of Spanish design was laid. In April, 1924, the clubhouse was dedicated, between $4000 and $5000 having been paid at that time toward the building. John S. McGroarty gave the dedication address.

The late Mrs. E. B. Miller, mother of the donor of the site, was one of the leading members of the club for many years and her efforts were a contributing factor in its realization.

The balance of the debt was paid off from funds realized in queen contests which closed with the crowning on Fontana day.

Mourning Doves Return to Visit Valley Paradise

ENCINO, June 28.—Not within recent years have there been so many mourning doves on the floor of San Fernando Valley. The birds may be seen in trees, in the shrubs and bushes growing in the washes, and on the concrete highways in the path of auto traffic. Charles Graves, a valley pioneer, says he can remember when the doves inhabited this section in almost countless droves, and that all a boy had to do was to shoot into the air to "bring down a half-bucketful with one pull of the trigger."

The birds are brownish in color and when calling to each other in the distance emit a sound more like a mourn than the usual bird whistle. When fat the mourning dove is a table delicacy. Graves says that he has just returned from a trip to San Diego, and that all along the road he saw numerous flocks of the doves. Some years, he states, the doves seem to disappear, and then of a sudden return in large droves or in pairs to their old haunts in this valley or in other parts of the Southland.

It is the belief that when the doves temporarily disappear they fly to sections where large acreages of grain are grown. Fifteen or twenty years ago when San Fernando Valley was one huge field of wheat and barley, this section was a bird paradise for mourning doves, quail and other birds that thrive on grain kernels.

VOTE SPECIAL SCHOOL TAX

WASCO, June 28.—Additional schoolrooms and transportation facilities will be obtained for Wasco Grammar School district from $19,000 in funds to be derived from a special tax voted on last Saturday it was announced yesterday by A. P. Mann, chairman of the board of trustees. Two school busses costing $2500 each will be purchased.

The special tax was voted by approximately one-tenth of the registered voters in the district there being 23 for and 7 against the proposition.

HORSEMAN INJURED

BAKERSFIELD, June 28.—Emil Manny was brought to the San Joaquin Hospital last night suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries which attendants believe will prove fatal, the result of being thrown from a horse at Granite Station Sunday afternoon. Manny's condition was characterized as "very serious."

Manny was riding near his home when his horse threw him. His injuries at first were not believed serious.

INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

BRAWLEY, June 28. (AP)—Ten men were injured, five seriously, in automobile wrecks in Brawley and on near-by highways yesterday. W. J. White was probably fatally injured when his light car crashed into a tractor. He had just returned from taking his wife to a sanitorium at Loma Linda. His son was slightly injured in the accident.

Martin Airplane at Chicago on Western Journey

SANTA ANA, June 28.—The giant commercial plane City of Cleveland, the latest creation of Glenn L. Martin, former Santa Ana man, reached Chicago last night and started on the second leg of its trip to the international air peace jubilee here, July 2 to 9, it was reported today. The plane is piloted by Kenneth R. Cole, World War pilot and special test aviator of the Martin Airplane Company. Cole is accompanied by Clifford Glidersleeve, aviation secretary of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

Reports from Cleveland today reported that the plane will stop at Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas and Los Angeles on its way to Santa Ana.

A telegram was received here today from E. P. Owen, manager of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Chamber of Commerce, stating that efforts were being made in the southern city to send a city of Jacksonville plane to the meet here. The entry list of the meet was boosted by more than twenty pilots, according to Adams. Ten pilots from Long Beach submitted entries this morning and numerous other entries have been received from all sections of the United States.

DEFERRED ACTION

Couple Sue Long Beach Official for Damages

LONG BEACH, June 28.—As an aftermath of an argument in the City Council chambers on December 10, last, during a hearing on a franchise application by the Pacific Electric, City Manager Henderson and Councilman Beck were made defendants today in a $50,266 damage suit.

The action was brought by Mitchell Mace and his wife, Marguerite Mace. They charge false arrest. Mrs. Mace was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace during the progress of the Council hearing and was tried in Municipal Court. The jury disagreed and the case against her was subsequently dropped. They declare in the action that they have been humiliated and damaged in their credit and reputation to the extent of more than $50,000.

ASKS FOR DIVORCE AND HEART BALM

LONG BEACH, June 28.—Albert W. Baxter, real-estate operator and for many years active in civic affairs, yesterday filed suit for divorce against his wife, Louzetta B. Baxter. He charged her with intimacy with W. Callmon, said to be a wealthy retired business man, whom he named as co-respondent.

The divorce complaint was supplemented by an alienation of affections suit directed against Mallmon and asking for $75,000 damages. This action charges that Callmon enticed Mrs. Baxter away from her husband and is now maintaining her in a private apartment in Long Beach.

IMPOSTOR ATTEMPTS TO DUPE INVESTORS

ANAHEIM, June 28.—A man claiming to represent the German government is in Anaheim endeavoring to get holders of German bonds to turn their bonds over to him, saying that he has been authorized to issue new ones, according to information filed with Anaheim police today by Fred Pressel of 403 East Broadway.

Suspicious of the man's claims Pressel communicated with the German Consul in Los Angeles and was informed that no one has been authorized by the German government to issue bonds. Anaheim officers are making an effort to locate the impostor.

GLENDALE TO HAVE UNION BUS STATION

GLENDALE, June 28.—Plans for the establishment of a union bus station in Glendale are under consideration, it was reported by Charles H. Diggs of the City Planning Commission at a meeting last night of the city development unit of the Chamber of Commerce. Diggs stated that the plan calls for the opening of a central station where the passenger-carrying vehicles would arrive and depart, but he admitted that the question of financing the project had not yet been settled, as it is hoped that this matter can be arranged through private sources instead of through municipal funds.

TAKE UP RESEARCH WORK

Eminent Scholars Come to Staff of Huntington Library at Pasadena

PASADENA, June 28.—Dr. Frederick J. Turner, formerly professor of history at Yale University, has been appointed a research associate of the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery, and with Dr. Max Farrand, formerly of Harvard University, will take up his work at the local institution in October, it was learned today from Dr. George Ellery Hale, one of the trustees of the library foundation.

It was also announced that in addition to these two eminent scholars, about six more prominent authorities on various phases of Anglo-American history, civilization and culture will be added to the library staff from time to time. Who these men will be has not yet been determined.

With the coming of Dr. Farrand and Dr. Turner to join the already large staff at the library, research work will start in earnest, and is expected to place the Huntington Library and Art Gallery on a par with the Mt. Wilson Observatory and California Institute of Technology as an institution contributing to human knowledge.

The tremendous amount of original historical documents, original historical and literary manscripts, treatises, books and letters which Mr. Huntington purchased to form his unparalleled collection comprise a source of information of incalculable value to historians, according to Dr. Hale.

This material, most of which has never been published, and most of which has not been catalogued, will be systematically studied and interpreted by the library staff, and the results of this research published in various journals.

WESLEY'S KIN HELD BY POLICE

"Sanctimonious Kid" Accused of Passing Worthless Paper in Many States

FULLERTON, June 28.—John Wesley Hastings alias the sanctimonious Kid, West Point deserter and reputed forger signed a confession here today admitting circulation of $5000 in bogus checks in five States, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Sam Collins stated.

Hastings waived preliminary hearing when arraigned in Justice Court this afternoon on a charge of forging the name of former Police Chief Arthur Eels and told the court he intended to plead guilty if he could have a speedy trial. He was held to answer to Superior Court and bail was set at $1500.

The reputed confession in which Hastings states that he cashed spurious checks in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and California, was revealed by Attorney Collins after Hastings waived preliminary hearing.

Hastings, who is widely known to police, claims to be a descendant of John Wesley, the famous church leader, and says that he comes of a family in which the men for many generations were clergymen. He has two honorable discharges from the United States Army and declared that he recently deserted from National Military School at West Point.

Stresses Need of Emergency City Hospital

GLENDALE, June 28.—Establishment of an emergency hospital to be located as near as possible to the geographical center of Glendale is urged in a report presented to the City Council after a survey conducted by W. F. Walker, field director of the American Public Health Association. The hospital, it is pointed out, could either be a municipal institution, or it could be combined city and county project.

Traffic accidents are largely responsible for the need for an emergency hospital, Walker says, and he rates the city health activities as carried on the city health activities as carried on the Board of Education at 500 points out of a possible 1000, basing this low estimate not on the inefficiency of these two organizations, but on the lack of interest taken in the health of the community by citizens.

THEATER FIRE

Blaze Discovered in "Dark House" at Calexico

CALEXICO, June 28. — Fire of unknown origin that was discovered in the Rialto Theater Building here early this morning practically ruined at $12,000 pipe organ and caused a total property damage estimated at $15,000.

As the theater company recently closed the building and is presenting its programs in an airdrome during the summer months, there was no one in the structure when a policeman saw flames coming through the roof and turned in the alarm.

The building was badly damaged in the earthquake here January 1, last, and was rebuilt and new equipment installed three months ago. The loss is covered by insurance.

ADOPT NEW SYSTEM OF COOLING GRAPES

BRAWLEY, June 28. — Imperial Valley grape growers expect to place their fruit on the market in better condition than usual this season as the result of the installation of a cooling system that will reduce the temperature of the cars as soon as the crates are loaded for shipment.

The first carload of the Mission Seedless Grapes is being loaded here today under the new system and carload shipments will go out regularly in the future.

Electrically operated fans are installed in the cars as soon as they fruit is loaded. These fans draw the cool air in from the ice bunkers and the temperature is lowered 30 deg. within a few minutes' time.

RECKLESS DRIVERS GET JAIL SENTENCES

SANTA ANA, June 28.—Two motorists, one residing in Santa Ana and one in Long Beach, are in jail here for ten days each, for racing down the El Modena grade. Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison provided the sentences. Both men were charged with reckless driving.

Frank Epp, 25 years of age, conductor on the Pacific Electric railway, residing at 805 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, and Albert Newman, 18, 1354 Lime street, Long Beach, were the two "racers."

Both were arrested at the foot of the grade by George Peterkin, State traffic officer.

ANAHEIM CHAMBER ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

ANAHEIM, June 28.—Anaheim Chamber of Commerce members elected Stone W. Todd, superintendent of the Industrial Fuel and Supply Company, and Lotus H. Loudon, publisher of the Anaheim Bulletin, as new directors and re-elected the following four directors: Leonard Evans, attorney; H. N. White, hardware merchant; F. A. Youngbluth, clothier, and Dr. H. A. Johnston, physician.

QUITS POST AS CITY MANAGER

Milton H. Irvine

PLANS TO ENGAGE IN BUSINESS

Alhambra Official Out of Public Service to Engage in Private Work

ALHAMBRA, June 28.—Terminating six years of service with the city, Milton H. Irvine today tendered his resignation as City Manager to take effect August 1. His resignation was presented at the meeting of the City Commission, was accepted and a resolution was unanimously passed expressing the commission's appreciation of his work and its regrets that he had resigned.

Irvine, in his statement to the commission, said that he felt his future interests would be best served by severing connection with the city at this time. He intends to abandon public work and to enter private business, he declared. He did not make public his definite plans, other than that he will take a two months' vacation in the North after August 1.

Irvine was first employed by the city in 1921 in the engineering department. He rose to the position of assistant city engineer and later was made head of that department. On January 12, 1925, he was appointed City Manager.

Although on the surface the resignation of Irvine was entirely voluntary, it is rumored that one or two of the Commissioners have thought for some time that a change in the administration was to be desired. No charges were made against Irvine's efficiency or ability in the office, however. Conferences recently with members of the commission are thought to have resulted in his decision that rather than to have the civic body split on the question of the City Manager his resignation would be conducive to harmony.

Today was the last meeting of the present City Commission. On July 1, E. G. Desseux will take the place of M. E. Carroll, whom he defeated for Commissioner from the Fourth District in the recent election. At that time also Thomas C. Gold, City Attorney, will relinquish the reins of his office to Emmett A. Tompkins.

No indication as to when Irvine's successor will be named was given today. It is understood an appointment will not be made for some time.

Censorship Law Sidetracked by Long Beach Dads

LONG BEACH, June 28.—Prospects for a revival of the Long Beach censorship ordinance and the vesting of a censorship board with power over newspapers, magazines, art subjects and theaters faded here today when the City Council tabled the proposed amendment to the existing but dormant ordinance. Efforts of the W.C.T.U. and other organizations to bring the censorship ordinance to life, equipped with new and sharper teeth, went for naught when Councilman John Arnold moved that the proposed amendment be tabled. The motion was carried by a vote of 4 to 3 and it was said that there is little likelihood that the proposition will again be brought before the Council. The present Councilmanic Board goes out of existence after next Friday and the incoming Council elected on a "liberal" ticket will not revive the censorship bugbear, it was confidentially declared.

JEWISH CONVENTION CLOSES SESSIONS

LONG BEACH, June 28. (AP)—With the election of officers late this afternoon and a banquet tonight the sixty-fourth annual convention of the Independent Order B'nai B'rith, District No. 4, which has been in session here for the past three days, was brought to a close.

Z. Swett of Portland, Or., was elected Grand President. Rabbi I. Magnin of Los Angeles was named First Grand Vice-President, and George M. Lipman of San Francisco became Second Grand Vice-President. Spokane, Wash., probably will be selected as the convention city in 1928.

INGLEWOOD TO CELEBRATE

INGLEWOOD, June 28.—The Four Hundred and Seventy-ninth Pursuit Squadron, of the United States Army Air Reserve has been invited to take part in the annual Fourth of July celebration planned by the Inglewood American Legion Post, it was announced today by Louis B. Hardin, Jr., post adjutant and chairman of the committee in charge. The celebration includes a barbecue free to all, preparations being made to feed 10,000. Everyone is asked to bring along their own "mess kits" in order to hold the "chow."

First Lieutenant Clyde L. Hussey is in command of the squadron and the invitation is also extended to Lieut. W. K. Burgess, commander of Clover Field.

SEEKS LARGE DAMAGE

SANTA ANA, June 28.—Julian Heim, Santa Ana youth, has filed suit in the Superior Court through his guardian, Carl M. Heim, against the Duro Engineering Company of Brea and Charles Tippie for $21,293.35 damages as the aftermath of a collision. Heim, riding his motorcycle along East Fourth street, Santa Ana, July 17, last, claims he was struck by an automobile driven by Tippie, who was an employee of the Duro Engineering Company. The youth received a compound fracture of the leg, it is alleged.

TORPEDOES BREAK WINDOWS

VENTURA, June 28. — Pleas of guilty to charges of firing torpedoes within the fire limits were entered by four Ventura young men who were brought before Judge Thomas Mellandt this morning. Three of them were given $30 fines, the other $20. The quartet were Jack Dent, Fred Stennett, Ben Smith and August Hahn, all of them about 20 years of age. The complaints were sworn to by the Chief of Police after several persons had reported that their windows had been broken by torpedoes and firecrackers thrown by the young men.

BUILD SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

SAN FERNANDO, June 28.—With the M. E. Sunday-school orchestra as a nucleus, steps are being taken to recruit a community symphony orchestra, according to Charles L. Wood, president of the Men's Club. The present orchestra consists of twenty pieces with a balanced instrumentation. It originally started as a Sunday-school orchestra of five pieces. Under the direction of Albert Perfect it was recruited to its present size. It has filled many local engagements as well as appearances at Montebello and Pasadena.

VALLEY AUTO SHOW

SAN FERNANDO, June 28.—San Fernando car dealers are staging an automobile show at the business exposition under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, July 18-23, next, according to A. E. Eldredge, secretary. The dealers have reserved a large space in which they will display the latest makes of cars. A popularity contest is also being conducted to select the most popular young lady who will be crowned queen of the exposition.

NEW SPEED NEMESIS

Motorists Better Watch Out While in San Fernando Valley

VAN NUYS, June 28.—The Van Nuys branch of the Los Angeles Municipal Court, which handles cases in the valley annex area to Los Angeles, is building a name for itself in the matter of making motorists behave. Within the last week 102 speeders and other sorts of auto-law violators have been arrested by motorcycle officers, hailed into court and fined. Hardly any of the offenders are able to prove up an "alibi" with Justice Decker.

Indications are that June will establish a new high record in fines. Already more than $4300 has been collected in fines and forfeitures, as compared with a "business" of $3900 for all of the month of May. The long concrete highways running in all directions in San Fernando Valley are a natural invitation for joy-riding motorists to forget all about the traffic laws in the matter of speed, or stops at prominent intersections.

"We want all auto owners in the congested districts of Los Angeles and Hollywood to come out into the valley and enjoy rides in the big open spaces," Justice Decker said today. "But when they get to scooting around under the belief that there is no traffic law north of the Los Angeles River they must pay for their apparent recklessness."

As Justice Decker was delivering the above, he was listening with a deaf ear to the pleas of three culprit motorists. Each of the trio was fined $10 "for leaning too heavy on the gas."

ORDERED TO ARREST SPEED BOAT FANS

NEWPORT BEACH, June 28.—Tom O. Jay, harbor master, received instructions last night from the Board of Trustees to arrest all speed-boat owners who violate the speeding ordinance. Jay was given instructions after resolutions from the Newport Harbor Yacht Club and the Balboa Island Improvement Association had been read to the effect that racing in the main portion of the bay was menacing the lives of bathers, operators of dories, small sailing boats and canoes.

It was pointed out that the county channel in the northwest portion of the harbor is open for speed-boat trial. The limit in other portions of the bay is ten miles per hour, with a six-mile limit in the turning basin

Incidentally, the District Attorney's office is preparing to combat a barrage of demurrers to the indictments. Attorneys for a number of the prominent men in the case declared plans for open-court attacks on the true bills already are under way and a bitter battle on that score was forecast by Davis. He also believes that the most bitterly fought case will be that in which Stern and Barber are accused of embezzlement and violation of the bankers' bonus law.

The indictment against Stern and Barber sets forth the charge that on December 6, 1926, they received $100,000 bonus from Lewis for loans of $135,000 and $260,000 made to him on December 21 and 24, respectively. Three other counts in the indictment accuse them of embezzling the $100,000, variously from S. C. Lewis, the Julian corporation and the Pacific Bond and Share Company, assertedly a dummy organization.

LEWIS CALLS MEETING

Lewis in his open letter to the stockholders, announcing the mass meeting tomorrow evening, pointed out that the authorities have given the matter attention as to charges, but that he will give facts "absolutely as no one else but me can tell." He said he will cover the following points:

(1.) What was the real cause of the so-called stock oversales?

(2.) Who were intended to be the real benefactors of this oversale?

(3.) Could this so-called oversale be avoided?

(4.) How did this stock ever reach the public?

(6.) What, if anything, can the stockholders do in mass to assist the receivers in recovering and causing restitution of this money?

(7.) My own actions, purposes, intentions and liabilities in the matter.

(8.) Submission of plans for quickly clearing up the present situation, which should result in your being saved from any loss irrespective of whether you have paid $3 or $50 for your shares.

(9.) Submission of irreproachable evidence that I personally have had no financial gain from the present situation.

(10.) The legal status of oversissued stock, what it is worth and how it can be realized on.

City Prosecutor Lickley yesterday was in possession of 100 names handed him by the grand jury which recommended prosecution against the persons singly on charges of usury. The move was made because the grand jury was unable to connect the parties in a conspiracy, a felony, but believed them culpable under the usury law, a misdemeanor. Dr. Lickley said he will make an immediate investigation.

STATE SOCIETIES SUPPORT LICKLEY

The executive committee of the Federation of State Societies yesterday approved the action of City Prosecutor Lickley in proceeding against asserted usurers in connection with the stock pool operations in the Julian Petroleum Corporation debacle.

The committee also urged the District Attorney's office to "enter honestly and heartily" into forthcoming prosecutions as a result of recent indictments.

RADIO BOARD TO SIFT AIR CLASH

Commission Awaits Report on Julian Charges

Letter Writers Assured of Prompt Justice

Asserted Interference Only Subject Considered

WASHINGTON, June 28. (Exclusive)—On Monday night, the 20th inst., the radio broadcasting station KMTR, Hollywood, Cal., advertised a talk over the air by C. C. Julian, which has been represented from several sources to be the owner of the station. The records in possession of the Federal Radio Commission do not bear out the statement that C. C. Julian is owner of the station, but that is a matter not concerned with the present issue.

It appears that the moment after Mr. Julian was announced over the air by station KMTR immediately a powerful carrier wave was introduced on the air from some unknown source, which had the effect of causing severe heterodyne interference, which extended the entire length of the Pacific Coast as far north as Canada. The effect of this interference was to ruin the address scheduled to be made over that station and thousands of listeners were thereby barred from receiving it.

INQUIRY URGED

The following morning the Federal Radio Commission received a telegram from the KMTR Radio Corporation operating station KMTR stating these facts and asked that steps be taken to locate such interference. Following this telegram many other telegrams arrived from individual sources giving in effect the same information and asking for an investigation. The commission acted immediately and caused a telegram to be sent to the radio inspector on the west coast asking that a thorough investigation be made of this reported deliberate and malicious interference to discover if possible the station responsible for the offense, and asking that the commission be furnished a copy of his report.

At this time it should be noted that this action was taken on the 22nd inst., one day after the first protest was received, which came in the late afternoon of the 21st inst. Since this telegram was sent the radio commission has been deluged with mail from private individuals of all kinds in the neighborhood of Los Angeles and Hollywood and other places in California protesting against this so-called malicious interference and asking that steps be taken to have an investigation made.

AWAITS REPORT

Owing to the staff available for carrying on and answering this voluminous correspondence the commission desires by a press notice to make it known that however desirable it would be to answer every communication along this line in this particular case, it cannot be done, but wishes to assure the writers of the great number of letters that long before their letters reached the commission action had been taken and the investigation is presumably under way and the commission is awaiting the report of the radio inspector.

At this time, according to many of the letters, suspicion is attached to one particular station in the neighborhood of Los Angeles, but a telegram from that station was received before any of the numerous letters arrived denying such an interference and stating that that station requested an immediate and thorough investigation and welcomed an opportunity to show that it was not responsible for this interference, also offering all assistance possible to the radio inspector.

(Note: The station referred to was KHJ, The Times Radio Station, which was falsely accused by Julian of having caused the interference, though it was locked, dark and silent on the night in question. The telegram referred to was sent by The Times to the Federal Radio Commission demanding an investigation and was dispatched immediately after Julian had made his charge for the first time. To date Julian has produced no evidence in support of his irresponsible charges but, on the contrary, is quoted from Washington as having informed the radio authorities there that he did not know the source of the interference.—Ed. Times.)

DEPEND ON REPORT

The commission at this time is not concerned with the character of the broadcasting that was supposed to have taken place over this station (KMTR) but is concerned with the fact that such interference, if malicious and deliberate, should not go unnoticed. The action of the commission will depend entirely on the report of the Federal inspector, who is now making the investigation and this affair is given public notice in the press in order that many others, perhaps in the neighborhood of Los Angeles, need not further write the commission, as it will be impossible to answer each and every letter. It is hoped that this public announcement in the press will serve the purpose and the writers of all the letters are to be assured that justice will be done as far as the commission is able to develop the facts.

JULIAN ROW VICTIM MAY LOSE SIGHT

Doctor Testifies Loeb Has Refused Medical Care Since Attack

Testimony that Arthur M. Loeb, asserted victim of an attack at the hands of H. J. Kimmerle, contractor, of 927 Gramercy Place, during an argument in the rooms of De Kalb Spurlin, chairman of the Julian stockholders' committee, will lose the sight of his eye, injured in the struggle, unless he accepts medical treatment, was given yesterday before Municipal Judge Baird.

The testimony was brought out when Dr. Lloyd Mills took the stand as the first prosecution witness against Kimmerle in his preliminary hearing before Judge Baird on a charge of assault with means likely to produce great bodily harm.

Called to the stand by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Crail, the medical man testified that he had attended Loeb immediately after the battle in the committee office. Dr. Mills testified that Loeb had sustained an injury to one eye as well as severe cuts about that member as the result of a blow to the face which shattered his eyeglasses.

The doctor further said that immediately after the first treatment in the office Loeb refused further medical attention and as a result his eyesight may be lost.

Following the testimony of Dr. Mills, the case was continued to July 5, next, to allow further investigation and in hope that the injured man will be in condition to appear before the court.

Kimmerle is at liberty on bail pending conclusion of the preliminary examination and disposition of his case.

DOG LICENSES AT NEW OFFICE

Collection to be Made From Equitable Building Until City Hall is Finished

For the first time in the history of the city, dog licenses will be issued from the office of the Department of Humane Treatment of Animals, temporarily located at 200 Equitable Building, First and Spring streets, until the new City Hall is completed.

Before this all licenses have been issued from the City Clerk's office. The City Council recently enacted an ordinance which will place the collection entirely under the supervision of the Department of Humane Treatment of Animals.

The 1928 fiscal year commences Friday, when all dog licenses are due. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., on all days except Sundays and holidays, closing at noon on Saturdays.

CITY FORESTER NOW REALITY

The position of City Forester was ordered created by the City Council yesterday, as Councilman Colden called attention to the fact that no official was designated to supervise and regulate the planting of trees and shrubs in parkways. The forester will work under the authority of the Park Department.

CAFE'S LICENSE REVOKED

Police Board Closes Legion Club Resort Because of Inability of Owners to End Drinking

The license of the Legion Club Cafe, storm center of a number of hearings at which sensational charges were hurled against the conduct of police officers, was revoked yesterday by the Police Commission.

In canceling the permit the commission made it clear that it absolved the officers and members of the Benjamin J. Bowie Post of the American Legion, composed of negro ex-service men, which held the permit, from any blame for Wright Act violations in and about the cafe. It was stated by the commissioners that because of the location and nature of the place the management could not prevent liquor-law violations and for that reason it was deemed necessary to revoke the dance permit.

Police officers against whom charges of misconduct were made by the cafe management were exonerated at a prior hearing.

The Legion Club Cafe formerly was operated as the Humming Bird Cafe under a different management. The former license was revoked about two years ago, because, as one of the commissioners stated, the misconduct of members of both the white and colored races was "damnable."

The commission also denied the request of Assistant Federal Prohibition Administrator Benedict for a reserved parking space in front of the Transportation Building for the use of Federal cars. This action was taken on the recommendation of Chief Davis, who submitted a report to the effect that the creation of a special zone for the Federal organization alone would be illegal. Chief Davis also transmitted reports from several officers, who complained that prohibition enforcement officers abused the privilege when it was in effect once before and caused confusion and complaint from citizens because they failed to observe the police department's suggestions governing the use of the special zone.

As the result of complaint by negro members of the Better Suffrage League at a previous meeting, Chief Davis reported, an investigation of asserted rampant gambling on Central avenue resulted in the arrest of one proprietor of a Chinese lottery and twelve other persons in whose places of business slot machines were found in operation. The report stated that officers had investigated all the places named in the complaint of the Better Suffrage League two weeks ago and found several places where lotteries apparently had been in operation, but had been closed before the officers visited them.

The complaint of the Suffrage League stated that forty-seven lotteries were in operation, three of them within a stone's throw of the Newton-street police substation. Sergt. Casselberry made the investigation and arrests, it was stated.

WISCONSIN VISITOR MARRIES OIL MAN

Irene Keller, formerly of Manitowoc, Wis., yesterday became the bride of Leo S. Busby at a ceremony performed by Father Moran at the Church of Nativity. Mr. Busby is associated with the General Petroleum Corporation. A wedding breakfast at the bride's home at 3502 South St. Andrews Place followed. The couple will make their home here after a honeymoon trip.

Marriage Law Author to Get First License

The first marriage license to be issued by County Clerk Lampton under the new marriage law which goes into effect on July 29, next, will be given to Assemblyman George W. Rochester, who introduced the bill in the State Assembly, and Miss Lois Hegmann, who is to be his bride, it was announced yesterday.

The new marriage law provides that a couple first must file an application for a marriage license which will be issued to them at the expiration of three days if they still are of the same mind. If the license is not called for within thirty days it will be void.

Although the license will be applied for on July 29, the wedding will not take place until August 28, Rochester stated last night. The nuptials will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Adeline Alvord, 7930 Norton avenue, Hollywood, a friend of Miss Hegmann.

Miss Hegmann came to Pasadena with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hegmann, from Westfield, Pa., eight years ago. Since her parents' death she has been associated with a Pasadena bond brokerage firm.

Solicitor Found Guilty of Fraud on Advertisers

Found guilty by a jury of having obtained money under false pretenses in using an old book of regulations of the City Health Department to solicit money from former advertisers, Stacy T. LaFever will appear before Municipal Judge Frederickson tomorrow for sentence.

LaFever, according to Deputy City Prosecutor Matherly, approached various advertisers in an old book of health regulations and told them he was working under the authorization of City Health Officer Parrish in obtaining new advertising. In several instances the money asked of the business men was given him, the prosecutor said. The defendant also is charged with having used a 1926 Atlas of the City Planning Commission in similar activities.

In defense LaFever contended that he was serving only as an employee of George McCormick, who pleaded guilty to a similar charge on May 10, last, and was given a suspended sentence of 180 days in jail.

After a short deliberation, the jury found LaFever guilty on one count of obtaining money under false pretenses and not guilty on a count of petty larceny.

SAFETY PATROL ORGANIZED

Children Picked at Each Playground to Help Prevent Accidents and Aid in Traffic Direction

A summer safety patrol of 135 boys and girls for service during vacation months at the municipal playgrounds was organized at Echo Playground yesterday morning under joint direction of the playground department and the safety division of the Automobile Club of Southern California. At the mass meeting of children from four to eight boys and girls were selected from each of the major playgrounds. The harbor and beach districts will be enrolled later.

Members of the safety patrol were delegated to teach safety practices at the public playgrounds, help inspect apparatus, prevent violation of safety rules by patrons of the grounds, and to assist in getting groups of children across streets, though direction of traffic is to be limited to sidewalk and curb signaling.

SAFETY LESSONS PLANNED

A program of games involving safety lessons was adopted for playground use, as well as handcraft projects involving safety, such as making of safety scrap books, peep shows, sand models showing safety methods and other features.

At the end of the season the members of the patrols will receive suitable certificates from the Automobile Club of Southern California. During the school months the patrol members will work jointly with the public schools' safety committees, eliminating any duplication. Preliminary to this program the police commission has added seventeen new safety crossings at public playgrounds.

It was pointed out at the organization meeting yesterday that in the United States automobile fatalities number eighteen per 100,000 of population while on Los Angeles playgrounds the accident list is only two per 100,000 of attendance, none of these of serious nature and generally involving only a slight bruise. The safety patrols intend to eliminate even these minor bruises.

DIVIDED INTO DISTRICTS

For purposes of competition the playgrounds were divided into districts as follows:

East district: Hazard, Evergreen, Pecan, Downey, Recreation Center.
Central district: Elysian Park, Yale, Echo, Apablasa.
West district: Sawtelle, Potnesttia, Queen Anne.

Joyce Freed

North district: Griffith, Verdugo, Yosemite, Arroyo Seco.
South district: Exposition, Central, Ross Snyder, South Park, Slauson, Harvard, Manchester.
Beach district: Venice, San Pedro, Terminal Island.

the real charity patient of a municipality is not the unfortunate man or woman who benefits through the donations of the prosperous, but rather the individual who lives in a city and refuses to donate something toward the support of the Chest."

Mr. Bookman, who is a guest at the Jonathan Club this week, for twelve years has been secretary of the Community Chest at Cincinnati, and in his address he recited the history of the growth of the movement in his home city, which was the first city, following Cleveland, to adopt that method of managing its charities.

City Council's New Head Sits With Workman

President-elect Bonelli of the City Council, which takes office Friday, was invited to the president's rostrum by President Workman and sat there throughout yesterday's session of the Council. Bonelli, who is the youngest member of the new Council, will represent the Fourteenth District and was chosen president at a caucus of the new Council members held last week. He is 32 years of age.

His formal election as president is expected to be the first order of business when the new Council organizes on Friday. Councilmen-elect Foster and Martin also attended yesterday's session and watched the legislative wheels go 'round.

Modern sweepers have been added to Rome's street-cleaning department.

Fire Hazard at Laguna Beach Bowl Reduced

Work was practically completed yesterday by the Laguna Pageant Association in clearing away inflammable material surrounding the amphitheater at Laguna Beach to prevent a repetition of the fire which burned over 1000 acres of beautiful shrubs and trees recently.

TSIANINA

The fire started from undetermined origin near the amphitheater during a rehearsal of the pageant to be given next month and fanned by a stiff ocean breeze spread rapidly in all directions before it could be checked. Tsianina, Indian prima donna who is singing in the pageant, aided the volunteer fire fighters in battling the flames, and calmed the other members of the cast who were bewildered by the sudden conflagration.

DORMITORY NAMED FOR MRS. TOLL

Scripps College Building Costing $200,000 to Be Completed August 31

The first dormitory for Scripps College for Women, which is nearing completion, has been named Eleanor Joy Toll dormitory by the Scripps board of trustees, it was announced yesterday by President Ernest J. Jaqua, in memory of Eleanor Joy Toll, wife of Charles Toll of Glendale and of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Toll was the first woman to take membership on the Scripps College board. She served on several committees but died before the college was formally organized.

For a time she taught in the Los Angeles public schools and at her death she was president of the Parent-Teacher Association in Glendale. She also organized a Mutual Reading Circle which was so successful that it has been adopted generally over the country. Mrs. Toll was prominent in club and civic endeavors.

The Scripps dormitory is not the first building to be named in memory of Mrs. Toll as an elementary school in Glendale and a women's clubhouse in Los Angeles also have been named after her.

Construction will be completed on the Eleanor Joy Toll dormitory about August 31 with college opening on September 20. The cost of the dormitory building is approximately $200,000 with an additional $30,000 spent on furnishings.

Style Center in Los Angeles to Be Club's Topic

In the furtherance of his dream of Los Angeles as the style center of the world, Louis Lipson, director of the Wilshire studio, school of costume designing, and founder of the Los Angeles Designers' Club, has set the second meeting of that organization for the evening of July 11 at the studio, 3143 Wilshire Boulevard. About 200 persons are expected at the meeting and there will be a general discussion of the plans and the aims of the club. Special guests will be Miss Gertrude MacCue, formerly with the Vogue Publishing Company, Mrs. Amalie Schrader, Mrs. Frances Vidor and A. H. Green, all designers of New York City.

It is Lipson's hope to enlist all the designers, manufacturers, retailers, motion-picture interests and women's clubs in this project of creating a style center here. He thinks that because of location, climate and motion pictures there are great possibilities for creation here and he wants, through the medium of the Designers' Club to bring about co-operation, exchange of ideas and to interest young designers.

POLITICAL CLUB CASE DECIDED

J. M. Rissman and Robert Hickey Exonerated

Daniel Rissman Guilty on One of Charges

Asserted "Tag" Fixing Pledge Causes Prosecution

Climaxing virtually a whole day of testimony, a jury in Municipal Judge Frederickson's court yesterday returned verdicts of acquittal on five misdemeanor counts against Robert Hickey and J. M. Rissman, officers of the Twelfth Ward Republican Club, and similar verdicts on four out of five counts against Daniel Rissman, another officer of the club.

The acquittal of J. M. Rissman and Hickey was under instructions from Judge Frederickson on motion of Defense Attorneys Nathan O. Freedman and William M. Morse, Jr., on the ground that the State had failed to establish a case against the two defendants. Daniel Rissman was freed on three of the four counts under similar circumstances while the jury brought a not-guilty verdict in one of the uninstructed counts against him.

Daniel Rissman, the only one of the three men convicted in the case which attracted so much attention prior to the recent municipal election, was found guilty on one count of obtaining money under false pretense. He will be sentenced Thursday morning.

The charges against the three men grew out of their asserted activities in political circles and their asserted claims to ability to "fix" traffic tags in return for memberships in their organization. They were also said to have laid claim to power to distribute other concessions to club members.

Each of the three men was faced with five misdemeanor counts, two of petty larceny, two of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretense and one of obtaining money under false pretense.

ODELL HONORED AT DINNER

Gold Watch Presented School Board Veteran as He Prepares to Retire Tomorrow

About to conclude six consecutive years of service as a member of the Board of Education, Robert A. Odell, president of the board, was tendered an appreciation dinner last night at the University Club by approximately 300 persons, comprising representatives of civic, social service and educational organizations.

As a testimonial to his work, Mr. Odell, who retires from the board tomorrow, was presented a gold watch as a "symbol of golden service" by Charles E. Seaman, former president of the Board of Education, in behalf of the appreciation committee. At the same time, Mrs. Odell was honored with a silver vanity case as a remembrance of the part she has had in her husband's success.

Robert Odell

A resolution of appreciation of Mr. Odell's untiring services as a member of the board, signed by other members of the board, school officials and civic workers, was adopted with acclamation following its reading by Edward Owen, secretary of the Citizens' School Committee. Those who spoke in behalf of the resolution were the following:

John B. Beman, member of the Board of Education; J. L. Van Norman, member-elect; Albert M. Shaw, for High School Teachers' Association; Miss Christine Jacobson in behalf of the City Teachers' Club; W. W. Tritt, High School Principals' Association; M. S. Kuehney, Elementary Principals' Club; D. M. McGarry, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, City Superintendent of Schools.

Mrs. Dorsey delivered a short address of commendation of the retiring board member's work.

"For the schools during the six years of Mr. Odell's incumbency to have had the advice and example of such a man has been one of those happy coincidences that constitute supreme opportunity," she said.

The resolution of appreciation follows:

"Whereas, Robert A. Odell on the thirtieth day of June, 1927, completes his sixth consecutive year as a member and fourth consecutive year as president of the Board of Education of the Los Angeles district; and

"Whereas, upon the eve of his retirement from that service it is most fitting and proper that the citizens of this community should express to him their sincere thanks and appreciation for his most valuable, unselfish and outstanding service to our public schools and the school children of this city:

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that we tender to him our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for what he has accomplished for the good of our public schools and for the shining example he has set of genuine, honest and unselfish service.

"Endowed with the true spirit of brotherly love, he has discharged the duties of his office with fidelity, honesty, energy, intelligence, ability, moral courage and with true modesty.

"By his devotion to the public trust committed to him; by his sacrifice of time and personal interests; by his uniform courtesy; by his being mindful at all times of the interest of the general public, the responsibilities, devotion and loyalty of the teachers and the welfare of the children who are being educated for future citizenship, he has set an example of responsible citizenship seldom equaled in our land and has won a place among the highest type of school administrators.

"Be it resolved that a copy of this resolution be engrossed and presented to Robert A. Odell."

ACTRESS' RESCUER FOUND

Hero Who Saved Blanche Sweet From Sea Waves Shuns Spotlight and Reluctantly Tells Story

Protesting that he did not want "any notoriety," Carl F. Smith, a Southern California Gas Company engineer, was haled out of his office yesterday and identified and photographed as the man who rescued Blanche Sweet, motion-picture actress, from drowning at Santa Monica Sunday.

"Don't give me any of that movie publicity," Smith protested. "I don't want any of it. I stayed away from home all last night to avoid this."

Carl E. Smith

But Smith was reasonable and eventually accommodating. He said he was sitting at the water's edge when he saw a man "out quite a way" in the sea throw up his hands and call.

"I thought he was waving to someone on shore but when I saw the woman this side of him throw up her hands and go under I made for her, got her out and that's all."

"I didn't know who she was," Smith said. "I thought she was just some girl of fifteen or sixteen. I never looked at her. When I got ashore with her I stood her up and she said she was all right and I was wabbling so I let her go and started for Tom Bundy's house—he's a friend."

Once in the former tennis champion's home, it was learned, Smith fainted but was revived soon and got about all right.

Last summer he saved a sailor from drowning at Santa Monica, and now has seven rescues to his credit, the others at Savannah, Ga., it was learned from friends of his. Smith is 25 years of age. He came here about five years ago. He stays at 406 Washington avenue, Santa Monica.

When she was informed of the identity of her rescuer, Miss Sweet last night was trying to get in touch with him and Smith was trying to avoid her. Marshall Neilan, her husband, was the man Smith saw with her in the water.

"I didn't pay any attention to him. I got to her first and had a job on my hands," Smith said.

Someone else rescued Neilan. His identity has not been learned.

Move Launched by County Bar to Build Home

A home of its own this year will be the accomplishment of the Los Angeles Bar Association if the plans of the president, Kemper Campbell, materialize. Mr. Campbell has cherished the dream of a Los Angeles Bar Association Building for many years and according to him this fall will see its fulfillment. The board of trustees and the association as a whole are solidly behind the move.

"In the near future I shall announce the appointment of a building committee," said Mr. Campbell, "and I believe that a building bearing the name of the Los Angeles County Bar Association is an accomplishment easily within the realm of probability.

"In my opinion such a building will not only provide a home for the association and greatly add to its prestige but will do more to cement the members of the bar and create a feeling of fraternity and solidarity than any other possible influence."

ACTOR BADLY CUT

Emil Jannings Ripped by Glass in Filming Picture

Emil Jannings, motion-picture actor, was severely injured yesterday when a shattered pane of glass ripped several gashes in his arm. After the accident, which occurred during the filming of a picture, several stitches were taken in the actor's arm and he was taken to his home.

Production on the picture on which Jannings was working will be held up for a week, it is said. His condition is not serious, but the wound will not allow him the use of his arm.

The accident occurred when Jannings fell through a plate glass window. The scene called for that action but the glass was supposed to crack outward so that he would be uninjured. Instead, however, one jagged splinter remained in the window and gashed the actor's arm. He was treated by Dr. H. J. Strathearn.

A new airplane company expects to handle many of the 50,000,000 letters that now are carried by steamer between Marseilles and Algiers each year.

MAJ.-GEN. COLE DUE TOMORROW

Marine Officer Passenger on Liner Colombia

Secretary to German Envoy on Same Steamer

Wives of Navy Men Among Others on Board

Maj.-Gen. Eli K. Cole, United States Marines, and Dr. Edward Von Selzam, secretary to the German Embassy at Washington, are among the 100 passengers aboard the Panama Mail liner Colombia, due from New York at daylight tomorrow.

Gen. Cole is en route from Quantico, Va., where he commanded the marine post, to San Francisco, accompanied by Mrs. Cole and her mother, Mrs. Mary Maxwell and nurse.

Dr. Von Selzam is pleasure bent with Mrs. Von Selzam, their trip being inspired by glowing accounts of California by Baron von Moltzam, German Ambassador at Washington, who was a recent visitor on this Coast.

Others aboard include physicians, bankers and lawyers, and Mmes. C. W. McClain, Ellis H. Geiselmann, Robert L. Campbell and Robert Mitten, wives of naval officers returning from the Atlantic to be near their husbands with the return here yesterday of the battle fleet.

Scotland civic bodies are preparing an appeal to Washington for the assignment at Los Angeles Harbor of one of the first new greater Coast Guard cutters, the building of which was awarded yesterday to the Bethlehem yards at Quincy, Mass. They will be completed next year.

Three of the craft are contemplated for Pacific waters. Of these three, one is assured for Hawaii, while the assignment of the other two has not been decided.

Los Angeles' appeal is expected to point out, not only that theirs is the largest city on the coast, but that Coast Guard Section No. 12 basing at Los Angeles Harbor, is least adequately equipped, although comprehending one of the largest and most important shorelines.

The local fleet now comprises two antiquated cutters, half a dozen little patrol boats and two speed boats, yet its field extends from Point Conception on the north to offshore waters far below the Mexican border. The need of a ship of adequate size to rescue craft in distress also is illustrated by the fact the local fleet has been given such assistance to more than fifty bottoms in the last fiscal year.

The two new vessels will be of 2000 tons, 250 feet long, of turbo-electric propulsion, with 3000 horsepower and a speed in excess of sixteen knots. They will carry three five-inch rifles and several anti-aircraft guns, and the five will cost $2,172,500.

Incidentally, the new Diesel-electric cutter Northland, which is to replace the historic Bear in Arctic service, is due off California waters next week in July from the east coast, to prepare for her first summer trips to Alaska. Although the Northland is bound for San Francisco, Commander L. C. Covell of the local base, said there is a chance the vessel will stop here en route.

For the first time in forty years, Capt. L. R. W. Beavis, veteran British shipmaster, yesterday paid a call to Los Angeles Harbor, which he last in San Pedro in the summer of 1887 as master of the full-rigged ship Micronesia. Yesterday he brought his new Canadian steamer E. D. Kingsley from Ocean Falls.

Capt. Beavis, collaborator with Basil Lubbock in his "The Last of the Windjammers," was met with him on this voyage a collection of more than 1200 photographs of Pacific sailing ships, which he has been collecting for the past twenty years and to be used in a forthcoming history of sail on the Pacific.

"When I was last here we anchored five miles off the harbor," reminisced Capt. Beavis. "The skipper of the Micronesia, together with the masters of the ships Colton and McDuff, also here with coal from Liverpool, went ashore landing at Portuguese Bend and in an hour or two brought back two boat loads of birds."

Capt. Beavis, recalling the good old days of Southern California in the 80's, declared that the development of Los Angeles Harbor since then has been only the beginning of a great flood of trade which will pour through the southwest gateway from the Orient and the Antipodes.

The Vaterland, second German post-war ship to make a round trip to the Orient, left San Francisco July 12 for a stay of several weeks, according to Capt. A. R. Paulsen, consular agent of Los Angeles Harbor for Germany.

She is commanded by Count Felix von Luckner, commander during the war of the Seeadler, a three-mast raider, which sank score of merchant vessels, mostly on the Atlantic, without the loss of life.

The Vaterland is a former four-masted lumber schooner, with Diesel auxiliary power. She is cruising westward around the world, whereas the Hamburg, a fishing lugger, recently here on a similar globe jaunt, is eastbound.

The American-Hawaiian steamer Minnesotan, in yesterday from the North Atlantic, is under command of Capt. K. Fowrie, former skipper of the Star, chartered to American-Hawaiian for one trip only. She was commanded by Capt. T. R. Marshall, member of the Association of Pilots of New York, who is making his trip during his vacation.

Among the thirty-two passengers embarking from Los Angeles Harbor today on the Dollar round-the-circling liner President Polk were a party of fourteen comprising a D. F. Robertson tour, booked by F. R. DeLong, local agent, who will make another globe tour. Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton will have charge of the party, which will pass eighty-nine days in touring Europe.

Flood Line's gaining momentum in bulk shipments from Europe was illustrated yesterday with the British-owned, 4,300-ton motorship Bridgepool, a former coal-burner, which began to discharge 1500 tons of coke, 1500 of silver sand and 400 of chalk. The coke will go to various factories, the sand to the Hollywood Pottery Company, and the chalk will later reappear as face powder. The vessel has a like cargo for San Francisco, where she will pick up 1,500 tons of Coast barley for England. Capt. A. R. Paulsen, Flood agent here, announces the arrival of the Norwegian steamer Hesperian at Los Angeles with 4800 tons of sand, coke, glass, rags and steel rails for discharge here.

Chief Boatswain Charles Lucas, executive officer the last two years at the local Coast Guard station base No. 12, has been transferred to San Francisco and placed in command of the Shawnee, one of the largest and most modern of the cutters on this Coast. Boatswain R. E. Todd has been with the local base the past year, becomes the new executive officer here. It was announced yesterday by Commander L. C. Covell, base commander.

Bargain Tours

There is no better way to see California than with a car of your own. Lots of people are doing it—going where and when it suits their fancy—and saving about half the cost by touring in a used car. Load on some camping equipment, if you wish, live outdoors as you go, and you'll be mixing even more economy with your fun.

Do a little figuring now. Times Want Ads contain some excellent used car bargains.

Attention Farmers

We are not in the real estate business and we are not subdividers, but selling our own lands direct to the public at prices way below other lands of the same character—nature lands, high class farm lands, both wheat and alfalfa lands—lands suitable for every crop successfully grown in the United States and located in the very center of the State.

Good roads, good climate, good water and plenty of it.

Just think for a minute—finest of wheat land at $50 per acre, only $10 per acre—small down payment, balance over a period of ten years.

DAIRYMEN—Fine alfalfa land, now in alfalfa with gravity water at as cheap as $150 per acre.

Don't close this with the average real estate advertisement. Come into our office—see our maps, get all the information over and arrange to join one of our free excursions on a three-day trip up to the San Joaquin Valley.
